If the account increases so that it falls within the category designated "Large Accounts" in Appendix A or C hereof, the New York Regional Office may order that the prices charged the purchaser in the week ending December 11, 1943 shall be the maximum prices to the purchaser, if such prices are lower than the dollars and cents prices set forth in Appendix A or C. [MPR 188, 2d Rev. Order A-3, Amdt. 1]

CERTAIN LISTED BUILDING MATERIALS AND CONSUMERS' GOODS

An opinion accompanying this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Second Revised Order A-3 issued under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 is amended in the following respect:

Paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Amount of manufacturer's adjustment. Any adjustment of a manufacturer's maximum price made under this order will not exceed the following:

(1) If the manufacturer's entire operation is profitable, an amount sufficient to cover the unit manufacturing cost plus packing cost, and shipping cost where delivered prices are quoted or freight is allowed or equalized:

(2) If the manufacturer's entire operation is being conducted at a loss (or will be so within 30 days), an amount sufficient to cover his total unit cost to make and sell the article.

In the case of any manufacturer qualifying under paragraph (a) (2) (i) above, who makes a line of articles with a well-established pattern of price differentials between each of the models in the line, whose price structure and merchandising plan would be seriously disturbed by price adjustments on the basis of the individual costs of the articles for which the manufacturer has qualified, the Administrator may grant a uniform percentage adjustment of the prices of all the articles. The total dollar amount of the price increases resulting from the uniform percentage adjustment shall not exceed the sum of the individual article price increases for which the manufacturer has qualified, both weighted by the sales volume of each article.

In the case of any manufacturer who qualifies under paragraph (a) (2) (ii) above, no adjustment will be made under this order in an amount greater than his customers have agreed to absorb.

This amendment shall become effective on the 21st day of June 1944.

PART 202—MINIMUM WAGE DETERMINATIONS

DIMENSION GRANITE INDUSTRY

This matter is before me pursuant to section 1 (b) of the Act of June 30, 1936 (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U.S.C. Supp. III, 35), entitled "An act to provide conditions for the purchase of supplies and the making of contracts by the United States, and for other purposes," otherwise known as the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act.

On March 15, 1944 the Acting Administrator of the Division of Public Contracts of the United States Department of Labor issued a notice of opportunity to show cause on or before April 30, 1944, why I should not amend the prevailing minimum wage determination for the dimension granite industry, issued by me on December 22, 1937, by increasing the prevailing minimum wage from 32½ to 40 cents per hour in the States of North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

The notice sets forth that: (1) The minimum wage required to be paid by dimension granite manufacturers subject to the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 became 40 cents an hour on December 27, 1943, pursuant to the wage order of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division for the stone, clay, glass, and allied industries; and (2) substantially all employees subject to my prevailing minimum wage determination for the dimension granite industry are engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, and consequently the wage order has the effect of establishing not less than 40 cents an hour as the prevailing minimum wage in the dimension granite industry.

This notice was sent to trade unions, trade associations, and publications and was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 30, 1944 (9 F.R. 3430). No objections, protests, nor any statements in opposition to the proposed amendment have been received.

Upon consideration of all the facts and circumstances, I hereby determine:

§ 202.9 Dimension Granite Industry. The prevailing minimum wage for employees engaged in the performance of contracts with agencies of the United States Government, subject to the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U.S.C. Supp. III, 35), for the manufacture and supply of dimension granite, including monumental stone, building stone, paving blocks, curbing, riprap, and rubble, but not crushed stone, for the States of North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, shall be 40 cents per hour or $16 per week based on a 40-hour week arrived at either on a time- or piece-work basis.

Pursuant to my prevailing minimum wage determination of December 22, 1937, the minimum wage rates for the remaining States shall continue to be as follows:

(a) In Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York: 57½ cents per hour or $23 per week, based on a 40-hour week, arrived at either on a time- or piece-work basis.

(b) In Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington: 42½ cents per hour or $17 per week based on a 40-hour week arrived at either on a time- or piece-work basis.

This determination shall be effective and its provisions shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts Act, bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced by the contracting agency on or after July 8, 1944.

Nothing in this determination shall affect such obligations for the payment of minimum wages as an employer may have under any law or agreement more favorable to employees than the requirements of this determination.

Until this amended determination becomes effective, my original decision of December 22, 1937, shall remain in full force and effect.

Secretary of Labor.

On March 15, 1944, the Acting Administrator of the Division of Public Contracts of the United States Department of Labor issued a notice of opportunity to show cause on or before April 30, 1944, why I should not amend the prevailing minimum wage determination for the fertilizer industry, issued by me on August 15, 1939, and amended March 20, 1940, by increasing the prevailing minimum wage from 30 cents an hour in Kent and Sussex Counties of Delaware, the Eastern Shore of Maryland (including Cecil, Kent, Queen Annes, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester, Wicomico, Worcester, and Somerset Counties), Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, to 40 cents an hour.

This determination shall be effective and its provisions shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts Act, bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced by the contracting agency on or after July 8, 1944.

Nothing in this determination shall affect such obligations for the payment of minimum wages as an employer may have under any law or agreement more favorable to employees than the requirements of this determination.

OFFICE OF MACHINES AND TYPEWRITERS

TRADE-IN ALLOWANCES MADE BY MANUFACTURERS

Order No. 1701 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188. Manufacturers' maximum prices for specified building materials and consumers' goods other than apparel. Trade-in allowances made by manufacturers of office machines and typewriters.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, It is ordered:

(a) This order deals with the amount which manufacturers of new office machines and typewriters must allow as a credit when they accept used equipment on sales of new equipment. Irrespective of any other provision of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, each manufacturer shall continue to follow the trade-in practices which he employed in March, 1942, as follows:

(1) If the manufacturer published trade-in allowance schedules reflecting age depreciation by reference to serial numbers, model designations, or age groups of used equipment, and those schedules were in effect during March 1942, he may publish and apply new trade-in allowance schedules which follow his customary system of age depreciation. For example, a manufacturer who, during March 1942, established allowances by serial number groups which directly reflected ages, may re-group and revalue serial numbers in order to reflect the same age allowance relationship as obtained in his allowance schedule in effect during March 1942.

(2) If the manufacturer had no published trade-in allowance schedule in effect during March 1942, but nevertheless granted or quoted trade-in allowances during that period, he may reduce these allowances to reflect the increased age of traded-in equipment; provided he uses the same criteria for determining the new trade-in values as he used to determine the trade-in allowance granted or quoted during March 1942.

(3) Higher allowances than those in effect, granted, or quoted during March 1942 may lawfully be given and received.

(b) This Order No. 1701 shall become effective on the 21st day of June, 1944.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

[CMP Reg. 1, Direction 26, as Amended June 21, 1944]

WHEN ALLOTMENTS MAY BE RETURNED BY SECONDARY CONSUMER DIRECTLY TO A CLAIMANT AGENCY OR INDUSTRY DIVISION

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to CMP Regulation 1:

(a) Paragraph (w) of CMP Regulation No. 1 requires a consumer to return allotments which he does not need to the person from whom he received them. In the case of a prime consumer making an A or a B product, the return is made directly to the Claimant Agency or Industry Division which made the allotment except in those cases where the return is to be made to a Field Office of the War Production Board, as explained in paragraph (d) below. In the case of a secondary consumer, the return is made to the prime or secondary consumer who made the allotment.

(b) In those cases where it is impractical for a secondary consumer to return an allotment to the person from whom he received it, he may make the return directly to the Claimant Agency whose symbol appears on the allotment or to the War Production Board in the case of allotments bearing the symbols B, F, G, J, K, S and V. This situation may occur where a secondary consumer produces the same product for a relatively large number of customers whose schedules are all identified by the same abbreviated allotment number. For example, a manufacturer of metal stampings receives orders from many manufacturers accompanied by allotments all bearing the allotment number N-6. As a practical matter, he places all of the allotments in a single allotment account designated N-6. If his requirements for the manufacture of metal stampings are reduced, for any reason, it will be very difficult for him to figure out what portion of the total allotment should be returned to each customer and furthermore the amount returned to each will probably be small. Under this direction, he is permitted to make a return directly to the Navy.

(c) Form CMP-32, "Consumers Return of Allotments", available at all War Production Board offices, should be used in making returns under this direction, but if it is impractical to get this form, the return may be made by letter. In either case a separate return must be made for each different abbreviated allotment number (Industry Division or Claimant Agency letter symbol followed by the first digit of the program number) under which a return is being made. Do not group different allotment symbols, or different programs within the same symbol, on one return (Form CMP 32 or letter).

(d) Returns of allotments by secondary consumers under this direction bearing the symbols: B, F, (except F-5), G, J, and S should be mailed to the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. A prime consumer should also make returns under these symbols to Washington, unless he has been notified that his case has been transferred to a Field Office, when he should make his returns to the appropriate Field Office. In case of doubt, returns of allotments bearing these symbols should be mailed to Washington. Returns of allotments under this direction bearing the symbols listed below should be mailed to the addresses indicated:

Symbol	Address
A-1	Containers Division, Temporary S Building, Room 2320, Washington 25, D. C., except cases transferred to a Field Office, when returns by prime consumers should be made to that office.
A-2	Farm Machinery Division, Temporary E Building, Room H-385, Washington 25, D. C., except cases transferred to a Field Office, when returns by prime consumers should be made to that office.
A-3	Controlled Materials Officer, War Food Administration, Room 1419, South Agriculture Building, Washington, D. C., except cases transferred to a Field Office, when returns by prime consumers should be made to that office.
C	The Administrator, Aircraft Scheduling Unit, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. Attention: Captain W. D. Selby.
D	Material Control Officer, Canadian Division, Room B-129, Tempo 3 Building, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.
E	Material Control Officer, Foreign Economic Administration, Room 2438 Tempo U, Washington, D. C.
F-5	Material Control Officer, Petroleum Administration for War, Room 1457, South Interior Building, Washington, D. C.
H	Material Control Officer, National Housing Agency, 1600 I St. NW., Washington, D. C.
L	Material Control Officer, Foreign Economic Administration, Room 2438, Temporary U Building, Washington, D. C.
M	Material Control Officer, % U. S. Maritime Commission, Room 4024 Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.
N	Material Control Officer, Office of Procurement & Material, Room 1211, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.
P	Material Control Officer, Petroleum Administration for War, Room 1457, South Interior Building, Washington, D. C.
R	Material Control Officer, Office of the Rubber Director, Room 6090 New Municipal Center Building, Washington, D. C.
T	Material Control Officer, Office of Defense Transportation, Room 2123 Interstate Commerce Commission Building, Washington, D. C.
U	Material Control Officer, Office of War Utilities, Room 3045, Tempo R Building, Washington, D. C.
V	Controlled Materials Officer, Office of Civilian Requirements, Room 2342, Social Security Building, Washington, D. C.
W or O	Army Service Forces, Production Service Branch, Production Division, Room 4-D-574, Pentagon Building, Washington 25, D. C.

(e) Attention is called to paragraph (w) (2) of CMP Regulation No. 1 which provides that a periodic check-up must be made by consumers of their allotments to see whether they have more than they need. Returns of allotments after the expiration of a quarter should always be made directly to the industry division or Claimant Agency which originated the allotment. However, where cases have been assigned to a Field Office, returns by prime consumers should be made to the Field Office.

(f) If a secondary consumer who has returned an excess allotment under this direction directly to a Claimant Agency, discovers he miscalculated and returned too much material, he may apply directly to the Claimant Agency to which the return was made for a reallotment. The Claimant Agency will reallot to him no more than the amount which he returned and only for the same quarter for which the return was made. If he needs more material than he returned, he should apply to his customer for the additional allotment, as is explained in paragraph (w) of CMP Regulation No. 1.

Issued this 21st day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

[Preference Rating Order P-141, as Amended June 21, 1944]

PUBLIC SANITARY SEWERAGE FACILITIES; MAINTENANCE, REPAIR AND OPERATING SUPPLIES

§ 3287.26 Preference Rating Order P-141—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Operator" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not, located in the United States, its territories, or possessions, engaged in or constructing facilities for the purpose of engaging in, the operation of a public sanitary sewerage system or a public sanitary sewerage system combined with a storm sewerage system, whether or not such operator has applied the preference ratings herein assigned.

(2) "Controlled material" means steel—both carbon (including wrought iron) and alloy—copper (including copper base alloys) and aluminum, in each case only in the forms and shapes indicated in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1.

(3) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

(4) "Maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to continue an operator's property and equipment in sound working condition.

(5) "Repair" means the restoration of an operator's property and equipment to sound working condition after wear and tear, damage, destruction of parts or the like, have made such property or equipment unfit or unsafe for service.

(6) "Operating supplies" means:

(i) Material which is essential to the operation of the system specified in paragraph (a) (1) and which is generally charged to operating expense account.

(ii) Material for an addition to or an expansion of sewerage system or works, other than buildings, provided that such an addition or expansion shall not include any work order, job, or project, in which the cost of material shall exceed $1,500 and provided that no single construction project shall be subdivided into parts in order to come below these limits.

(7) Material for "maintenance", "repair" and "operating supplies" includes any material which is essential to minimum service standards, and does not include material for the improvement of an operator's property or equipment through the replacement of material which is still usable.

(8) "Supplier" means any person with whom a purchase order or contract has been placed for delivery of material to an operator, or to another supplier.

(9) "Calendar quarterly period" means the several three months of the year commencing January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, or the operator's customary accounting period closest to such period.

(10) "Inventory" means all new or salvaged material in the operator's possession, unless physically incorporated in plant, without regard to its accounting classification, excluding, however, material which is segregated for use in additions and expansions specifically authorized under paragraph (g) (2) of this order or by an operative preference rating order or certificate issued by the War Production Board.

(b) Preference ratings. A preference rating of AA-1 is hereby assigned to orders to be placed by an operator for material to be used for maintenance or repair, and for operating supplies.

(c) Controlled materials; steel, copper and aluminum. Subject to the quantity restrictions contained in paragraph (f) of this order, any operator requiring delivery of any controlled material for maintenance, repair or operating supplies may obtain the same by placing on his delivery order the certification required in paragraph (e) (1) hereof. An order bearing such certification shall constitute an authorized controlled material order.

(d) Restrictions on use of symbol and ratings. (1) The allotment symbol and preference ratings hereby assigned shall not be used by an operator or supplier to obtain deliveries of scarce material, the use of which could be eliminated without serious loss of efficiency by substitution of less scarce material or by change of design.

(2) The preference ratings assigned by paragraph (b) shall not be used to obtain any item included in Lists A or B of Priorities Regulation No. 3.

(e) Application and extension of ratings; application of CMP allotment symbol—(1) Certification. The AA–1 rating assigned by paragraph (b) of this order and the CMP allotment symbol MRO–P–141 may be applied by an operator to deliveries of material for use in maintenance, or repair, or as operating supplies only by use of a certification in substantially the following form:

Preference Rating AA–1, CMP Allotment Symbol MRO–P–141. The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to the penalties of Section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, to the seller and to the War Production Board, that to the best of his knowledge and belief the undersigned is authorized under applicable War Production Board regulations or orders to place this delivery order, to receive the item(s) ordered for the purpose for which ordered, and to use any preference rating or allotment number or symbol which the undersigned has placed on this order.

Name of operator

Signature of designated official

Such certification shall be signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7.

(2) The ratings assigned by this order may be extended by a supplier in the manner provided in Priorities Regulation No. 3, and CMP Regulation No. 3.

(f) Restrictions on deliveries, inventory and withdrawals—(1) Deliveries and withdrawals. No operator shall, during any calendar quarterly period, accept delivery of any material or withdraw from inventory any material, to be used for maintenance or repair or as operating supplies or for any other purpose (except material to be segregated for use in extensions specifically authorized under paragraph (g) (2) of this order or by an operative preference rating order or certificate issued by the War Production Board), the aggregate dollar value of which shall exceed the aggregate dollar value of materials used for maintenance or repair or as operating supplies, during the corresponding calendar quarterly period of the year 1942, or at the operator's option, twenty-five per cent of the aggregate dollar value of materials used for said purpose during the operator's fiscal year ending closest to December 31, 1942.

(2) Inventory. No operator shall at any time, accept delivery of any material if the operator's inventory will, by virtue of such acceptance, be in excess of a practical working minimum.

(3) Exceptions. The provisions of paragraph (f) (1) of this order are subject to the following exceptions:

(i) An operator who, during the calendar year 1942 (or fiscal year ending closest to December 31, 1942), used for maintenance, repair, and as operating supplies, materials of the aggregate value of not exceeding $5,000, and whose estimated requirements for materials to be used for maintenance, repair and as operating supplies during any calendar year (or corresponding fiscal year) do not exceed $5,000 may, during such year, exceed the quantity restrictions prescribed by paragraph (f) (1) of this order. If the actual requirements of material for maintenance, repair and operating supplies for such year should prove to be in excess of $5,000, such operator shall not accept any deliveries of material or withdraw from inventory any material to be used for maintenance, repair or as operating supplies if such deliveries or withdrawals, when taken together with other deliveries or withdrawals within such year, would, in the aggregate, exceed $5,000. In such case the operator may apply for specific authorization to exceed such quantity restrictions pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (f) (4) hereof.

(ii) An operator may, in any calendar quarterly period, increase scheduled deliveries, and withdrawals of material required for maintenance or repair or as operating supplies over the limits prescribed in paragraph (f) (1) of this order, in proportion to the increase in the load on the system during the preceding calendar quarterly period of the year 1942 corresponding to the calendar quarterly period in question, determined by a measurement of the average daily flow for the two comparative periods: Provided, That in determining the average daily flow of sewage, any flow of surface storm water which enters the system shall not be taken into account.

(iii) An operator may, in any calendar quarterly period, accept deliveries of material or make withdrawals from inventory of material, necessary for the maintenance or repair of the operator's property or equipment which is damaged by acts of the public enemy, sabotage, explosion, or fire or by flood, storm or other similar climatic conditions: Provided, That if the restrictions of paragraph (f) (1) are exceeded because of such deliveries or use, a full report thereof shall be made within thirty days after such delivery or withdrawal, to the War Production Board.

(iv) An operator may, in any calendar quarterly period, accept delivery of material, having in the aggregate, a dollar value of not more than the dollar value of material of the same class taken from the operator's inventory for delivery to other persons authorized to accept delivery under applicable regulations of the War Production Board but only if, and to the extent that such taking has reduced the operator's inventory of material below a practical working minimum.

(v) An operator may, during any calendar year (or his fiscal year), withdraw from inventory, material, having in the aggregate, a dollar value of not more than the dollar value of usable material of the same class salvaged from plant during such year.

(vi) The provisions of paragraph (f) (1) and (f) (2) shall not apply to fuel or to chemicals for sewage treatment.

(4) The War Production Board, on its own initiative, or on application of any operator by letter, in triplicate, addressed to the Government Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: P–141, may modify the limitations on practical working minimum inventory, and on scheduling or accepting deliveries, or on use or withdrawals, set forth in this paragraph (f).

(g) Restrictions on construction of sewerage facilities. No operator shall construct any sewerage facilities, including but not limited to sewer pipelines, manhole structures, pumping stations, sewage disposal or treatment plants and connections, and no operator shall, in case of contract construction, accept deliveries of material for such purposes except as follows:

(1) An operator may construct an addition to or an expansion of, sewerage system or works, other than buildings: Provided, That such addition or expansion shall not include any work order, job or project in which the cost of material shall exceed $1,500: And provided, That no single construction project shall be subdivided into parts in order to come below these limits: And further provided, That in making house connections or extension of line to serve premises, no iron or steel pipe shall be used except the minimum quantities required in making necessary connections.

(2) An operator may construct an extension of sewerage facilities, other than buildings, to serve premises which are being built or remodeled under authority of any Preference Rating order of the P–55 series, a specific authorization issued pursuant to Conservation Order L–41 or pursuant to any Petroleum Administrative Order issued by the Petroleum Administrator for War if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

(i) The cost of material for such extension does not exceed $5,000 but exceeds $1,500.

(ii) The extension does not duplicate an adequate service already installed.

(iii) No other operator can render the same service with lesser amounts of critical material.

(iv) The extension will not cause an overload on system including sewage disposal plants.

(v) The operator has completed Form WPB–3445 and delivered it to the builder of the premises to be served for attachment to the builder's application for L–41 approval. Preference ratings and allotment number to acquire material required for such extensions are assigned by paragraph (h) of this order.

(3) In addition to the authorization contained in paragraphs (g) (1) and (g) (2) an operator may construct sewage facilities of any kind if such construction is specifically authorized by the War Production Board. Application should be made on Form WPB–617 (formerly PD–200) or on such other form as may be prescribed. The following preference rating orders or certificates include permission for construction under this order although they do not say so: P–19–h, CMPL–127, CMPL–224. In all other cases a preference rating is not enough unless the instrument which assigns the rating also states that construction is permitted. However, any operator who prior to January 15, 1944, has been specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board to use the lowest rating assigned to a rated project to obtain material to construct sewerage facilities to serve such project may use such rating to obtain material required for that purpose within the limits of said authorization.

(h) Assignment of preference rating and CMP allotment symbol for extensions authorized under paragraph (g) (2). (1) The preference rating AA–3 is hereby assigned to orders for material other than controlled material, and the abbreviated allotment number P–141–S2 is hereby assigned to orders for controlled material to be placed by an operator for use in the construction of extensions of facilities authorized by paragraph (g) (2) of this order or to replace in inventory material so used.

(2) The preference ratings and allotment number assigned by paragraph (h) (1) may be applied by an operator by using the certification provided in CMP Regulation No. 7. An order for controlled material bearing such certification and allotment number shall constitute a controlled material order.

(i) Sales of material from inventory. Any operator may sell to another operator, material from seller's inventory in excess of a practical minimum working inventory: Provided, That (1) a preference rating of AA–5 or higher assigned by this order or by any preference rating certificate, or (2) a specific direction issued by the War Production Board, is applied or extended to the operator selling such material.

(j) Audits and reports. (1) Each operator and each supplier who applies the preference ratings or allotment symbol hereby assigned, and each person who accepts a purchase order or contract for material to which a preference rating or symbol is applied, shall submit from time to time to an audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(2) Each operator and each such supplier shall execute and file with the War Production Board, such reports and questionnaires as said Board shall from time to time request, subject to approval by the Bureau of the Budget as required under the Federal Reports Act.

(3) Each operator shall maintain a continuing record of inventory and of segregated material in his possession and all material used by him for maintenance, repair or as operating supplies.

(k) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board be addressed to the War Production Board, Government Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: P–141.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Revocation or amendment. This order may be revoked or amended at any time as to any operator or any supplier. In the event or revocation, deliveries already rated pursuant to this order shall be completed in accordance with said rating, unless the rating has been specifically revoked with respect thereto. No additional applications of the ratings to any other deliveries shall thereafter be made by the operator or supplier affected by such revocation.

(n) Applicability of regulations. (1) Preference Rating Order P–141 is issued in lieu of Preference Rating Order P–46 in so far as it affects public sanitary sewerage systems as defined in paragraph (a) (1) hereof and any reference in any order or regulation of the War Production Board to said Preference Rating Order P–46 shall constitute a reference to orders in the P–141 series.

(2) This order and all transactions affected hereby, except as herein otherwise provided, are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board as amended from time to time, Provided, That none of the provisions of CMP Regulations No. 5 or No. 5A shall apply to operators as defined in paragraph (a) (1) hereof, and no such operator shall obtain any material under the provisions of either of said regulations.

PART 3291—CONSUMERS DURABLE GOODS

[Limitation Order L–30–a, as Amended June 21, 1944]

GALVANIZED WARE AND NON-METAL COATED METAL ARTICLES

Section 3291.150 Limitation Order L–30–a is hereby amended to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of materials and facilities used in the production of galvanized ware and certain non-metal coated metal articles for defense, for private account and for export, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3291.150 Limitation Order L–30–a—(a) What this order does. This order states the rules governing production of galvanized ware and certain non-metal coated metal articles listed on Table A and Table B. It states the kinds and sizes of articles which may be made, and establishes quotas on the use of iron and steel in producing them. Preferred orders are exempt from these restrictions.

(b) What articles are covered; definition of "restricted". This order covers only articles on Tables A and B which are made of iron or steel which is zinc-coated or has a plain, japanned, painted, lithographed or lacquered finish. For convenience the term "restricted" is used in this order to describe such articles. An article, however, is "restricted" only if 50 percent or more of it by weight consists of iron or steel which is zinc-coated or has a plain, japanned, painted, lithographed or lacquered finish.

(c) Definition of preferred orders. "Preferred orders" are those purchase orders or contracts for articles which will be ultimately delivered to the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, or to other persons pursuant to authorization by the United States Maritime Commission on Form WPB–646 (formerly PD–300).

(d) Restrictions on production and assembly. (1) A manufacturer may not produce or assemble any restricted articles listed on Table A.

(2) A manufacturer may not produce or assemble restricted articles listed on Table B unless they conform to the provisions of that Table.

(3) These provisions do not apply to articles produced to fill preferred orders. This means that any restricted articles listed on Tables A and B may be produced for those orders without regard to size or other restrictions.

(e) Quota restrictions. A manufacturer may not use more iron and steel in making restricted articles than the quotas computed in accordance with Table B, subject to the following rules:

(1) Preferred orders exempt. Iron and steel used in making articles to fill preferred orders need not come out of a manufacturer's quota, but may be used in addition to his quota.

(2) Unused quotas. A manufacturer may use for any restricted articles during any quarter, in addition to his quota for that quarter, any unused balance of his previous quarter's quota for such articles.

(3) The War Production Board may reduce quotas for interference with war production. The War Production Board may issue directions reducing any quotas if the Board finds after investigation that production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, will interfere with war production in that plant or in any other plant located in the same area.

(4) Special permission to exceed quotas. The War Production Board from time to time may permit manufacturers to exceed their quotas, but will not authorize total production to exceed the approved War Production Board programs. This will be done only in special cases and for limited periods of time. For example, if some manufacturers are unable to use their full quotas, because of interference with war production or otherwise, the War Production Board may permit others to use the unused amount where that can be done without interference with war production in their plants or in any other plants located in the same areas. In addition, authorizations may be granted to exceed quotas in filling orders for special purposes, such as for export or for delivery to the National Housing Agency. Authorizations under this paragraph will be granted either in the form of individual letters or of published directions supplementary to this order.

(f) Applicability of other orders and regulations. This order and all transactions affected by it are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board. If any other order of the War Production Board limits the use of any material in the production of articles covered by this order to a greater extent than this order does, the other order shall govern.

INDUSTRIAL WIREBOUND BOXES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In section 8, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Individual adjustment. The Price Administrator may by order adjust the maximum prices established under this regulation for one or more plants of any seller who can show (1) that increased veneer costs result in hardship which will impede his production of essential supply of industrial wirebound boxes, and (2) that his existing maximum price is less than manufacturing costs if his current over-all profits are favorable in relation to those of a representative peace-time period; or that his existing maximum price does not exceed total costs if his current over-all profits are comparable to his over-all profits for a representative peace-time period; or that his existing maximum price does not afford a reasonable profit if current over-all profits are unfavorable compared to those in a representative peace-time period. Applications for adjustment shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, and, in general, shall contain the following data:

(1) Condensed profit and loss statements and balance sheets for over-all company operations for the years 1936 through 1939, 1941, 1942, each six months' period of 1943 and available quarters of 1944.

(2) Condensed profit and loss statements broken down by departments for each of the manufacturer's plants producing industrial wirebound boxes for the years 1941 and 1942, each six months' period of 1943, and available quarters of 1944. A breakdown of sales between veneer industrial wirebound boxes and all other boxes for the same periods.

(3) A complete breakdown, showing footage produced and manufacturing costs of veneer produced for use in manufacturing industrial wirebound boxes for each plant owned, operated or controlled by the manufacturer for the last six months of 1941 if not previously submitted, each six months' period of 1943, and the available quarters of 1944.

(4) A complete breakdown of all manufacturing costs of industrial wirebound boxes for each plant for which an adjustment is sought for each six months' period of 1943 and the available quarters of 1944. Lumber and veneer costs and footage purchased and manufactured should be shown separately for each period. A statement of cost increases since the beginning of the last period covered by financial statements should also be furnished.

This amendment shall become effective June 26, 1944.

SIR: From recent investigations in connection with the Humboldt project, the withdrawal of the hereinafter described lands, withdrawn in the first form prescribed by section 3 of the Act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388) by Departmental Order of March 16, 1934, no longer appears necessary to the interests of the project.

It is therefore recommended that so much of said order as withdrew the lands hereinafter listed be revoked: Provided, That such revocation shall not affect the withdrawal of any other lands by said order or affect any other order withdrawing or reserving the lands hereinafter listed.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

In the matter of United Fuel Gas Company, Warfield Natural Gas Company, Cincinnati Gas Transportation Company, and Huntington Development and Gas Company.

It appearing to the Commission that:

(a) By order of December 29, 1942, the Commission instituted an investigation of United Fuel Gas Company for the purpose of enabling the Commission to determine (1) whether that company is a natural-gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act; and (2) whether, in connection with any transportation or sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, any rates, charges, or classifications demanded, observed, charged, or collected, or any rules, regulations, practices, or contracts affecting such rates, charges, or classifications, are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential;

[Docket No. IT-5890]

TEXAS POWER & LIGHT CO.

DETERMINATION AND ORDER FOR EMERGENCY USE OF INTERCONNECTIONS

Texas Power & Light Company filed an application on May 9, 1944, for Commission approval of the maintenance of certain permanent interconnections in Texas with Southwestern Power Administration, Southwestern Gas & Electric Company, and possibly others, for emergency use only, pursuant to section 202 (d) of the Federal Power Act.

From the application, and other pertinent material in the records and files of the Commission, it appears that: (a) Texas Power & Light Company ("Texas Power") is a Texas corporation having its principal office in Dallas, Texas, and engaged in the generation, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy in northeastern Texas.

(b) Southwestern Power Administration ("Power Administration") is an agency of the United States having its principal office in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and established in the Department of the Interior by Order No. 1865 of the Secretary of the Interior dated August 31, 1943 (8 F.R. 12142), to execute the purposes of Executive Order No. 9053 of June 19, 1943 (8 F.R. 8587) and Executive Order No. 9386 of July 30, 1943 (8 F.R. 10699), as supplemented by Executive Order No. 9373 of August 30, 1943 (8 F.R. 12001), with respect to the disposition of electric power from the Denison Dam Project and the Norfolk Dam Project and the operation and disposition of power from the Grand River Dam Project.

(c) Southwestern Gas & Electric Company ("Southwestern Gas") is a Delaware corporation having its principal office in Shreveport, Louisiana, and engaged in the generation, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy in northeastern Texas, northwestern Louisiana, and southwestern Arkansas.

(d) To permit delivery of electric power and energy generated at the Denison Dam Project to Texas Power, pursuant to a power sales agreement dated May 3, 1944, between Texas Power and Power Administration, the latter proposes to make available a 138-kilovolt emergency interconnection, now nearing completion, between the Denison Dam Project and the Payne substation of Texas Power near Sherman, Texas, a distance of approximately 15 miles. Texas Power proposes to interconnect its facilities at the Payne substation with such line of Power Administration, which in turn will be interconnected with a transmission line into Oklahoma, over which interconnection electric energy may be transmitted from that State into the system of Texas Power and other interconnected systems in Texas.

(e) To permit delivery of electric power and energy from either the Norfolk Dam Project or Grand River Dam Project, in substitution for electric power and energy from Denison Dam Project, according to the aforesaid power sales agreement, Texas Power proposes to utilize the existing interconnections between its facilities and those of Southwestern Gas near Overton, Texas, and possibly other interconnections elsewhere on the Texas Power system, under certain specified conditions. Such use would permit delivery, by transmission or displacement, of electric power and energy from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and possibly other States, into the system of Texas Power and possibly other systems in Texas with which Texas Power is interconnected.

(f) The use of the existing interconnections between the facilities of Texas Power and Southwestern Gas near Overton, Texas, has heretofore been the subject of Commission action under section 202 (d) of the act, In the Matter of Texas Power & Light Company (Docket No. IT-5798), primarily for supplying the electric power requirements of the aluminum reduction plant of Defense Plant Corporation at Lake Catherine, Arkansas.

(g) The proposed maintenance of the above-described interconnections, for emergency use only, is assertedly necessary in the public interest:

(i) To provide Texas Power an additional power resource for an area in which are located many important war plants and establishments;

(ii) To provide for the "integration of power system operation" as directed in Order L-94 of the War Production Board;

(iii) To provide facilities for supplying any additional or expanded war industry plants which may be developed in the area served by Texas Power;

(iv) To effect a compliance with the provisions of Executive Orders Nos. 9386 and 9373 by saving critical materials needed in the war effort, and by coordinating facilities, to provide a dependable market for a large part of the electric power and energy generated at the Denison Dam Project, and to allow the benefit thereof to be made available in the manner prescribed in those orders.

It is further stated that Texas Power customers will continue to be adequately supplied with electric power and energy, and will not be adversely affected by such interconnections.

(h) The Commission is requested to issue an order pursuant to section 202 (d) of the act:

(i) Authorizing and permitting Texas Power to make such interconnections for emergency use and to operate all facilities incidental to the generation and transmission of electric energy, as proposed in the application, to accomplish the aforesaid purposes, all without Texas Power thereby becoming subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission;

(ii) Providing that the electric energy transmitted through such interconnections shall not be deemed transmitted in interstate commerce within the meaning of section 201 of the act;

(iii) Conditioned so that it will be effective during the continuance of the present war, and for six months after the date of cessation of hostilities.

(i) The Director, Division of Power, Department of the Interior, has advised the Commission by letter dated May 24, 1944, in part:

> The proposed interconnection • • • is necessary to enable delivery of power and energy generated at the Denison Dam Project to Texas Power & Light Company pursuant to the Power Sales Agreement dated as of May 3, 1944 between that Company and the United States as represented by • • • the Southwestern Power Administration of this Department • • •. The other interconnection • • • may be required to be used to deliver to Texas Power & Light Company, by means of transmission or displacement, power and energy available from the Norfork Dam Project or the Grand River Dam Project in substitution for that generated at the Denison Dam Project, as permitted by the Power Sales Agreement. The statements contained in application, so far as they relate to the Secretary of the Interior and the Southwestern Power Administration, are correct.

The Power Sales Agreement • • • is a wartime arrangement and is dependent for its effectiveness upon the granting of the subject application • • •. I therefore hope that you will approve • • • the application • • • if you can do so properly under the Federal Power Act.

(j) The Director, Office of War Utilities, War Production Board, has advised the Commission by letter dated June 3, 1944, in part:

The Office of War Utilities believes that full coordination of all major power systems in the south central area of the United States will be necessary for the duration of the war emergency. Such coordination is required to assure adequate power supply for war production and essential civilian uses, as well as to effect economies in the consumption of critical types of fuel which are being used in parts of this area and in adjacent areas electrically interconnected. For maximum effect coordination should include the Grand River, Norfolk and Denison hydroelectric projects and the systems of Texas Power & Light Company, and Southwestern Gas & Electric Company, all of which are referred to in the subject application.

• • • • •

The proposed connection at Payne between the system of Texas Power & Light Company and the Denison project will facilitate coordinated operations of the kind referred to in L-94.

• • • It is necessary for effective coordination that power be free to flow within the limits imposed by good operating practice over all of the various interconnections in this south central network of transmission lines.

The Commission, upon consideration of the foregoing, finds that: (1) Texas Power owns and operates facilities which may not be facilities for the transmission and sale at wholesale of electric energy in interstate commerce, and may not be a public utility within the meaning of section 201 of the act.

(2) Power Administration is an agency of the United States within the meaning of section 201 of the act.

(3) Southwestern Gas owns and operates facilities which may be facilities for the transmission and sale at wholesale of electric energy in interstate commerce, and may be a public utility within the meaning of section 201 of the act.

(4) The unusual requirements occasioned by the present state of war are causing increased demands for electric energy and critical types of fuel, restrictions on the construction and installation of additional electric generating and transmission facilities, and emergencies in the maintenance of an adequate supply of electric energy essential to the war effort, necessitating the interconnection and interconnected use of electric facilities, particularly in the areas served by Texas Power, Power Administration, Southwestern Gas, and interconnected systems.

(5) The use of the aforesaid interconnections between the facilities of Texas Power and Power Administration at Payne substation, and between the facilities of Texas Power and Southwestern Gas near Overton, Texas, and of possible other interconnections elsewhere on the system of Texas Power, as described herein, is desirable in the public interest to aid in the war effort as hereinafter provided and should not affect the status of Texas Power under the act.

(6) The provisions hereinafter set forth make it unnecessary to pass upon other aspects of the application.

Wherefore, the Commission determines and orders that:

(A) The use of the above-described interconnections during the continuance of the power sales agreement of May 3, 1944, between Texas Power and Power Administration (until July 1, 1949, or until six months after the date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war, whichever date is earlier unless such agreement is sooner terminated under its terms), shall not affect the status of Texas Power under the Federal Power Act.

(B) This determination and order is expressly limited to the use of the above-described interconnections as provided herein, and any and all exemptions granted hereby are expressly limited by the conditions that:

(i) Under no circumstance shall it be assumed or contended by or on behalf of Texas Power that anything done pursuant hereto affects, or shall in any way affect, the determination of the status of Texas Power under the act by reason of its operations other than the use of such interconnections pursuant hereto.

(ii) Such exemption shall terminate and cease to have force or effect on July 1, 1949, or six months after the date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war, whichever date is earlier, or when the aforesaid power sales agreement between Texas Power and Power Administration is sooner terminated under its terms, unless the Commission shall hereafter extend such exemption by further determination and order.

(C) Texas Power shall promptly file with the Commission two copies of any agreements or contracts involving such interconnections which have not heretofore been so filed, and shall report to the Commission quarterly hereafter the amount of electric energy received and delivered in each direction through each of such interconnections during each of the three preceding calendar months, as well as such other information as the Commission may from time to time require.

(D) The Commission may hereafter, upon its own motion or upon complaint, make such investigations as it may deem necessary to ascertain whether such interconnections are being used within the limitations of this determination and order, and if the Commission finds otherwise, may modify or terminate any or all provisions of this determination and order.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

EL PASO ELECTRIC CO. AND ENGINEERS PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 17th day of June 1944.

Notice is hereby given that El Paso Electric Company, a Delaware corporation ("El Paso"), a sub-holding company of Engineers Public Service Company and a registered holding company, and Engineers Public Service Company ("Engineers"), a registered holding company, have filed a joint application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration, which is on file in the office of said Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

El Paso will be liquidated and dissolved in accordance with a Plan of Liquidation which will be submitted to its stockholders for approval in a meeting to be held on July 6, 1944, at the company's office in Wilmington, Delaware.

The Plan of Liquidation proposes (in event the joint application-declaration is granted by this Commission and a majority of the stockholders of El Paso vote in favor of liquidation and dissolution) that Engineers contribute $1,000,000 in cash to the capital of El Paso, which together with other available cash of El Paso will be used to pay in cash to the holders (including Engineers) of the El Paso Preferred Stock, Series A and Series B, the full amount which the holders of such preferred stock are entitled under the charter provisions to receive in liquidation, namely, $100 per share and dividends accrued and unpaid to the date of dissolution. In addition, the plan provides that El Paso, in consideration of the assumption by Engineers of all debts, obligations and liabilities of El Paso (exclusive of its liability to the holders of its Preferred Stock, Series A and Series B) will distribute as a liquidating dividend on its common stock to Engineers all its remaining assets, principally consisting of all the shares of common stock of El Paso Electric Company, a Texas corporation.

Engineers owns 857 shares of the outstanding 15,767 shares of the 7% Preferred Stock, Series A; none of the outstanding 176 shares of the 6% Preferred Stock, Series B; and all the outstanding 58,282 shares of common stock of El Paso. Each share of each class of stock is entitled to one vote per share, voting pari passu. Therefore, Engineers has 79.68% of the voting power. All of the shares held by Engineers will be voted in favor of the Plan of Liquidation.

The Certificate of Incorporation of El Paso provides in effect that the Preferred Stock, Series A, may be redeemed and retired at $115 per share, plus accrued dividends; that the Preferred Stock, Series B, may be redeemed and retired at $110 per share, plus accrued dividends; and that in case of liquidation or in any distribution of the capital of the company, both series of preferred stock are entitled to receive $100 per share, plus accrued dividends to the date of dissolution.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters and that the joint application-declaration shall not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission.

It is ordered, That a hearing on this matter be held at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., on the 5th day of July, 1944 in such room as may be designated on such day by the hearing room clerk. At such hearing cause shall be shown why such joint application-declaration shall be granted and permitted to become effective.

All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate should notify the Commission in the manner provided in Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice on or before July 3, 1944.

It is further ordered, That Richard Townsend, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing above ordered. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of this Commission shall serve notice of this order by mailing copies thereof by registered mail to El Paso Electric Company, a Delaware corporation, and Engineers Public Service Company and that notice shall be given to all other persons by publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said joint application-declaration, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposed Plan of Liquidation, including the provision to pay the preferred stockholders, Series A and Series B, $100 per share plus accrued dividends, is fair and equitable.

2. Whether the proposed acquisition by Engineers of the common stock of El Paso Electric Company, a Texas corporation, is consistent with the provisions of section 10 (c) (2) of the act. All of the common stock of El Paso Electric Company is held by El Paso and under the plan would be transferred to Engineers in connection with the proposed liquidation of El Paso.

3. Whether the proposed accounting entries on the books of El Paso and Engineers are appropriate and consistent with the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utility Holding Companies.

4. Whether the proposed transactions are in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers, and whether in all other respects they comply with all the applicable provisions and requirements of the Act and the rules, regulations and orders promulgated thereunder.

SHIPMENT OF COKE FOR DOMESTIC USE

It is anticipated that more coke for domestic use will be available this year than was available during the past year. In order to relate this additional supply to the supply of other solid fuels so that an equitable distribution of all solid fuels may be obtained, it is necessary that the SFAW obtain data concerning the shipment of coke for domestic use within the United States. Accordingly, it is ordered:

§ 602.575 Definitions. (a) "Coke" means all coke which is produced from bituminous coal.

(b) "By-product coke" means that coke which is produced in a by-product coke oven and does not include coke which is produced in a coal-gas retort.

(d) "Reclaimed beehive coke" means beehive coke which has been reclaimed from waste banks adjacent to beehive ovens.

(e) "Producer" means any person engaged in the business of manufacturing by-product coke or beehive coke or who is engaged in the business of reclaiming beehive coke from waste banks.

§ 602.576 Information to be furnished by producers and wholesalers of coke. (a) On or before the first day of September 1944, each producer of by-product coke, beehive coke and reclaimed beehive coke shall report in writing to SFAW on forms to be furnished by it, information as to shipments of coke for domestic use to destinations within the United States during each of the calendar months of January, February, March, April and May 1944.

(b) On or before the 15th day of July 1944, and on or before the 15th day of each succeeding calendar month, each producer of by-product coke, beehive coke and reclaimed beehive coke shall report in writing to SFAW on forms to be furnished by it, information as to shipments of coke for domestic use to destinations within the United States during the preceding calendar month together with an estimate of such shipments made and to be made during the calendar month in which the report is made.

(c) The reports required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall set forth by States the ultimate destination of the shipments of coke reported and in the event that the producer does not know and cannot determine the ultimate destination of coke shipped by him because such shipment was made to

or for the account of a wholesaler, then the producer shall inform SFAW of the name and address of the wholesaler to or for whose account the shipment was made and the number of tons shipped. Thereupon, SFAW may require the wholesaler to report by States the ultimate destination of such coke shipped to or for his account.

§ 602.577 Records. Each person to whom any portion of this order applies shall keep and preserve for a period of two years, accurate and complete records of all of the details of shipments of coke required to be reported by this order.

§ 602.580 Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this order or who, by any statement or omission wilfully falsifies any records which he is required to keep, or who otherwise wilfully furnishes false or misleading information to Solid Fuels Administration for War, may be prohibited from delivering and receiving any material under priority control, or SFAW may take any appropriate action, including the making of a recommendation for prosecution under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U.S.C., sec. 80 (any person found guilty of violating the statute may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than ten years or both)); or under the Second War Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 633 (any person found guilty of violating the statute may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than ten years or both)).

MAXIMUM ASH CONTENT FOR RECLAIMED BEEHIVE COKE

The over-all shortage of solid fuels has created a demand for coke which has been reclaimed from waste banks adjacent to beehive ovens. Such coke, if properly prepared, is acceptable fuel but since the ash content of such coke is generally higher than the ash content of other coke or other solid fuels, the mixture of this fuel with other coke or other solid fuels results in lowering the efficiency of the mixture. It is necessary, therefore, to establish certain ash content maxima for this fuel and to require retail dealers who deliver such fuel to designate it as reclaimed beehive coke so that consumers may be apprised of the type of fuel which they purchase. Accordingly, it is ordered:

§ 602.550 Definitions. (a) "Coke" means all coke which is produced from bituminous coal.

(b) "Reclaimed beehive coke" means beehive coke which has been reclaimed from waste banks adjacent to beehive ovens.

(c) "Producer" means any person engaged in the business of reclaiming beehive coke from waste banks.

(d) "Wholesaler" means any producer to the extent that he ships, distributes or sells reclaimed beehive coke to retail dealers and any person to the extent that he receives or purchases reclaimed beehive coke for shipment, distribution or resale to retail dealers or other wholesalers.

(e) "Retail dealer" means any person (including the retail outlet, branch or department of one who is also a producer, wholesaler or lake dock operator) to the extent that he acts in the capacity of a supplier, shipper or seller of reclaimed coke in any transaction except a wholesale transaction involving the shipment, sale, or sale and delivery, of broken bulk reclaimed beehive coke physically handled in a truck, wagon or other less than carload facility without regard to quantity or frequency of delivery.

(f) "Domestic consumer" means any person who acquires reclaimed beehive coke for space heating, domestic hot water, or domestic cooking, except to the extent that he acquires such solid fuels for space heating incidental to an industrial process or the production of power.

(g) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency or any organized group of persons.

§ 602.551 Restrictions on shipments by producers, wholesalers and retail dealers. No producer or wholesaler shall ship any reclaimed beehive coke intended for use by any domestic consumer, and no retail dealer shall deliver any reclaimed beehive coke to a domestic consumer if such reclaimed beehive coke has an ash content, on a dry basis, in excess of 20 per cent by weight in sizes over one inch, or an ash content of 25 per cent by weight in sizes ½ x 1" or smaller.

PART 1042—IMPORTS OF STRATEGIC MATERIALS

[General Imports Order M-63, as Amended June 22, 1944]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of certain imported materials for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1042.1 General Imports Order M-63—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, or any organized group of persons, whether or not incorporated.

(2) "Owner" of any material means any person who has any property interest in such material except a person whose interest is held solely as security for the payment of money.

(3) "Consignee" means the person to whom a material is consigned at the time of importation.

(4) "Import" means to transport in any manner into the continental United States from any foreign country or from any territory or possession of the United States (including the Philippine Islands). It includes shipments into a free port, free zone, or bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs (bonded warehouse) in the continental United States and shipments in bond into the continental United States for transshipment to Canada, Mexico, or any other foreign country.

(5) "Place of initial storage" means any warehouse, yard ground storage, or other place, to which the person making the entry or withdrawal from custody of the United States Bureau of Customs of material imported subject to this order directs or has directed that such material be transported from the port of entry to be held until disposed of pursuant to this order.

(6) Material shall be deemed "in transit" if it is afloat, if an on board ocean bill of lading has actually been issued with respect to it, or if it has actually been delivered to and accepted by a rail, truck, or air carrier, for transportation to a point within the continental United States.

(7) "Governing date" with respect to any material means the date when such material first became subject to General Imports Order M-63.

(b) Restrictions on imports of materials—(1) General restriction. No person, except as authorized in writing by the War Production Board shall purchase for import, receive, or offer to receive on consignment for import, or make any contract or other arrangement for the importing of, any material subject to this order after the governing date. The foregoing restrictions shall apply to the importation of any material subject to the order, regardless of the existence on the governing date or thereafter of any contract or other arrangement for the importation of such material. The materials subject to this order are those listed from time to time upon List I, List II, and List III attached hereto.

(2) Authorization by War Production Board. Any person desiring such authorization, whether owner, purchaser, seller, or consignee of the material to be imported, or agent of any of them, shall make application therefor in duplicate on Form WPB-1041 (formerly PD-322C) addressed to the War Production Board, Ref.: M-63, Washington 25, D. C. Unless otherwise expressly permitted, such authorization shall apply only to the particular material and shipment mentioned therein and to the persons and their agents concerned with such shipment; it shall not be assignable or transferable either in whole or in part.

(3) Restrictions on financing of imports. No bank or other person shall participate, by financing or otherwise, in any arrangement which such bank or person knows or has reason to know involves the importation after the governing date of any material subject to this order, unless such bank or person either has received a copy of the authorization issued by the War Production Board under the provisions of paragraph (b) (2) or is satisfied from known facts that the proposed transaction comes within the exceptions set forth in paragraph (b) (4).

(4) Exceptions. Unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board, the restrictions set forth in this paragraph (b) shall not apply:

(i) To the Foreign Economic Administration, U. S. Commercial Company, Commodity Credit Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation, or any other United States governmental department, agency, or corporation, or any agent acting for any such department, agency or corporation; or

(ii) To any material of which any United States governmental department, agency, or corporation is the owner at the time of importation, or to any material which the owner at the time of importation had purchased or otherwise acquired from any United States governmental department, agency or corporation; or

(iii) To any material which on the governing date was in transit to a point within the continental United States.

(iv) [Deleted Mar. 30, 1944]

(v) To any material consigned as a gift or imported for personal use where the value of each consignment or shipment is less than $100.00; or to any material consigned or imported as a sample where the value of each consignment or shipment is less than $25.00; or to any used material in the category of household goods imported by the owner for his own personal use; or

(vi) To materials consigned as gifts for personal use by or to members of the Armed Services of the United States; or

(vii) To any material on List I or List II imported by any person under any contract or other arrangement made before, or in existence on the governing date and which, on December 28, 1942, was in transit to a point within the continental United States; or

(viii) To manufactured materials which are imported in bond solely for the purpose of having them repaired and then returned to the owner outside the continental United States; or

(ix) To materials which were grown, produced, or manufactured in the continental United States, and which were shipped outside the continental United States on consignment or pursuant to a contract of purchase, and which are now returned as rejected by the prospective purchaser; or

(x) To materials shipped into the United States in transit from one point in Mexico to another point in Mexico, or from one point in Canada to another point in Canada.

(c) Restrictions on disposition of List I material. Except as hereinafter specifically provided in paragraph (d) hereof:

(1) Restrictions upon owners and consignees. No owner or consignee of any material on List I which is imported after the governing date shall in any way, directly or indirectly:

(i) Dispose of any interest in such material;

(ii) Process or in any way change the physical condition of such material;

(iii) Transfer possession, or cause or permit a transfer of possession, of such material except to the port of entry and from the port of entry to the place of initial storage of such material; or

(iv) Change, or cause or permit a change of, the location of such material except to the port of entry and from the port of entry to the place of initial storage of such material.

Provided: That a consignee of such material may dispose of his interest in such material to the extent necessary to complete any commitment or contract made prior to the governing date. The person to whom he disposes of such interest shall be subject to all restrictions imposed upon owners by this order.

(2) Restrictions upon banks and persons similarly situated. No bank or other person which, as agent, pledgee, beneficiary under a trust receipt, or otherwise, has possession of or any interest in any written instrument evidencing any interest in any material on List I shall in any way, directly or indirectly, dispose of any such interest, or transfer possession, or cause or permit a transfer of possession, of such instrument, unless:

(i) Such material was imported before the governing date; or

(ii) Such person neither knows nor has reason to know that such material was imported after the governing date; or

(iii) Such disposition or transfer is necessary to permit a consignee to make a permissible disposition of material in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (c); or

(iv) Such disposition or transfer is made to the owner of the material and such owner has complied with all the provisions of this order.

(d) Permissible disposition of List I materials — (1) Transfer to governmental agency. Nothing contained in this order shall prohibit an owner or consignee of any material on List I imported after the governing date, or a bank or other person having possession of, or an interest in, a written instrument evidencing an interest in such material, from disposing of, or making any arrangement to dispose of, any interest in such material to the Foreign Economic Administration, Commodity Credit Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation, or any other United States governmental department, agency, or corporation.

(2) Authorization by War Production Board. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (c), an owner or consignee of material on List I imported after the governing date or a bank or other person having possession of or an interest in a written instrument evidencing an interest in such material, may process such material or may dispose of any interest in such material or any such written instrument, or transfer possession or change the location thereof, or cause or permit such a transfer of possession or change of location, upon written authorization by the War Production Board. Any such person may make application in duplicate for such an authorization on Form WPB–1039 (formerly PD–222A), which form shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Ref.: M–63, Washington 25, D. C.

(3) Exceptions. The restrictions set forth in paragraph (c) shall not apply to any material after any United States governmental department, agency, or corporation becomes the owner thereof, and shall not apply to any material of which any United States governmental department, agency, or corporation is the owner at the time of importation, and shall not apply to any material purchased or otherwise acquired from any United States governmental department agency, or corporation.

(e) Restrictions on disposition of List II or List III material. Unless otherwise provided by the terms of the authorization issued pursuant to paragraph (b) (2), any material on List II or List III, which is imported in accordance with the provisions of this order after the governing date, may be sold, delivered, processed, consumed, purchased, or received without restriction under this order, but all such transactions shall be subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board and to all orders and directions of the War Production Board which now or hereafter may be in effect with respect to such material.

(f) Reports—(1) Reports on customs entry. No material which is imported after the governing date, including materials imported by or for the account of the Foreign Economic Administration, U. S. Commercial Company, Commodity Credit Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation, or any other United States governmental department, agency, or corporation, shall be entered through the United States Bureau of Customs for any purpose, whether for consumption, for warehouse, in transit, in bond, for re-export, for appraisal, or otherwise, unless the person making the entry shall file with the entry Form WPB–1040 (formerly PD–222B) in duplicate. The filing of such form a second time shall not be required upon any subsequent entry of such material through the United States Bureau of Customs for any purpose; nor shall the filing of such form be required upon the withdrawal of any material from bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs, regardless of the date when such material was first transported into the continental United States. Both copies of such form shall be transmitted by the Collector of Customs to the War Production Board, Division of Stockpiling and Transportation, Ref.: M–63, Washington 25, D. C.

(2) Other reports. All persons having any interest in, or taking any action with respect to, any material imported after the governing date, whether as owner, agent, consignee, or otherwise, shall file such other reports as may be required from time to time by the War Production Board.

(g) Routing of communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise herein directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M–63.

(h) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or who furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority assistance. In addition, the War Production Board may direct the disposition and use of any material which is imported without authorization as required by paragraph (b).

(i) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(j) Effect on liability of removal of material from order. The removal of any material from the order shall not be construed to affect in any way any liability for violation of the order which accrued or was incurred prior to the date of removal.

Issued this 22d day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

INTERPRETATION 1

No authorization under paragraph (b) of the order is necessary for the release or withdrawal of materials on List II or List III from a free port, a free zone, or the bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs (bonded warehouse) in the continental United States regardless of the date when such materials first entered such place. The actual importation, which is the subject of restriction under paragraph (b), is deemed to have occurred before the question of release or withdrawal arises. Also no authorization under paragraph (d) of the order is necessary for the subsequent disposition, processing, or shipment of such released or withdrawn List II and List III materials.

As to List I materials which are similarly situated, no authorization under paragraph (b) of the order is necessary for their release or withdrawal from free port, free sone, or bonded custody, but authorization under paragraph (d) of the order is necessary for their subsequent disposition, processing, or shipment unless they are shipped in bond to Canada, Mexico, or some other foreign country, in which event the foreign destination is deemed to be the place of initial storage as such term is used in the order; Provided, however, That List I materials which are imported in bond after July 2, 1942, can be shipped to Mexico, Canada, or some other foreign country without the express authorization required under paragraph (d) only if the import application filed under paragraph (b) stated that the material was being imported for the purpose of such export shipment. (Issued June 30, 1942, and amended Sept. 23, 1943.)

The following official interpretation is hereby issued by the War Production Board with respect to the meaning of the term "in transit" as defined in paragraph (a) (6) of General Imports Order M-63 (§ 1042.1) as amended:

By amendment dated December 17, 1942, the definition of material "in transit" was changed by adding the following clause, "or if it has actually been delivered to and accepted by a rail, truck, or air carrier, for transportation to a point within the continental United States." The question has been raised as to the meaning of the term as applied to a case where the material on the governing date had been delivered to and accepted by a rail, truck, or air carrier on a through bill of lading for transportation to a specified port and from thence by boat to a point within the continental United States.

The material in the stated case is not deemed to be in transit within the meaning of the term as used in the order. If the material is to be carried to the port of arrival in the continental United States by ship, the material must have been afloat, or an on board ocean bill of lading must have been issued with respect to it, on the governing date in order for it to be considered as having been in transit on such date.

Material which has been delivered to and accepted by a rail, truck, or air carrier on the governing date for transportation to a point within the continental United States is deemed to be in transit within the meaning of the term as used in the order only when the transportation specified in the bill of lading issued by such carrier calls for delivery of the material at the port of arrival in the continental United States by rail, truck, or air carrier, not by ship. (Issued March 5, 1943.)

When by amendment of the order a material already on List II or List III is moved to List I and hence becomes subject to the restrictions of paragraph (c) covering the disposition, processing, transfer, or change of location of such material, the governing date for the application of such restrictions is the effective date of the amendment by which the material was moved to List I and not the date when such material first became subject to General Imports Order M-63. (Issued May 14, 1943.)

[Supplemental General Imports Order M-63-f, Revocation]

Section 1042.7 Supplemental General Imports Order M-63-f is revoked. This revocation does not affect any liabilities incurred under the order. The importation of Balsa wood remains subject to General Imports Order M-63.

PART 3274—MACHINE TOOLS AND INDUSTRIAL SPECIALTIES

[General Preference Order E-1-b, as Amended June 22, 1944]

PRODUCTION AND DELIVERY OF MACHINE TOOLS

General Preference Order E-1-b (§ 3274.1) is amended in its entirety to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of machine tools and components used in producing machine tools for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3274.1 General Preference Order E-1-b—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Machine tool" means any new, non-portable, power driven, metal-working machine listed on the attached Exhibit A except light power driven tools subject to Limitation Order L-237.

The word "machine" means a machine tool. It includes all fixtures, equipment and tooling covered by the original purchase order which are required to be delivered with the machine to make it usable in production for the purposes intended. It does not include replacements, spare parts or equipment, or extra tooling.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in producing machine tools.

(3) "Service purchasers" means those whose purchase orders for machines call for delivery to a supply arm or bureau of the Army or Navy, to the United States Maritime Commission, to one of their prime contractors, or to a subcontractor of such a prime contractor. However, no such purchaser shall be considered a service purchaser unless his preference rating certificate or endorsement accompanying his purchase order shows that the preference rating being applied to the purchase was assigned on Form WPB-542, CMPL-224, or GA-1456, or that the rating was assigned and certified in accordance with paragraph (e) (3) of War Production Board Directive 31.

(4) "Foreign purchasers" means those whose purchase orders show that the machine is to be delivered to or for the account of a foreign country, other than Canada, or a subdivision, agency, or instrumentality thereof.

(5) "Other purchasers" means all purchasers other than service purchasers and foreign purchasers, whose purchase orders have been assigned a preference rating of AA-5 or higher. Other purchasers include all Canadian purchasers except those who are service purchasers by reason of their purchasing machines for use on direct United States prime contracts or subcontracts.

(6) "Size" includes all of those dimensions or variations of a particular type of machine which can be used interchangeably for production purposes. Size classification shall be that used by each producer on June 22, 1944 unless he is hereafter authorized to use a different classification. Producers may apply for such permission by writing to the Tools Division, War Production Board, Ref.: E-1-b.

(b) Delivery of machine tools until September 1, 1944. Until September 1, 1944 each producer shall maintain his production and delivery schedules as established on June 22, 1944. An exception to this is any change in schedules required by a diversion or by any other specific direction of the War Production Board issued after June 22, 1944.

(c) Allocation of production to service purchasers and to foreign purchasers and other purchasers. (1) Starting September 1, 1944, each producer shall schedule his deliveries for each calendar month so as to deliver 75 percent of his production of each size in that month to service purchasers and 25 percent of each size to foreign purchasers and other purchasers combined.

(2) To the extent that a producer has not received orders from service purchasers for 75 percent of his production of a given size by sixty days prior to the first of the month being scheduled, he may schedule more than 25 percent for delivery to foreign purchasers and other purchasers combined. To the extent that he has not received orders from foreign and other purchasers combined for 25 percent he may schedule more than 75 percent for delivery to service purchasers.

(d) Distribution of 75 percent of production among service purchasers. Each producer shall schedule deliveries to service purchasers as follows:

(1) Service purchasers are subdivided into seven groups, consisting of the following and their respective prime contractors and subcontractors: Bureau of Ships (Navy), Bureau of Ordnance (Navy), Ordnance Department (Army), Air Services, Miscellaneous Branches and Bureaus, the Maritime Commission, and the Signal Corps. The fourth group, designated "Air Services," includes the Army Air Forces and the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics and their respective prime contractors and subcontractors. The fifth group, designated "Miscellaneous Branches and Bureaus," includes the Quartermaster Corps, the Corps of Engineers, the Office of The Surgeon General (Army Medical Department), the Chemical Warfare Service, the Transportation Corps (Transportation Service), the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and the Marine Corps, together with any other corps, department, bureau or service of the Army or Navy not heretofore designated as a separate group, and their respective prime contractors and subcontractors.

(2) (i) Each producer shall figure the number of orders on his books for each size from each of the seven service purchaser groups as of sixty days prior to the first day of the month being scheduled or, at the producer's option, the nearest date within ten days thereof on which he may have compiled his record of orders. Only orders which require delivery in the month being scheduled or in a previous month shall be counted. This figure shall be termed the net backlog of each service purchaser group. No order shall be counted unless it is a firm order accompanied by specifications or other description of the machine in sufficient detail to enable the producer to place the machine in his production schedule and by the information required by paragraph (f) of this order.

(ii) He shall then distribute the number of machines of this size allocated to all service purchasers for the month being scheduled among each of the seven service purchaser groups according to each group's quota. The quota of this size for each service group shall be the ratio of:

(a) Net backlog in this size of the service group to

(b) The total of all net backlogs in such size of all the service groups, multiplied by the total number of machines of this size allocated for the month being scheduled to all service purchasers. An example of the calculation required by this paragraph is attached, marked "Illustration of paragraph (d) (2)."

(iii) The quota shall be determined monthly for the third ensuing month. For example: On the 1st of July quotas shall be determined for September, on the first of August quotas shall be determined for October, and on the first of September quotas shall be determined for November, etc.

(3) Commencing with the month of September 1944 and each month thereafter, a producer shall deliver to each service group the number of machines of that size equal to its quota for that month. However, no producer shall schedule delivery of any machine earlier than the date on which the purchaser requires delivery unless all required delivery dates on other orders are being met.

(e) Treatment of fractions. Where the number of machines which results from any computation required by this order contains a fraction of more than one-half, the fraction shall be counted as a whole machine. A fraction under one-half shall be disregarded, except that where the computation results in a fraction only (less than one whole machine) for any one month, and such fraction is less than one-half, it shall be counted in computing the next month's quota. Where each of the computations of two or more different quotas for the same month shows a fraction of one-half, and there is only one remaining machine to which such fractions can apply, such machine shall be allotted to the group having the largest quota, and the other fractions of one-half shall be disregarded for that month, but shall be counted in computing the other quota or quotas for the next month.

(f) Necessity for preference rating. No producer shall place any order for a machine in his production schedule and no producer or other person shall deliver or accept delivery of any machine unless it is rated AA-5 or higher. However, a producer who has filled all rated orders on their required delivery dates may deliver a total of not more than ten machines (irrespective of size and type) to his different dealers within the continental United States without ratings. A producer may distribute these ten machines among his dealers in any way he wishes. Upon the sale of any of these machines, if he has then fulfilled all rated orders, he may deliver additional machines to maintain a total of not more than ten machines among his different dealers.

Any dealer so receiving a machine may resell it only on a rating of AA-5 or higher and may not extend the rating received from his customer to replace it in his inventory.

In applying a preference rating to an order for a machine tool, the purchaser must supply the following information in addition to his regular endorsement or certification applying the rating:

(1) The form of preference rating certificate or the number of the order or regulation by which the rating was assigned to the purchaser. For example: Form WPB–541, WPB–542, WPB–1319, CMPL–224, GA–1456, P–68, CMP Regulation 5.

(2) The urgency standing assigned to the delivery of the machine, if any.

(3) The required delivery date of the machine.

(4) A statement as to whether the purchaser is a service purchaser, a foreign purchaser, or other purchaser, and if a foreign purchaser the foreign country to which the machine is to be delivered.

(5) In the case of service purchasers the supply arm or bureau of the Army or Navy, or the Maritime Commission which placed the prime or subcontract on which the machine being purchased is to be used, the number of the prime contract and the name of the prime contractor.

(g) Operation of Numerical Master Preference List. Numerical Master Preference List, Revision No. 5, as last amended July 15, 1943 and designated "Restricted," has been supplied to machine tool builders (Exhibit B to this order). This list determines the sequence of deliveries as between service purchasers as follows:

(1) The sequence of deliveries among each group of service purchasers within its respective quota shall be determined each month without regard to preference ratings.

(2) Deliveries to service purchasers who are either on the list or are subcontractors of persons on the list shall take precedence over service purchasers who are not on the list.

(3) As between deliveries having conflicting required delivery dates and to be made to service purchasers on the list, priority shall be given to the service purchaser with the higher urgency standing in that service group. The highest urgency standing is No. 1.

(4) The sequence of conflicting deliveries to service purchasers not on the list shall be determined by the respective dates on which the producer receives the preference rating together with the information called for by paragraph (f).

(5) Delivery to a subcontractor not specifically named on the list shall take the urgency standing of his prime contractor. However, no subcontractor may use the urgency standing of his prime contractor unless it has been endorsed on the instrument assigning the preference rating by the supply arm or bureau concerned.

(6) If the urgency standing certified to by the purchaser differs from the urgency standing shown for the particular contractor in question on the Numerical Master Preference List, Revision No. 5, the latter shall govern.

(h) Additions to list. Changes may be made in the Numerical Master Preference List from time to time by the War Production Board. Where an urgency standing between existing urgency standings is assigned, the new urgency standing will consist of a number including a decimal. Such an urgency standing will take a position in the sequence of deliveries as indicated by the following example: Urgency Standard 792.1 will be scheduled after 792 and before 793.

(i) Sequence of deliveries among foreign purchasers and other purchasers. The sequence of deliveries among foreign purchasers and other purchasers within the proportion of production allocated to them shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1.

(j) "Frozen" period. Unless the War Production Board specifically orders otherwise, no higher preference rating or urgency standing which may be received by a producer shall operate to postpone or in any way affect any delivery under a purchase order which is scheduled for delivery within sixty days of receipt of such higher preference rating or urgency standing.

(k) Replacement parts. Nothing in this order shall be construed to prohibit the delivery by any producer of repair and replacement parts for machine tools in accordance with applicable regulations and orders of the War Production Board concerning maintenance, repair and replacement items.

(l) Changes in schedules. Notwithstanding any other provision of this order, the War Production Board may direct or change any schedule of production or delivery of machines, allocate any order for machines to any other producer, divert or otherwise direct the delivery of any machine to any other person.

(m) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(n) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. This appeal should be filed with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(o) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(p) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all appeals and other communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Tools Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: E–1–b.

Issued this 22d day of June 1944.

PART 1392—PLASTICS

[MPR 536,[1] Amdt. 1]

PLASTICS PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[2]

Maximum Price Regulation 523 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 1 (a) the text preceding subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in section 2, this regulation establishes maximum prices for sales of plastics products by a manufacturer who molds, fabricates, or processes plastics materials. For the purpose of this regulation, the production of a plastics product from material furnished by the customer shall be deemed to be a sale of a plastics product. This regulation also applies to sales by such manufacturers of any dies, molds or special tools which are sold in connection with the sale of a plastics product. When used in this regulation, the term:

2. In section 1 (a) (2) the last sentence thereof is amended to read as follows:

This term includes vulcanized fibre but does not include natural or synthetic rubber, or balata.

3. Section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Commodities. This regulation does not apply to the following commodities:

(1) Cellophane products (regenerated cellulose).

(2) Cements and adhesives.

(3) Completed consumers' articles when sold by a person who is not engaged in molding or fabricating plastics materials.

(4) Fabricated parts under .002" thickness made from sheets of ethyl cellulose, regenerated cellulose, and cellulose acetate.

(5) Fabricated pieces under .010" thickness for use in window envelopes.

(6) Film, motion picture, photographic and X-ray.

(9) Plastic—plywood products.

(10) Plastics pipe, plastics tubing, plastics pipe fittings and plastic tubing fittings manufactured from co-polymer vinyl and vinylidene chlorides commercially known as "Saran B 11".

(11) Plastics products when assembled with other materials and sold as another commodity by a regular manufacturer of such other commodity. A manufacturer of plastics products is considered a regular manufacturer of another commodity when (i) he represents himself in the trade as a manufacturer of such other commodity through the issuance of catalogs, price lists or other advertising matter, circulated generally to the trade, in which such commodity is designated by name, and (ii) he owns the dies or molds, if any, used for the production of such other commodity.

(12) Powders, granules, liquids, preforms and scrap material.

(13) Protective or decorative coatings.

(14) Records, electrical transcription, phonograph and direct writing.

(15) Safety glass.

(16) Screen cloth.

(17) Sheets, rods and tubes, prior to fabrication, when produced by a manufacturer who sells molding compounds produced by him.

(18) Synthetic rubber products.

(19) Vulcanized fibre sheets, rods and tubes, prior to fabrication.

(20) Wearing apparel and sheetings.

(21) Wire and cable, electrical.

4. A sentence is added to section 3 (a), to read as follows:

However, if prior to March 27, 1944, the Office of Price Administration approved a price in writing for any plastics product, in accordance with the provisions of any of the regulations just named, the maximum price for any such plastics product shall be the price approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration.

5. A sentence is added to section 7 (a), to read as follows:

This price determining method approved under section 9 is also subject to the limitations set forth in the next section 8.

6. Section 15 (a) (2) (ii) (a) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) Whether, and by what amount, the manufacturer's current over-all profits, before income and excess profits taxes, are greater or less than his average over-all profits during the normal base period. These base period profits will be adjusted to reflect any change from the normal base period average investment.

This amendment shall become effective June 27, 1944.

PART 1432—RATIONING OF CONSUMERS' DURABLE GOODS

[RO 9A,[1] Amdt. 9]

STOVES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 9A is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4.3 (a) is amended by adding at the end of the first paragraph the following parenthetical sentence: "(The way in which he may get back or acquire stoves from a consumer is explained in section 6.9 (b).)"

2. Section 6.2 (a) (2) is added as follows:

(2) No stove shall be transferred to a consumer for a certificate if the transferor knows or has cause to believe that the stove is to be used at a place other than that designated on the certificate. No consumer may acquire a stove for use at a place other than that designated on the certificate.

3. The note following section 6.3 (a) (3) is deleted.

4. Section 6.9 is added as follows:

SEC. 6.9 A consumer may transfer a stove to another consumer or to a dealer, distributor or manufacturer—(a) Transfers to another consumer. A consumer may transfer a stove to another consumer only if the transferee gives up to him a certificate for the type of stove transferred at the time the stove is transferred. (If the stove to be transferred is a combination stove, only a combination stove designed to use the fuel for heating specified on the certificate may be transferred.) The consumer who receives the certificate must promptly surrender it to his Board.

(b) Transfers to a dealer, distributor or manufacturer by a consumer. A consumer may also transfer a stove to a dealer, distributor or manufacturer, who may accept such a transfer if he complies with the following:

(1) If the transferee has on hand the certificate surrendered by the consumer for that stove, he must give up that certificate to the consumer, even though he is indebted to his Board for a certificate for that type of stove.

(2) If the transferee is a dealer or distributor and he does not have the consumer's certificate on hand, he must give the consumer a receipt setting forth the date of the transfer, the consumer's name and address, his own name and address, and the type of stove transferred. The dealer or distributor must retain a copy of this receipt at his establishment for a period of at least two (2) years from the date of the transfer. He must surrender to the Board with which his establishment is registered a certificate for the type of stove transferred to him by the consumer; until he has done so he may not use any certificate for the purpose of acquiring that type of stove for inventory. He must note on the copy of the receipt the date when he gave up the certificate to the Board.

(3) If the transferee is a manufacturer and he does not have the consumer's certificate on hand, he must include such transfer, as a purchase or return, in his report on Form WPB-3249 for the month in which the transfer is made, and must submit with that report a certificate for that type of stove.

(c) Application by consumer whose certificate is not returned. A consumer who transfers a stove to a dealer, distributor or manufacturer and whose certificate is not returned to him by the transferee may, if he is still eligible, apply to his Board for a certificate for a stove to replace the one transferred. No such application shall be granted unless the consumer presents with his application his copy of the receipt obtained from the dealer or distributor when he transferred the stove or an adequate explanation for his failure to do so. No receipt given under the provisions of this section may be used to acquire a stove.

5. Section 6.10 is added as follows:

SEC. 6.10 Cancellation of sale or order—(a) Return of consumer's certificate or surrender of receipt. If a consumer has given up a certificate to a dealer, distributor, or manufacturer with his order or contract for a stove, and the order or contract for the sale of the stove to the consumer is cancelled, before the consumer has acquired the stove, the person receiving the consumer's order or contract must promptly return the certificate to the consumer. Such dealer or distributor must return the certificate even though he is indebted to his Board for a certificate for that type of stove. If the seller is a dealer or distributor and he does not have on hand the consumer's certificate, he must give the consumer a receipt setting forth the date, the consumer's name and address, his own name and address, and the type of stove specified in the certificate. The dealer or distributor must retain a copy of this receipt at his establishment for a period of at least two (2) years from the date of the transfer. He must surrender to the Board with which his establishment is registered a certificate for the type of stove specified in the certificate received from the consumer; until he has done so, he may not use any certificate for the purpose of acquiring that type of stove for inventory. He must note on his copy of the receipt given to the consumer, the date when he gave up the certificate to the Board.

(b) Application by consumer whose certificate is not returned. A consumer whose order or contract for a stove has been cancelled, before he acquired the stove, and whose certificate is not returned to him may, if he is still eligible, apply to his Board for a certificate to replace the one which was not returned to him. No such application shall be granted unless the consumer presents with his application his copy of the receipt obtained from the dealer or distributor when the order or contract was cancelled or an adequate explanation for his failure to do so. No receipt given under the provisions of this section may be used to acquire a stove.

This amendment shall become effective on June 26, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record keeping requirements of this amendment to Ration Order 9A have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Chapter XIII—Petroleum Administration for War

[PDO 21]

PART 1543—PETROLEUM PROCESSING, REFINING, AND MARKETING

PREMIUM MOTOR FUEL

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of gasoline components for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary in the public interest to promote the national defense and to conserve adequate supplies of gasoline for military and other essential uses.

§ 1543.1 Petroleum Distribution Order No. 21—(a) Definitions. (1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Gasoline" means liquid fuel capable of being used in the operation of internal combustion engines, including aviation gasoline and military motor gasoline but excluding naphtha specifically manufactured for use as a solvent, kerosene, tractor distillate, diesel fuel, gas oil, or fuel oils.

(3) "Premium motor fuel" means gasoline generally known in the petroleum industry as "premium gasoline" or premium motor fuel," but does not mean 80 Octane All Purpose gasoline sold to the Army or Navy.

(4) "Manufacture" includes not only refinery operations but also tetraethyl lead blending and other operations, wherever conducted, which are designed to change the characteristics of gasoline.

(5) "Base period" means, in the States of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, and Arizona, and in the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, the five months period immediately preceding April 1, 1944, and in all other States of the United States, the six months period immediately preceding April 1, 1944.

(6) "Supplier" means any person other than a service station or other fixed retail outlet who manufactures or receives delivery of premium motor fuel for redelivery to others, and includes, but is not limited to, any secondary supplier.

(7) "Customer" means any person other than a supplier who receives premium motor fuel from any supplier, and includes a service station or other fixed retail outlet.

(b) Limitation on manufacture of premium motor fuel. After the effective date of this order, the percentage of premium motor fuel manufactured by any person, based upon his total manufacture of gasoline, shall not exceed one-half of the percentage of premium motor fuel, based upon total gasoline, which he manufactured during the base period.

Computation to determine that the amount of premium motor fuel manufactured by any person is within this limitation shall be made on the basis of successive three months periods, the first of which shall commence on July 1, 1944.

Nothing in this order shall be construed to limit in any way the volume of gasoline of any grade or type which any person may manufacture or deliver to the Army or Navy.

(c) Reports. Each person who manufactures premium motor fuel shall make the following reports to the Petroleum Administration for War:

(1) Each person shall report once for the base period, not later than August 1, 1944:

(i) The total volume of gasoline manufactured.

(ii) The total volume of premium motor fuel manufactured.

(iii) The percentage relationship of (i) and (ii) above.

(iv) One-half of the percentage calculated in (iii) above.

(2) Each person shall report for the month of July, 1944, and for each month thereafter, not later than the thirteenth day of the following month:

(i) The total volume of gasoline manufactured.

(ii) The total volume of premium motor fuel manufactured.

(iii) The percentage relationship of (i) and (ii) above.

Such reports shall be made upon Form PAW 48 and shall be sent to the Director of Refining, Petroleum Administration for War, Interior Building, Washington 25, D. C. A person who manufactures premium motor fuel at more than one location shall report individual figures for each location and combined figures for all locations.

(d) Distribution of premium motor fuel between trade areas. As far as practicable, each supplier shall apportion his available supply of premium motor fuel between trade areas on the same relative basis as that which prevailed during the base period.

(e) Distribution of premium motor fuel within the same trade area. If any supplier is unable to satisfy the current requirements for premium motor fuel of customers and other suppliers in the same trade area, who regularly received their last ninety (90) days' requirements (during the preceding twelve (12) month period) directly or indirectly from such supplier, the supplier shall apportion all available supplies of premium motor fuel fairly and equitably in such manner as will satisfy as nearly as practicable the current requirements of such customers and other suppliers in the same trade area, in accordance with the following standards:

(1) Except as provided in subparagraphs (2) and (3) hereof, no differentiation or discrimination in deliveries shall be made in the same trade area because of trade classification, affiliation, ownership, operation, control, size, purchasing or selling methods, location, accessibility to transportation facilities, imposition of special conditions not imposed on all customers or other suppliers in the same trade area, or for any other such reason.

(2) After making provision for deliveries of premium motor fuel to other suppliers, differentiation in deliveries to customers in the same trade area because of the engine requirements of customers engaged in activities which are essential to the conduct of the war or to the public health or safety shall not be deemed to be discrimination within the meaning of this order: Provided, That such supplier shall not differentiate or discriminate in deliveries to customers engaged in the same activities whose engines require premium motor fuel; and, Provided, further, That such supplier shall consider all service stations and other fixed retail outlets supplied directly or indirectly by him as being engaged in the same activities; and Provided, further, That if the method of distribution herein provided results in inequities among customers served directly by such supplier and customers engaged in the same activities served indirectly by him, such supplier shall make the adjustments necessary to eliminate as far as practicable any such inequities.

(3) Differentiation in deliveries to customers and other suppliers in the same trade area on the basis of relative inventories expressed in days' supply on hand at such customers' or other suppliers' storage locations shall not be deemed to be discrimination within the meaning of this order.

(4) If several suppliers are obligated to supply any customer or other supplier with premium motor fuel, each such supplier shall be obligated to satisfy only his proportion of the current requirements of such customer or other supplier on the same percentage basis as he satisfies the current requirements of his undivided accounts engaged in the same activities.

(f) Application for exceptions. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance herewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him may file an application for an exception, setting forth the pertinent facts and reasons why he considers himself entitled to relief.

All applications for exceptions to paragraphs (b) and (c) shall be addressed to the Director of Refining, Petroleum Administration for War, Washington 25, D. C.

All applications for exceptions to paragraphs (d) and (e) shall be addressed to the District Director-in-Charge, Petroleum Administration for War, at:

(1) 122 East 42nd Street, New York, New York, if the premium motor fuel is to be delivered or used in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, or the District of Columbia.

(2) 1200 Blum Building, 624 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, if the premium motor fuel is to be delivered or used in the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, or North Dakota.

(3) 245 Mellie Esperson Building, Houston, Texas, if the premium motor fuel is to be delivered or used in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, or New Mexico.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

[Order CMA-39]

ANTHRACITE AND BITUMINOUS COAL MINES

ORDER TERMINATING GOVERNMENT POSSESSION

Wage agreements have been entered into between the United Mine Workers of America and the anthracite and bituminous coal operators who produce the great preponderance of the nation's tonnage. These agreements have been approved by the National War Labor Board and the Director of Economic Stabilization.

I have heretofore terminated Government possession of mines producing in excess of seventy per cent of the nation's bituminous tonnage, and wage contracts have been put into effect at those mines. I have now been advised that, with the exception of Jewell Ridge Coal Corporation, Tazewell, Virginia, the operators who produce substantially all of the nation's bituminous and anthracite tonnage have executed or are about to execute contracts and will put them into effect immediately upon termination of Government possession of their mining properties.

Upon the basis of such advice and information, and after consideration of all of the circumstances, I find that, with the exception of the mines of Jewell Ridge Coal Corporation, Government possession of the anthracite and bituminous coal mines, now in Government possession, is no longer required, and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) and the War Labor Disputes Act (Pub. 89, 78th Cong., 1st Sess.) should be terminated.

Accordingly, I order and direct that the possession by the Government of any and all anthracite and bituminous coal mines, now in the possession of the Government, except the mines of Jewell Ridge Coal Corporation, Tazewell, Virginia, including any and all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds and other assets used in connection with the operation of such mines, be, and it is hereby terminated, and that there be displayed conspicuously at those mining properties copies of a poster to be supplied by the Coal Mines Administration, and reading as follows:

NOTICE: Government possession and control of the coal mines of this mining company have been terminated by order of the Secretary of the Interior.

In accordance with section 40 of the regulations for the operation of coal mines under Government control, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), the appointments of the operating managers for the United States for all of the aforesaid mines with respect to which the mining companies have on file with the Administrator effective instruments of agreement and certification as provided for in section 25 of the regulations, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), are automatically terminated.

Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to preclude the Government from requiring the submission of information relating to operations during the period of Government possession, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence and amount of any claims against the United States so that the administration of the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) may be concluded in an orderly manner.

Dated: June 21, 1944.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Docket No. IT-5889]

SOUTHWESTERN POWER ADMINISTRATION

ORDER APPROVING RATES FOR SALE OF ELECTRIC POWER AND ENERGY FROM DENISON DAM PROJECT FOR A LIMITED PERIOD

JUNE 14, 1944.

The Acting Secretary of the Interior submitted, on May 5, 1944, a power sales agreement dated May 3, 1944, between Southwestern Power Administration and Texas Power & Light Company (Southwestern Power Administration Rate Schedule FPC No. 1), for the sale of electric power and energy produced at the Denison Dam Project on the Red River, Oklahoma-Texas, for approval by the Federal Power Commission of the rates provided therein, pursuant to the provisions of Executive Orders Nos. 9386 and 9373.

It appears to the Commission that: (a) Southwestern Power Administration is an agency of the United States established in the Department of the Interior by Order No. 1865 of the Secretary of the Interior dated August 31, 1943 (8 F.R. 12142) to execute the purposes of Executive Order No. 9353 of June 19, 1943 (8 F.R. 8587) and Executive Order No. 9366 of July 30, 1943 (8 F.R. 10699), as supplemented by Executive Order No. 9373 of August 30, 1943 (8 F.R. 12001), with respect to the disposition of electric power from the Denison Dam Project and the Norfork Dam Project and the operation and disposition of power from the Grand River Dam Project.

(b) Under Executive Order No. 9373, the Secretary of the Interior, among other things, is directed (a) to intergrate the power facilities of the Grand River, Norfork, and Denison Dam projects; (b) to interconnect the projects with other utility systems in the area and to interchange electric energy with and purchase electric energy from such systems; and (c) to sell and dispose of electric energy to war plants and establishments, public bodies and cooperatives, and other persons, in that order of preference, at such rates as may be approved by the Federal Power Commission.

(c) The power plant at the Denison Dam Project is designed primarily for operation to provide power capacity, with an initial installation of two generating units aggregating 70,000 kilowatts of capacity and an ultimate installation of five generating units aggregating 175,000 kilowatts of capacity. Approximate rates for electric power and energy generated at the project should accordingly include both demand and energy charges. However, because of war restrictions on materials and labor, only one generating unit of 35,000 kilowatts of capacity has been installed.

(d) The power sales agreement is expressly designed to meet existing war emergency conditions without establishing a permanent policy in respect to the disposition of electric power and energy of the Government.

(e) The power sales agreement provides in substance for delivery to the Company of 30,000 kilowatts of primary power capacity and 10,000,000 kilowatt-hours of primary energy a month and all available secondary energy from the Denison Dam Project not otherwise disposed of, reserving 5,000 kilowatts of primary power capacity for sale to customers of Southwestern Power Administration in Oklahoma. The agreement also provides that any unsold portion of the primary power and energy reserved or recaptured for sale to such customers shall be accepted and paid for by the Company at primary rates.

(f) Under the terms of the power sales agreement, the Company is to pay 5 mills for primary energy and 2½ mills "on-peak" and one mill "off-peak" for secondary energy, with a reduction to 2 mills for primary energy under certain conditions; and the Company is to lower rates to certain classes of customers and certain war customers by an amount which the Acting Secretary of the Interior estimates will reach approximately $400,000 per year.

(g) The power sales agreement provides that in order to utilize fully all available water at the Denison, Norfolk, and Grand River Dam Projects, and to coordinate fully the operation of such projects, the right of the Government is reserved to fulfill its commitments thereunder by delivery, by means of transmission or displacement, of electric power and energy into the Company's system from either the Norfolk or the Grand River Dam Projects.

(h) The power sales agreement is to continue in effect until July 1, 1949, or until 6 months after the date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war, whichever date is earlier, unless sooner terminated under its terms; and provides for earlier recapture, after 18 months' notice, by progressive steps of 7,500 kilowatts of capacity and 2,500,000 kilowatt-hours of energy per month in any six months' period up to 15,000 kilowatts of capacity and 5,000,000 kilowatt-hours of energy per month for sale to customers of Southwestern Power Administration in Oklahoma.

(i) Notice of the terms of the power sales agreement has been given to the Governors of Oklahoma and Texas, interested State officials, and the Senators and Representatives from Oklahoma and Texas and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 18, 1944 (Vol. 9, page 5317) and no objection thereto has been filed.

The Commission, having considered the above-described power sales agreement, and the presently available information and data thereon, finds that: (1) The power sales agreement provides for the disposal of the electric power and energy generated at the Denison Dam Project at rates which, although not ordinarily appropriate for this type of project, may, so long as only one generating unit is installed, substantially reimburse the Government for the annual costs allocable thereto.

(2) Approval of the proposed rates for not more than the present period of the agreement, and, subject to the conditions hereinafter prescribed, will not be inconsistent with the public interest.

The Commission orders that: Pursuant to Executive Order No. 9373, the rates provided in the power sales agreement dated May 3, 1944, between Southwestern Power Administration and Texas Power & Light Company (Southwestern Power Administration Rate Schedule FPC No. 1) be and they are hereby approved, upon the following conditions:

(i) Such approval is expressly limited to the sale of electric power and energy generated by the existing unit of the Denison Dam Project and shall terminate when the second unit is installed, but in any event shall not extend beyond the present term of the agreement;

(ii) The rates and provisions relating thereto, as set forth in the agreement, shall not be modified or extended except with the prior approval of the Commission;

(iii) Nothing herein contained shall be construed as constituting approval by the Commission of any provision of the agreement other than the rates presently provided therein, or as prejudicing in any way the installation of any additional generating unit at said project, or as affecting any action which may hereafter be taken by the Commission in any matter concerning the Southwestern Power Administration.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

The order applies to such fresh fruit and vegetable items as are now or may hereafter be subject to the pricing provisions of MPR 285 and Appendices H and I of Maximum Price Regulation 426. [Region V Order G–6 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN CAPE GIRARDEAU AND JACKSON, MO.

Order No. G–6 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Maximum prices for solid fuels sold in the cities of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and Jackson, Missouri.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region V by §§ 1340.259 and 1340.260 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 and for the reasons stated in the opinion issued herewith, it is ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for sales of specified solid fuels covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 within the corporate limits of the city of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and within the corporate limits of the city of Jackson, Missouri, as these corporate limits are established by ordinance in the cities of Cape Girardeau and Jackson, Missouri. The prices set forth in this order are the highest prices that any dealer may charge when he sells or delivers any of such fuels at or to a point within the areas above described.

(b) Solid fuels not covered by this order. There are a few kinds and sizes of solid fuels covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 sold and delivered in the area covered by this order which are not included in and for which prices are not established in this order. The maximum prices of such solid fuels when sold by any person covered by this order shall continue to be the maximum prices for such fuels established by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended. Such sales shall in all respects be governed by the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended.

(c) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any obligations no person shall:

(1) Sell, or in the course of trade or business buy, solid fuels at prices higher than the maximum prices set by this Order No. G–6; but less than the maximum prices may at any time be charged, paid or offered.

(2) Obtain higher than maximum prices by

(i) Making a charge for the extension of credit;

(ii) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him; or

(iii) Using any other device by which a higher than maximum price is obtained directly or indirectly.

(d) Price schedule. (1) Below and a part of this paragraph is the maximum price schedule which sets forth maximum prices for sales by direct delivery of specified sizes, kinds, and quantities of solid fuels.

(2) The prices set forth in the foregoing schedule are based upon a per ton basis (2,000 pounds to the ton) and include delivery by the dealer to the purchaser.

(3) Prices set forth in the foregoing schedule are for raw coal, that is, coal which has not been treated except coal which is otherwise described in this Price Schedule (d).

(4) A discount of not less than 50 cents must be applied to the per ton price set forth in the foregoing schedule when yard sales are made. "Yard sales," for the purpose of this order, means sales in which the buyer takes delivery at the seller's yard.

MAXIMUM PRICE SCHEDULE

Description of fuel	Maximum price per ton
I. High volatile bituminous coal from District 10 (Illinois)
(A) Belleville and DuQuoin Sub-Districts (Price Groups 10, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, and 22):
1. Lump; Egg, bottom size 3" or larger	$5.50
2. Lump; Egg, bottom size 1½" or larger	5.00
(B) Southern Sub-District (Price Groups 1, 2, and 8):
1. Lump; Egg, bottom size 3" or larger	6.40
2. Lump; Egg, bottom size 3" and smaller	6.10
3. Domestic Stoker (Washed), top size ¾" to larger than 10 Mesh or 3/32", bottom size smaller than ¾" to larger than 10 Mesh or 3/32"	5.65
4. Commercial Stoker (Washed or deducted screenings)	5.35

(e) Ex parte 148 freight rate increase; transportation tax; Missouri State sales tax—(1) The freight rate increase. Since the ex parte 148 freight rate increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December, 1941. Therefore, no dealer may increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(2) The transportation tax. Only the transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 may be collected in addition to the maximum prices set out by this order provided the dealer states it separately from the price of the fuel and lists it separately on any sales slip or receipt given to the buyer. This tax need not be stated separately on sales to the United States or any agency thereof. (See Amendment No. 12 to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.). No part of this tax may be collected in addition to maximum prices on sales of ¼ ton or lesser quantities.

(3) The Missouri State sales tax. The seller may add to the prices listed in the schedule in paragraph (d) the sales tax required to be collected by the laws of the State of Missouri. This tax shall be separately stated in the dealer's invoice, sales slip or receipt.

(f) Addition of increase in supplier's prices prohibited. (1) The maximum prices set out by this order may not be increased by a dealer to reflect increases in purchase costs or in supplier's maximum prices occurring after the effective date hereof; but increases in the maximum prices set hereby to reflect such increases are within the discretion of the Regional Administrator.

(g) Power to amend or revoke. (1) The Price Administrator or the Regional Administrator of Region V may amend, revoke, or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(h) Petitions for amendment. (1) Any person seeking an amendment to this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(i) License. (1) Every dealer subject to this order is governed by the licensing provisions of Supplementary Order No. 72. This provides in brief that a license is required of all persons selling at retail commodities for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for the license, but a dealer may later be required to register. The license may be suspended for violation in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If a dealer's license is suspended, he may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(j) Records and reports. (1) Every person making a sale of solid fuel for which a maximum price is set by this order shall keep a record thereof showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the price charged and the kind and size of fuel sold. The fuel shall be identified in the manner in which the fuel is described in this order.

(k) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips and receipts. (1) Each dealer subject to this order shall post all of the maximum prices set by it for all types of sales. He shall post his prices in his place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public. He shall also keep a copy of this order available for examination by any person inquiring as to his prices for solid fuel.

(2) In the case of all sales covered by this order every dealer who during December, 1941, customarily gave buyers sales slips or receipts shall continue to do so. In any case if a buyer requests a receipt, the seller shall furnish the buyer with a receipt showing the name and address of the seller, the kind, sizes, and quantity of the solid fuel sold to the buyer and the price or prices charged.

(l) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provisions of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the St. Louis, Missouri District Office of the Office of Price Administration.

(m) Definitions and explanations. (1) "Persons" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States, or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale," "selling," "sold," "buy," "purchase," and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

(3) "Dealer" means any person selling solid fuel except producers or distributors making sales at or from a mine, a preparation plant operated as an adjunct of any mine, a coke oven or a briquette plant.

(4) "Direct delivery" means dumping or chuting the fuel from the seller's truck directly into the buyer's bin or storage space; but if this is unfeasible, because of the absence of a regular driveway free from all foreign matter which might damage trucks and tires, then direct delivery means discharging the solid fuel from the seller's truck directly at the street curb or at the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space.

(5) "Price groups" and "size groups", as used in this order refer to the price groups and size groups established by the former Bituminous Coal Division pursuant to the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, and as in effect at midnight, August 23, 1943.

(6) "District No." refers to the geographical bituminous coal producing districts as delineated and numbered by the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, as they have been modified by the Bituminous Coal Division and as in effect at midnight, August 23, 1943.

(7) "High volatile bituminous coal" means coal produced in the high volatile sections of the producing districts specified herein.

(8) "Solid fuel" (or "solid fuels") means all solid fuel except wood and wood products, including all kinds of anthracite and semi-anthracite; bituminous and semi-bituminous and cannel coal; lignite; all coke, including low temperature coke (except by-product foundry and blast furnace coke, and beehive oven furnace coke produced in the State of Pennsylvania); briquettes made from coke or coal; and sea coal used for foundry facings.

(9) "Egg, lump," etc., sizes of bituminous coal refer to the sizes of such coal as defined in the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, and as prepared at the mine in accordance with the applicable minimum price schedule promulgated by the Bituminous Coal Division of the United States Department of the Interior, and in effect (or established) as of midnight, August 23, 1943.

Where the minimum price schedule does not make specific mention of any size designated in this order, such size designations shall refer to the sizes of bituminous coal sold as such in the area subject to this order during December, 1941.

(10) Except as otherwise specifically provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended, shall apply to the terms used herein.

(n) Effect of this order on Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. (1) To the extent applicable, the provisions of this order supersede Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

(2) This Order No. G–6 shall become effective the 21st day of June 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

LUZERNE COUNTY GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING OF APPLICATION FOR MODIFICATION OF PREVIOUS ORDER

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 20th day of June 1944.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission by Luzerne County Gas and Electric Corporation (Luzerne), a subsidiary of The United Gas Improvement Company, a registered holding company, requesting the modification of an order issued by this Commission on May 27, 1941, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 30, 1944, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said application, which is on file in the office of the said Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized below:

Luzerne has requested this Commission to remove a restrictive condition imposed by its opinion and order of May 27, 1941 (File No. 70-307, Holding Company Act Release No. 2784) in respect of an application pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Act regarding the issue and sale by Luzerne of new preferred stock and serial notes for the purpose of redeeming and retiring its then outstanding preferred stock; such condition being as follows:

> Luzerne shall not declare or pay any dividends (other than dividends payable in shares of its common stock) on any shares of its common stock, nor shall Luzerne make any other distribution on its common stock or purchase or retire any shares of its common stock out of net income unless the earned surplus after making such declaration, payment, distribution, purchase, or retirement is equal to or greater than the sum of $163,261 plus an accumulative amount equal to $60,000 per calendar year beginning with the year 1941 and continuing until the cost of retiring the presently outstanding $6 and $7 Dividend Cumulative Preferred Stock shall have been completely amortized, and thereafter an accumulative amount equal to $190,000 per calendar year to continue until the total earned surplus so accumulated, and unavailable for common stock dividends, shall equal $1,500,000; Provided, however, That such earned surplus required to remain after declaration or payment of such dividends or after such distribution, purchase, or retirement may be reduced for the purpose of this computation by the amount of any surplus adjustments resulting from writing down or writing off the excess of carrying value of property now owned by Luzerne over the original cost of such property when first devoted to public use;

As is more fully disclosed in our opinion referred to above, the condition was imposed as an additional measure of protection to the senior security holders of Luzerne by reason of (a) the existence and contingent disposition of plant acquisition adjustments, as determined by the company, totaling $1,760,018; (b) the necessity of amortizing $1,167,108 of preferred stock and financing expense; and (c) the admitted inadequacy of Luzerne's depreciation reserve, particularly in relation to its gas property.

Luzerne has submitted a copy of an order issued by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission under date of February 7, 1944, which, among other things, directs Luzerne to dispose of an aggregate excess over original cost of $2,412,933 by forthwith charging off $188,014 thereof and amortizing the balance of $2,224,919 through the period from 1944 to 1958 inclusive, by charges to "Miscellaneous Amortization" as follows:

1946-58, 13 years at approximately $163,714 per year	2,128,292
Total	$2,224,919

According to the Pennsylvania Commission's order (a) "The lower annual amortization proposed during the years 1944 and 1945 is designed to counteract amortization of certain refinancing expense which will be completed by September 30, 1945, and thus maintain net income at a reasonably uniform level." and (b) no portion of the restricted earned surplus of Luzerne amounting to $348,261 at December 31, 1943 is available for common stock dividends until such time as the excess of $2,224,919 has been completely amortized but the company may at any time use such surplus to reduce the excess.

Entries giving effect to the State Commission's order as to classification of utility plant were recorded by Luzerne as of December 31, 1943.

In support of the request before us, Luzerne asserts that the condition imposed in our order of May 27, 1941 has been substantially duplicated by the restriction and condition imposed in the State Commission's order of February 7, 1944, and that by reason thereof and the general improvement in Luzerne's financial condition in the intervening period, especially with respect to the substantial reduction in outstanding debt and the material increase in Depreciation Reserves, the improved ratio of debt and of the depreciation reserve to Property and Plant, the condition imposed by our order is no longer necessary in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers.

By the Commission.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 3, as Amended June 23, 1944]

§ 944.23 Priorities Regulation 3—(a) Purpose of this regulation. This regulation states the rules for the use of preference ratings, what kind of purchase orders or services may be rated and how a rating may be put on an order. It also places restrictions on the use of ratings and includes lists of products for which ratings may not be used at all or for which certain kinds of ratings may not be used. In general this regulation should be consulted before using a rating whether it was gotten directly from the War Production Board or from a customer.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this regulation:

(1) "Person" and "material" mean the same thing they do in Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) "Assignment" of a preference rating. A preference rating is assigned to a person when the War Production Board or someone that it has authorized issues an order or preference rating certificate giving him the right to use the rating.

(3) "Application" of a preference rating. A preference rating is applied when

[1] In all cases; round trip tickets must be purchased if possible. In the event that the return portion of the ticket cannot be used, it should be returned to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

the person to whom it is assigned uses the rating. A rating is applied also when any governmental agency which is authorized by the War Production Board rates an order for delivery of material directly to it.

(4) "Extension" of a preference rating. A preference rating is extended when it is used by the person to whom it is applied or extended by another person.

(c) Use of ratings in general. (1) When a regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate assigns a rating to any person, either by naming him or by describing the class of persons to which he belongs (as is done in the schedules to CMP Regulation 5), that person may apply the rating to get delivery of material or the performance of certain services. Also, a person may under certain conditions extend a rating which has been applied or extended to his deliveries of material, but not one applied to services. More detailed rules as to how and when ratings may be applied or extended are set out below in this regulation.

(2) When a War Production Board order or certificate states the quantities and kinds of material or the particular services which are rated, the person to whom it is assigned may use the rating to get only that quantity and kind of material or that particular service named in the order or certificate. If the quantities of material are not stated in the order or certificate assigning the rating it may be applied only to get the minimum amount needed.

(3) No person may place rated orders for more material than he is authorized to rate even though he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered.

(d) When ratings may be extended for material. The following provisions of this paragraph (d) apply to all extensions of preference ratings to get deliveries of material, unless they are modified by or are inconsistent with the provisions of any particular order.

(1) A manufacturer of Class B products under the Controlled Materials plan and a holder of Form WPB–2613 (formerly PD–870) may not extend his customers' ratings (except AAA) as explained in more detail in CMP Regulation 3 and in Priorities Regulation 11B.

(2) When a person has received a rated order for the delivery of material, he may extend the rating to get the material which he will deliver on that order, or which will be physically incorporated in material which he will deliver. If the material is to be processed, this includes the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-products in the course of processing.

(3) If a person has made delivery of material, or has incorporated it into other material which he has delivered on a rated order, he may extend the rating to replace it in his inventory. However, if after delivering the material he still has a practicable working minimum inventory he may not extend the rating to replace the material delivered; and if by making the delivery his inventory is reduced below this minimum, the rating may be extended to get only the amount necessary to restore the inventory to a practicable working minimum. Any material ordered to replace in inventory must be substantially the same as the material which the person delivered or incorporated in the material which he delivered, except for minor variations in size, shape or design. Substitution of less scarce materials which do not substantially alter the purpose for which the material is to be used is, however, permitted. The Conservation Division of the War Production Board from time to time publishes a list showing the relative scarcity of materials, entitled "Materials Substitution and Supply List." The latest copy may be obtained from any War Production Board office.

(4) A person to whom a rating has been applied or extended to get material may not extend that rating to get containers or closures to pack the material except as permitted by any order in the Containers, Part 3270, Series (Orders P–140 and P–146 are the only ones that now permit the extension of such ratings). Nor may he extend such rating to get any material for his own plant improvement, expansion or construction, or to get machine tools or other items which he will carry as capital equipment, or to get business machines for his own use whether purchased or leased, or to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies for his own use. Other orders or regulations, such as CMP Regulation 5 and some orders in the "P" series, assign ratings which may be used by the proper persons to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies and minor capital additions.

(e) Additional restrictions upon use of ratings for certain materials. Because of special circumstances which exist with respect to certain materials and products, the use of preference ratings to get items on Lists A or B attached to this regulation is restricted as follows:

(1) Items as to which preference ratings have no effect; List A. Any item on List A may be produced or delivered without regard to preference ratings. No person shall apply or extend any rating to get any of these items and no person selling any such item shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be applied or extended to any such item shall be void and no person shall give any effect to it in filling an order.

(2) Items to which blanket MRO ratings do not apply; List B. Blanket MRO ratings may not be applied to get any item on List B, except as permitted by the list. A blanket MRO rating means a rating assigned by CMP Regulation 5 or 5A, or by any other War Production Board regulation, order (including an order in the "P" series), form or certificate which assigns a rating for maintenance, repair or operating supplies without specifying the kind and quantity of the material to which the rating may be applied. Where the quantity of material is specified in terms of dollar value only, the rating is a blanket MRO rating. No person shall give any effect to any rating applied to his deliveries of any item on List B if he knows or has reason to believe that it is a blanket MRO rating. Any blanket MRO rating applied to an order for any item on List B which was not delivered before the date the item was added to the list shall be deemed void. The restrictions of this paragraph are not applicable when the blanket MRO rating is applied to get an item on the list for use on board ship, but in such a case the rating may not be extended by the person to whom it is applied.

(3) Illustration. A manufacturer of a product listed in Schedule II of CMP Regulation 5 is assigned a rating of AA–2 for operating supplies. He may not use the rating to buy wooden shelving for his own use since it is on List B. A contractor has received an order bearing a rating of AA–3 to install wooden shelving in an Army camp. He may extend that rating to get the wooden shelving from the manufacturer since in this case the shelving is production material as to him and not operating supplies. If, however, wooden shelving were on List A instead of List B, neither rating could be used.

(f) Use of ratings for services—(1) Ratings may not be used for personal services. Preference ratings may never be used to get labor or personal services as distinct from services performed in the course of a regular business involving the use of plant, machinery or equipment owned by the person furnishing the services. For example, ratings may be used to get a repair job done in a repair shop as explained below but may not be used to compel an individual employee to work on a repair job or to obtain the services of a consulting engineer.

(2) Three cases where ratings may be used for services. There are only three situations in which a preference rating may be used to get services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material:

(i) A rating assigned for the purpose. If the War Production Board assigns a rating to a named person to get specified services, he may use the rating for that purpose.

(ii) For processing. When a person has a rating which he may use to get processed material, he may (unless prohibited by another regulation or order) furnish the unprocessed material to a processor and use the same rating to get it processed.

(iii) For repairs. A blanket MRO rating may be applied by the person to whom it is assigned to get his plant, machinery or equipment repaired even if the repair job does not involve the delivery of repair parts or materials. See paragraph (e) (2) for definition of a blanket MRO rating. A rating assigned on Form WPB–541 (formerly PD–1A) or WPB–542 (formerly PD–3A), or any other rating which may be applied to the delivery of specific repair parts or materials, may also be applied to the installation of the repair parts or materials or to the repair job alone if it is found that installing the parts or materials is not necessary. However, in the case of ordinary plumbing, heating, electrical, automotive or refrigeration repairs, a rating may not be applied to repair work even if the rating is expressly applicable to repair parts or materials. As used in this subparagraph, "repair" means to fix a plant, machinery or equipment after it has broken down or when it is about to break down. "Repair" does not mean upkeep or maintenance service such as periodic inspection, cleaning, painting, lubricating, etc.

(3) Ratings for services only may not be extended. A person to whom a rating for services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, has been applied or extended may not extend the rating for any purpose.

(g) How to apply or extend a rating. (1) When a person applies or extends a preference rating he must put the rating (and symbol, if appropriate) on the order together with a certification signed as prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7. He may use the standard certification set out in that regulation, or if he prefers the following:

CERTIFICATION

The undersigned purchaser hereby represents to the seller and to the War Production Board that he is entitled to apply or extend the preference ratings indicated opposite the items shown on this order, and that such application or extension is in accordance with Priorities Regulation 3 as amended, with the terms of which the undersigned is familiar.

(Name of Purchaser)

(Address)

By --- (Signature and Title of Duly Authorized Officer)

The person who receives the certification shall be entitled to rely on it as a representation of the buyer unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

NOTE: (Subparagraphs (2) and (3) deleted April 25, 1944. They are superseded by paragraphs (o) and (p) of Priorities Regulation 7, which state the rules for placing rated orders orally or by telephone or telegraph.)

(4) When a person applies or extends a rating he shall also include on his purchase order or contract any information which may be required by any applicable War Production Board order. However, he is not required to include the serial number of the preference rating certificate assigning the rating.

(5) Each person who applies or extends a rating must keep at his regular place of business all documents including purchase orders and preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating. These documents, orders and certificates must be kept in such a way that they can be readily segregated and furnished to representatives of the War Production Board for inspection.

(6) When either certification authorized in this paragraph (g) is used it will not be necessary to use any other certification in order to apply or extend a preference rating, nor will it be necessary to furnish a copy of any preference rating order no matter what any regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate says unless it expressly states that this regulation does not apply. This does not affect the requirements of Priorities Regulation No. 9 (§ 944.30) when ratings are applied to certain types of exports, in which case its terms control.

(7) No person shall knowingly purport to apply or extend a preference rating to any order unless he is entitled to do so. No person shall apply or extend a rating for material or services after he has received the material or after the services have been performed, and any person who receives such a rating shall not extend it.

(h) Provisions applicable to extensions; deferment and grouping. No matter what any applicable preference rating order or certificate may say,

(1) No person may extend any rating to replace inventory after three months have passed from the time he could have first extended it;

(2) When a person has two or more ratings of the same grade which were assigned by different preference rating certificates or orders he may combine them and extend them to one delivery; and

(3) When a person has two or more ratings of different grades, or where they were assigned by the same or different certificates or orders, he may extend them to deliveries under one purchase order. However, the purchase order must show the amount of each material to which a particular grade of rating is extended. If the type and quantity of the material is such that the supplier can readily determine the exact effect of the extension of the rating on his production and delivery schedule from percentage figures alone, then the purchase order may show the amount of the material to which the particular grade of rating is extended on a percentage basis; otherwise, it must be shown as a separate item. In order to avoid production or delivery of material in quantities smaller than the minimum commercially practicable a person may combine ratings of different grades and extend the rating of the lowest grade to the total production or delivery.

(i) Restrictions in other orders. When any person applies or extends a rating he shall be subject to any applicable rule or restriction which may be set forth in the order of the War Production Board which assigns the rating or any other order which regulates transactions in the material or the facilities for which he is using the rating. This includes restrictions as to the kind and amount of material to which ratings may be applied or extended, requirements for written approval of any particular transaction, restrictions on certain uses of material or facilities and any other rules which may be applicable to the particular transaction. However, the rules of paragraphs (g) (4) and (g) (6) apply unless some other order or certificate expressly says that they do not.

NOTE: Lists A and B of this regulation will, in general, be revised on or about the 15th of every second month. Another revision may be expected about August 15, 1944.

INTERPRETATION 1, REVOCATION

Interpretation 1 of Priorities Regulation 3 is hereby revoked. (Issued Nov. 17, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 2

The restrictions on the use of ratings for the items on Lists A and B apply to orders for such items which had been placed before the date the item was put on the list but were not yet filled. (Issued Nov. 17, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 3

FIRE PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Blanket MRO ratings may be used to obtain repair parts and material for existing fire protective equipment, but may not be used to obtain end items of fire protective equipment. The term "Fire protective equipment", on List B attached to Priorities Regulation 3, includes only end items and does not include materials or parts required for the repair or maintenance of existing fire protective equipment.

For example, a fire extinguisher or a fire hose coupling is an end item of fire protective equipment and therefore may not be obtained on blanket MRO ratings, whereas a part required to repair an extinguisher or coupling is not an end item and therefore may be obtained on blanket MRO ratings. Similiarly, blanket MRO ratings may not be used to obtain a fire sprinkler system nor to extend an existing sprinkler system, but such ratings may be used to repair or replace sprinkler heads which have been opened up by fire or damaged in any other way. However, blanket MRO ratings may not be used to repair or replace new equipment which is still usable. (Issued Feb. 26, 1944.)

A great many orders of the War Production Board permit the delivery of materials pursuant to preference ratings assigned by a P-19-h Order, or by an order in the P-19 series. Forms CMPL-224 and CMPL-127 are generally used in place of orders in the P-19 series. It is expressly stated on Form CMPL-224:

"This authorization is issued in lieu of preference rating order of the P-19 series. Any reference in any order of the War Production Board to said preference rating orders shall constitute a reference to this authorization."

It is set forth in CMPL-127:

"This authorization is issued in lieu of Preference Rating Order P-19-h or P-55. Any reference in any order of the War Production Board to said Preference Rating Order P-19-h or P-55 shall constitute a reference to this authorization."

Consequently, it is proper for any person to deliver material or equipment pursuant to a rating assigned by Forms CMPL-224 or CMPL-127, if he is permitted under existing orders of the War Production Board to deliver said material pursuant to a rating assigned by a P-19-h order or an order in the P-19 series. (Issued Aug. 13, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 5

(a) Restrictions of other orders on use of ratings or delivery. The provisions of paragraph (e) relate only to the items which appear on the lists. When any other order of the War Production Board restricts the use of preference ratings to obtain any product, or restricts delivery of a product in any way, those restrictions are applicable even though that product is not listed in Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23). This rule specifically applies to the items which were on List C before the amendment of August 10, 1943.

(b) "Masking" tape. Blanket MRO ratings may be used to get industrial pressure sensitive adhesive tape (paper and cloth), also called "masking" tape. This type of tape is not included in "Gummed stay and sealing tape, paper and cloth."

This interpretation is not applicable to adhesive tape backed with cellophane or similar transparent materials derived from cellulose which may not be obtained with blanket MRO ratings. (Issued Dec. 16, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 6

EFFECT OF PREFERENCE RATING CERTIFICATE REFERRING TO PRODUCT OF A PARTICULAR MANUFACTURER

(a) When a preference rating certificate in assigning a rating to a product describes the product by its trade name or by the manufacturer's name and catalogue number, the rating may ordinarily be used to get the product from any manufacturer if the model actually obtained is substantially identical in size, operation and function with that named in the certificate.

(b) The rule stated in the preceding paragraph is consistent with the statement in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23), that a preference rating may be applied only to the specific quantities and kinds of material authorized. Ordinarily a reference in a preference rating certificate to a particular product of a particular manufacturer is no more than a shorthand way of describing the product. It is safe to assume, unless the certificate clearly states otherwise, that what is being rated is a certain kind and size of product which may be obtained from any manufacturer who makes that kind and size. If it is intended to confine the rating to a particular product of a particular manufacturer, the certificate should say so explicitly. (Issued Sept. 8, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 7

LIMITATIONS ON THE RIGHT TO USE RATINGS TO GET MATERIALS PROCESSED

(a) What this interpretation covers. This interpretation explains the limitations on the use of a preference rating assigned to the delivery of a material to get material processed under paragraph (f) (2) (ii) of the regulation.

(b) Controlled materials. Preference ratings cannot be used to buy controlled materials (steel, copper, and aluminum in controlled material form) from a producer or warehouse and consequently no rating may be used to get material processed into a controlled material by a producer or warehouse. There is one exception to this general rule which is covered by paragraph (d-1) of CMP Regulation No. 8, which assigns a preference rating to steel producerr for use in getting steel processed into a controlled material form.

(c) Class B products. Paragraph (g) (3) of CMP Regulation No 1 prohibits allotments of controlled materials to B product manufacturers except by the War Production Board and, as explained in Interpretation No. 16 to CMP Regulation No 1, also prohibits a customer from furnishing controlled materials to a B product manufacturer. A special exception to this general rule is provided in Direction 36 to CMP Regulation No. 1. In all cases not covered by the exception, it is improper for a person to furnish controlled materials to a B product manufacturer for processing and consequently no preference rating can be used to get such processing done. In this connection, attention is called to the fact that all products, whether Class A products or Class B products, which are bought for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies are treated as though they were Class B products. This is covered by paragraph (k-1) (2) of CMP Regulation No. 1. As pointed out in Interpretation No. 13 to CMP Regulation No. 1, a Class A repair part is handled on a Class B basis and therefore paragraph (g) (3) of the regulation is applicable.

(d) Ratings not to interfere with authorized controlled material orders. While a person who has been assigned a rating to get material may use the rating to get the use of the facilities of a controlled materials producer to have the material processed (if the material, when processed, is not a controlled material) rated orders for the use of a controlled materials producer's facilities must not interfere with the acceptance, production, or delivery of orders which he is permitted to fill under paragraph (t) (3) of CMP Regulation No. 1. Attention is called to Interpretation No. 4 to Priorities Regulation No. 1 on this subject. (Issued Nov. 18, 1943.)

ELECTRONIC INTERCOMMUNICATING SYSTEMS AND WIRE INTERCOMMUNICATING SYSTEMS

List B of Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23) forbids the use of blanket MRO ratings to obtain electronic intercommunicating systems or wire intercommunicating systems. This restriction applies only to getting systems not yet installed. Therefore, blanket MRO ratings may be used to obtain repair parts and materials for existing intercommunicating systems. Also, those blanket MRO ratings which may be used for minor capital additions, may within prescribed dollar limits be used to add stations to an existing intercommunicating system to bring it to its designed capacity. Thus, if an intercommunicating system is designed for 16 stations, with only 12 stations originally installed, four stations may be added by the use of blanket MRO ratings. However, an expansion beyond the 16 stations, or any enlargement of or an extension beyond the designed capacity, may not be obtained by use of blanket MRO ratings.

In conjunction with the above interpretation, it should be pointed out that a related item, signal and alarm equipment, also appears on List B of Priorities Regulation 3. With respect to signal and alarm equipment, blanket MRO ratings may be used to get parts and materials for repair and maintenance of existing equipment. However, since signal and alarm equipment is generally installed without a specific margin of unused designed capacity, no additions or extensions by the use of blanket MRO ratings are permitted. (Issued Jan. 6, 1944.)

CERTAIN MRO RATINGS ASSIGNED UNDER P–98–b ARE NOT BLANKET MRO RATINGS

Paragraph (e) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 prohibits the use of a "blanket MRO rating" to get any item on List B. See that paragraph for a definition of a "blanket MRO rating". Some of the items which are on List B also appear on Schedule B of Preference Rating Order P–98–b. That schedule provides a way to get a rating for the items which appear on it so that such P–98–b ratings will not be "blanket MRO ratings". These ratings are assigned to specific purchase orders for a specific kind and quantity of the material desired.

Therefore, when a rating assigned pursuant to Schedule B of P–98–b (as evidenced by the symbol MRO–P–3) is applied to a purchase order for any item which is set out on Schedule B of that order that rating is valid, despite the fact the item is also on List B of Priorities Regulation 3.

The order does not require the purchaser to furnish a copy of his approved purchase order to the supplier, and the supplier should give effect to the rating and certification unless he knows or has reason to believe that the purchase order has not been rated as provided in Schedule B of Order P–98–b. (Issued Jan. 24, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 10

USE OF RATING TO OBTAIN LEASED MACHINERY

(a) A preference rating which has been assigned for the delivery of an item of machinery or equipment may be used to lease the equipment as long as the following conditions are fulfilled:

(1) The lease must be a long-term semi-permanent arrangement where both parties contemplate the comparatively permanent installation of the machine or equipment. For instance, a rating could be used to obtain a machine under lease where the lease was for one year, with provision for renewal at the end of each year, and both parties expected that the lease would be renewed from time to time. However, the rating could not be used to obtain a machine for a month's use.

(2) If the rating is limited by specific dollar amount, it may be used only to lease machinery or equipment whose fair market value is no greater than the amount specified. For example, CMP Regulation No. 5 assigns a rating for the purchase of minor capital additions not exceeding $500. This rating can be used to lease a machine if its fair market value is not more than $500.

(b) If the instrument assigning the ratings specifies a lease rather than a purchase, it is not necessary to comply with the above conditions. (Issued April 25, 1944.)

IDENTIFICATION OF BLANKET MRO RATINGS

Generally speaking, ratings accompanied by the symbol "MRO" are blanket MRO ratings when they are applied to get an item on List B of Priorities Regulation 3. Therefore, any person receiving an order for a List B item bearing a rating accompanied by the symbol "MRO" must assume that the rating is a blanket MRO rating and give it no effect, unless the person who applied or extended it demonstrates (1) that it is not a blanket MRO rating or (2) that it is an extension of a blanket MRO rating applied on an order which was filled before the item was added to List B. (See paragraph (e) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 for definition of "blanket MRO rating.")

It should not be assumed, however, that all blanket MRO ratings are accompanied by the "MRO" symbol. Several "P" and "U" Orders assign blanket MRO ratings which are accompanied by symbols other than "MRO." For example, a blanket MRO rating is assigned by Preference Rating Order P–68, but the symbol accompanying the rating is "S–8".

The question has been raised whether the War Production Board assigns the symbol "MRO" in connection with the assignment of a rating on Form WPB–541 (PD–1A) for a List B item. The answer to this question is "No." Therefore, no rating which was assigned on Form WPB–541 for a List B item could properly be accompanied by the "MRO" symbol. (Issued April 25, 1944.)

RECORDS OF EXPORTERS

Paragraph (g) (5) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 requires each person who applies or extends a rating to keep all documents including preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating at his regular place of business. The Foreign Economic Administration and its predecessors, the Board of Economic Warfare and the Office of Economic Warfare, have assigned preference ratings to exporters for export by endorsing appropriate legends upon export licenses. The original of every export license, however, is required by other government regulations to be surrendered to export officials at the time of shipment. Consequently, persons who receive their assignments of preference ratings on export licenses are not in a position to retain the original of the export license and thus are not required to do so by paragraph (g) (5) except only in those cases where other government regulations do not require the surrender to the government of the documents referred to. (Issued April 25, 1944.)

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

TIME LIMIT ON USE OF RATINGS

The following interpretation is issued with respect to Priorities Regulation 3:

Preference ratings may not be extended to replace material in inventory after three months from the time delivery was made to the customer. This is the rule of paragraph (h) (1) of the regulation.

When a rating is being applied (except a blanket rating such as one assigned by CMP Regulation 5) or when any rating is extended for some purpose other than to replace inventory, this may be done only within a reasonable time after the rating was received. Generally speaking, more than three months is deemed to be an unreasonable delay in the use of a rating. In a particular case there may be circumstances which make a reasonable time shorter or longer than three months. For example,

(1) A rating assigned to a construction project on a form which says when the rating expires (such as GA–1456 or CMPL 598) may be applied for material going into the project until the expiration date stated, even though more than three months may have elapsed.

(2) A rating assigned in connection with an export license may be applied as long as the license is valid and expires when the license expires or is revoked. (For explanation of this rule see Interpretation 2, Directive 27.)

(3) When a rating is applied to a long term contract (such as the construction of a ship), it may be extended for material needed to fill the contract, even though more than three months have elapsed.

(4) If the purpose for which the rating was assigned no longer exists, the rating may not be applied even though three months have not elapsed.

(5) When a rating is extended by a person to get material to deliver to his customer, or to incorporate in such material, the time within which it may be done will, in general, be controlled by the delivery date on his customer's order.

The fact that a person has not been able to get his rated order accepted by a supplier does not lengthen the time within which he may use his rating.

PART 3285—LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS

[Order L–335, as Amended June 23, 1944]

LUMBER CONTROL ORDER

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of lumber for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3285.121 Order L–335—(a) What this order does. This order explains procedures that persons must follow in getting lumber and that sawmills and distributors must follow in delivering lumber. It applies to sawmills that produce over 100,000 board feet of lumber a year and to persons who sell or distribute new lumber within or export new lumber from the continental United States (meaning only the 48 states and the District of Columbia). It applies to every person who receives new lumber from a sawmill or distributor and it provides a procedure for controlling the amount of lumber that large consumers can receive.

Definitions

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Lumber" means any sawed lumber of any species, size or grade, including round edge, rough, dressed on one or more sides or edges, dressed and matched, shiplapped, worked to pattern, or grooved for splines, except: (i) dogwood, persimmon, rattan, balsa, and aircraft grade of sitka spruce; (ii) shingles, lath and slabs; mine ties and railway cross ties (sawed or hewed); (iii) edgings, trim, and off-fall less than three inches wide or less than four feet long unless made into standard commercial lumber sizes or patterns; (iv) hardwood flooring; (v) items produced from lumber but not classified in the trade as lumber, such as box shook, dimension stock, cut stock, and millwork; and (vi) used lumber.

(2) "Distributor" means any person who buys lumber for resale as lumber either at wholesale or retail. It does not include any part of a person's operations which would make him also either a sawmill or consumer.

(3) "Distributor stock" means any lumber which a distributor has in his possession for resale.

(4) "Sawmill" means: (i) any mill or plant, stationary or portable, which produced more than 100,000 board feet of lumber in 1943 or expects to produce more than 100,000 board feet in 1944; and (ii) any concentration yard or plant which processes (by drying, sawing, edging, planing or some other comparable method) 25 percent or more of the total volume of logs and lumber which it receives from the area in which it is located, into an item which is defined as lumber. However, the term "sawmill" does not include any establishment known in the trade as a distribution yard, engaged in either retail or wholesale business, even though it may process, for the servicing of special orders from customers, more than 25 percent of the lumber it receives.

(5) "Sawmill stock" means any lumber in the possession of a sawmill.

(6) "Consumer" means any person, (or any part of a person's operations, such as a plant, branch, or department which regularly maintains a separate lumber inventory record) who receives lumber (except for resale) and uses it in the United States. "Consumer" does not include persons (including contractors) who receive lumber for use on construction work done for other persons. The person for whom the construction work is done is the consumer.

(7) A "certified order" is any order for delivery of lumber bearing one of the certifications prescribed by this order or by any direction issued pursuant to this order.

(8) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

Lumber Consumers and How They Get Their Lumber

(c) General. For the purposes of this order lumber consumers are grouped according to the quantity of lumber they use and the purpose for which they use it. Because a person may be included in more than one group, he must read the provisions relating to each in order to determine the procedure or procedures he must follow in getting his lumber. Lumber which a person gets as a production material is subject to the limitations which may be imposed by directions to this order.

"Class I Consumers" and How They Get Their Lumber

(d) Who a "Class I consumer" is. A "Class I consumer" is any consumer who has been granted an authorization to receive lumber on Form WPB–3640.

(e) Who is required to get an authorization on Form WPB–3640. The following are required to file Form WPB–3640 and get an authorization from the War Production Board to receive lumber:

(1) Any consumer who has previously been granted an authorization to receive lumber on Form WPB–3640. If a consumer has received an authorization on Form WPB–3640 for one quarter, he must continue to apply for authorizations for subsequent quarters (though his requirements drop below 50,000 board feet) unless otherwise notified by the War Production Board.

(2) Any consumer who expects that he will need to receive 50,000 or more board feet of lumber in a particular quarter for all purposes except: (i) resale; (ii) mining or smelting operations for which he has been assigned a serial number under P–56; (iii) operations directly incident to the discovery, development, or depletion of a petroleum pool as authorized by Petroleum Administrative Order 11; (iv) farm operations for which he may get lumber through the War Food Administration as explained in paragraph (1) below; and (v) construction jobs which have been expressly authorized by the War Production Board or the National Housing Agency or any other Federal agency that authorizes construction on behalf of the War Production Board.

(f) Separate branches and departments. If a consumer has two or more branches, plants, departments or other divisions which regularly maintain separate lumber inventory records, each of them is to be treated as a separate consumer for purposes of determining whether it must get an authorization as a Class I consumer. Inventories may not be split for the purpose of evading this order.

(g) A consumer required to file Form WPB–3640 may not receive lumber in a quarter unless authorized. Any consumer who is required to file Form WPB–3640 but does not file his application and get an authorization, is forbidden to receive any lumber in the quarter for which the authorization was necessary. This does not apply to lumber received for one of the excepted purposes mentioned in paragraph (e) (2) above.

(h) How receipts are authorized. Applications on Form WPB–3640 covering requirements for the second and third quarters, as filed under this order before the amendment of June 23, 1944, will be returned to the applicant with an authorization saying how much he may receive during the third quarter. Applications for the fourth and subsequent quarters may be filed on Form WPB–3640 revised, in accordance with the instructions on that form.

(i) Extent to which authorization can be used. The following provisions govern the extent to which authorizations granted on Form WPB–3640 can be used:

(1) Quarterly receipts by Class I consumers restricted to amounts authorized. A Class I consumer may not order for delivery in, or receive in, any quarter (beginning with the third quarter of 1944) more lumber than the amount authorized on Form WPB–3640. This does not apply to lumber ordered or received for the excepted purposes mentioned in paragraph (e) (2) above. Lumber ordered for delivery in one quarter but shipped during the first month of the following quarter may be received without charging it against the following quarter's authorization.

(2) Delivery must be ordered for quarter in which authorized. A Class I consumer may order lumber only for delivery in the quarter in which he is authorized to receive it. This does not prohibit a Class I consumer from placing orders for lumber prior to the quarter in which he is authorized to receive it.

(3) Class I consumers may place certified orders in advance of authorization on Form WPB–3640. In order to assure the fulfillment of long-term programs and schedules, Class I consumers who are authorized to place certified orders may place such orders for delivery of lumber in future quarters in an amount not to exceed 50 percent of the amount they are authorized to receive in any current quarter. These orders may be rated to the extent that the person placing them has received ratings which are valid for delivery in future quarters. These orders will be subject to such adjustments as may be necessary at the time the War Production Board's quarterly determination of essential requirements is made.

(4) Additional authorizations and return of authorizations. A Class I consumer who needs more lumber than he is authorized to receive may file a supplementary application on Form WPB–3640 for an additional amount. If he finds that he will not need as much lumber as authorized, he must notify the War Production Board on Form WPB–3773 of the amount of lumber he does not need and has not received and must cancel or reduce his outstanding delivery orders accordingly.

(5) Restrictions on Class I consumer's use of ratings to get fabricated wooden products which he can produce. A Class I consumer may not use a rating of AA–3 or higher to order for delivery after July 31, 1944 fabricated wooden products if he has the facilities to make them himself, except that he may use such a rating to buy in any quarter the same amount of any fabricated wooden products that he bought during the corresponding quarter of 1943.

(6) Certification of delivery orders and use of ratings. Every Class I consumer must certify all his purchase orders, sales tickets, or other orders requesting the delivery or transfer of lumber as explained in paragraph (q) below. A Class I consumer who has received a rating to get production materials for a product may use that rating, and only that rating to get lumber that he needs as a production material for that product. A Class I consumer who has a rating higher than AA–5 MRO to get material for maintenance, repair and operating supplies (including MRO shipping material or dunnage) may use it to get lumber for such purposes. If a Class I consumer has no rating (or only an AA–5 MRO rating) for a part of his operations which requires lumber, he must place certified but unrated orders for the lumber which he needs for that purpose.

"Class II Consumers" and How They Get Their Lumber

(j) Who a "Class II consumer" is. A "Class II consumer" is:

(1) Any consumer who has a preference rating (except AA–5 MRO) and who would have to file an application as a Class I consumer except for the fact that he will need less than 50,000 board feet of lumber in a calendar quarter. (If, after the beginning of a quarter, this type of Class II consumer finds that he will need to receive 50,000 or more board feet of lumber in the quarter, he must immediately file an application on Form WPB–3640.)

(2) Any consumer who needs lumber (regardless of amount) for: (i) mining and smelting operations for which he has been assigned a serial number under Order P–56; or (ii) operations directly incident to the discovery, development or depletion of a petroleum pool as authorized by Petroleum Administrative Order 11.

(3) Any consumer who needs lumber (regardless of amount) for construction jobs which have been expressly authorized by the War Production Board or the National Housing Agency or any other Federal agency that authorizes construction on behalf of the War Production Board.

(k) Class II consumers must place certified and rated orders. Class II consumers do not, under this order, file special applications for authority to receive lumber unless specifically required to by a direction issued under this order. Any Class II consumer who has received a rating to get production materials for a product may use that rating and only that rating to get lumber he needs as a production material for that product. A Class II consumer who has a rating higher than AA–5 MRO to get material for maintenance, repair and operating supplies (including MRO shipping material and dunnage) may use that rating to get lumber for such purposes. A Class II consumer in placing a certified order must use his appropriate rating and endorse his delivery order with the certificate as explained in paragraph (q) below. As to any part of his operations for which he does not have a rating (or only an AA–5 MRO rating) he is not a Class II consumer and may not place a certified order or use a rating.

Farmers

(l) War Food Administration regulations. The War Food Administration is authorized to provide rules and regulations which will explain the way farmers will get the lumber that they need for farm purposes. These include only: (i) maintenance and repair of farm equipment; (ii) maintenance, repair and operation of farm buildings (other than dwellings); (iii) construction of farm buildings (other than dwellings) within the cost limits of paragraph (c) of Order L–41; and (iv) construction of farm buildings (including dwellings) where permitted under paragraph (d) of Order L–41. A consumer who qualifies as a farmer under these regulations may be permitted to use a certificate and a rating to get such quantities of lumber as the War Food Administration says he may get. A farmer may also buy lumber without a certificate or preference rating to the same extent that anyone else may do so under this order. A distributor who delivers lumber to farmers on the basis of certificates provided by the War Food Administration may, in turn, receive from his suppliers the same quantity of lumber by extending these certificates as explained in paragraph (o) (1) below.

All Other Consumers

(m) Who "all other consumers" are. "All other consumers" are industrial plants and business enterprises and other persons who need lumber for a purpose for which no rating has been assigned. The term also includes industrial plants and business enterprises that have an AA–5 MRO preference rating (except Class I consumers).

(n) "All other consumers" may place uncertified and unrated orders. "All other consumers" may place uncertified and unrated orders with lumber distributors and may accept deliveries of lumber to the extent that distributors are permitted by directions to this order to supply lumber for their needs. An uncertified and unrated order is one which bears neither a certificate nor a rating.

Distributors

(o) How distributors get their lumber. The following provisions will govern the manner in which lumber distributors will get their lumber.

(1) Extension of customers' certified orders. Every distributor may extend certified orders which he has accepted and receive an amount of lumber from a sawmill or from another distributor which is not more than the total accumulated certified orders accepted (either on past or future orders for delivery). There is no time limit within which orders must be extended. A distributor may not extend the same certified order more than once. Certified orders accepted by a distributor must be kept in the distributor's files, and the accumulated certificates may be extended by using the distributor's certification provided for in paragraph (q) (3) of this order. These provisions apply to both the certificates shown in paragraphs (q) (1) and (q) (2) below and to any certificate the War Food Administration says a farmer must use to get lumber under this order.

(2) War Production Board may authorize distributors to place certified but unrated orders. Any lumber distributor who was engaged in the business of selling lumber at wholesale or retail prior to May 1, 1944 and who had a lumber inventory at that date, may apply to the War Production Board on Form WPB–3813 for authority to place certified but unrated orders with sawmills or other distributors. Lumber distributors authorized on Form WPB–3813 to receive lumber under this paragraph may use the certification provided for in paragraph (q) (4) of this order.

(3) Directions may also permit distributors to receive lumber. Lumber distributors may be authorized by directions issued under this order to receive additional quantities of lumber. Lumber which a distributor receives under a direction to this order will be subject to the provisions of this order and such conditions as may be imposed by the directions.

(p) Deliveries that distributors may make. Unless a direction or directive issued under this order says a distributor may deliver lumber to a customer or to another distributor in some other way, deliveries may be made only on the following types of orders:

(1) Deliveries on certified and rated orders. Distributors may deliver lumber on the basis of a customer's or another distributor's rated order which bears either one of the certifications provided for in paragraphs (q) (1) and (q) (3) of this order or a certification in the form prescribed by the War Food Administration.

(2) Deliveries on certified but unrated orders. Distributors may deliver lumber on the basis of either a customer's or distributor's unrated order if it bears one of the certifications provided for in paragraphs (q) (2) and (q) (4) of this order.

(3) Distributors who are also consumers. If a distributor wants to use lumber from his own distributor stock, he may do so only by following the same procedure he would follow in delivering lumber to another consumer. If, as a consumer, he has the right to place a certified order with someone else, he may treat the transfer from his distributor stock as a delivery on a certified order, but he must keep a record of it in his files and endorse the appropriate certificate on the record.

Certification of Orders

(q) General provisions. Unless a directive or a direction issued by the War Production Board under this order says that it may be done in some other way, an order for lumber may only be certified by endorsing or attaching one of the following forms of certificates on the purchase order, sales ticket, or other order calling for the delivery of lumber. Certificates must be signed manually or as explained in Priorities Regulation No. 7. However, the standard form of certificate described in that regulation may not be used in place of the certificates required by this order. Orders placed verbally must be confirmed immediately and the confirmation must bear the appropriate certification. Orders placed by telegraph must bear the appropriate certification in full or be confirmed by letter bearing the certification in full. Lumber suppliers who receive certifications must keep them in their files for inspection by government officials.

Any consumer who may place a certified (rated or unrated) order for lumber required for construction or for maintenance and repair and who wishes to have the construction work done and the material furnished by another person may authorize such other person to sign the certification as his duly authorized official.

(1) Certificate that must be used by Class I and Class II consumers on rated orders. Class I and Class II consumers must endorse the following certificate on all their rated orders calling for the delivery or transfer of lumber:

The undersigned consumer certifies to the supplier and to the War Production Board that this lumber, together with all other lumber for which he has requested delivery, does not exceed the amount he has been authorized by the War Production Board to receive under Order L–335, with the provisions of which he is familiar, and that the use of any rating shown on this order is authorized.

(2) Certificates that must be used by Class I consumers on their unrated orders. Class I consumers who place certified but unrated orders calling for the delivery of lumber must use the following form of certification:

(3) Certificate that must be used by distributors in extending customers' certified orders. When extending customers' certified orders including certified orders that a distributor may receive from another distributor the following certification must be used.

The undersigned certifies that this lumber, together with all other lumber which he has ordered on the extension of his customers' certified orders, does not exceed the amount of unextended certified orders which he has in his file, and that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, he is authorized to place this order as a "certified order" under Order L-335, and to use any preference rating shown on this order.

The undersigned certifies to the supplier and to the War Production Board that he has been authorized ------ ------ ------ to receive this lumber. The amount for which he is requesting delivery on this order together with all other orders bearing this form of certificate does not exceed the amount he is authorized to receive by the use of this form of certificate. Restrictions on the Use of Ratings

(r) General. This order does not assign any preference ratings. If a consumer has a rating to get production materials for a product, he may continue to use that rating to get lumber to be incorporated in the product. If a consumer has a rating (except an AA-5 MRO) to get lumber for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies (including MRO shipping material or dunnage), he can also continue to use that rating to get lumber for such purposes. A consumer who does not have a rating but needs one to get lumber may get it in the same way as a rating for any other material (except in the case of farmers who get a rating through the War Food Administration). Persons who had a rating to get lumber under Order M-208 may not use those ratings as that order has been revoked as of August 1, 1944. Under this order any person entitled to use a preference rating to get lumber must also use the certification described in paragraph (q) (1), as the preference rating alone is not sufficient. The use of any rating assigned by a certificate, preference rating order, or regulation is subject to any restrictions contained in the instrument assigning it. Also, persons using ratings to get lumber must comply with the general applicable restrictions in Priorities Regulations 1, 3, and 11-B and CMP Regulation 3 and with the further restrictions contained in this order.

(1) MRO Rating of AA-5 may not be used to get lumber. No person who has an AA-5 MRO rating for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies may use it to get lumber. No person selling lumber may give any effect to such a rating.

(2) Uncertified order may not be rated. No preference rating appearing on a lumber order will be valid unless the order is certified as provided in paragraphs (q) (1) and (q) (3) above.

Sawmill Deliveries

(s) Deliveries that sawmills may make. Unless a direction or a directive issued under this order says that a sawmill may deliver lumber to a distributor or to a consumer in some other way, the delivery may be made only in the following cases:

(1) Deliveries on certified and rated orders. Sawmills may deliver lumber on the basis of a rated order from either a consumer or a distributor if the order bears one of the certifications provided for in paragraphs (q) (1) and (q) (3) of this order.

(2) Sawmill deliveries on certified but unrated orders. Sawmills may deliver lumber on the basis of an unrated order from either a Class I consumer or a distributor if the order bears one of the certifications provided for in paragraphs (q) (2) and (q) (4) of this order.

(3) Sawmills may deliver lumber freely to other sawmills. This order does not restrict delivery of lumber between "sawmills".

(t) Uncertified and unrated orders. A sawmill cannot deliver lumber to either a consumer or distributor or withdraw lumber for his own use from his sawmill stock on the basis of an uncertified order unless permitted by a direction or directive to this order.

(u) Sawmills that are distributors. If a person operates both a sawmill and a distribution yard, he may transfer lumber from his "sawmill stock" to his "distributor stock" provided he follows the procedures governing the delivery of lumber from a sawmill to a distributor. If, as a distributor, he has the right to place a certified order with other suppliers, he may treat the transfer from his "sawmill stock" to his "distributor stock" as a delivery on a certified order, and he must keep a record of the transfer in his sawmill files and endorse the appropriate certificate on that record.

(v) Sawmills that also sell at retail but do not have a distribution yard. Sawmills that sell lumber at retail but do not maintain a separate retail distribution yard may accept the same types of orders that a distributor is authorized to accept.

(w) Sawmills that are also consumers. If a person is engaged in operating a sawmill and is also engaged in an operation which makes him a consumer, he may transfer lumber from his sawmill stock to his consumer operation provided that, as a consumer, he is authorized to place an order bearing one of the certifications required of consumers. The transfer from his sawmill stock may be treated as a delivery on a certified order, and he must keep a record of the transfer in his sawmill files and endorse the appropriate certificate on the record.

Acceptance and Sequence of Filling Orders

(x) Sawmills' acceptance and filling of orders. The following provisions will govern sawmills' acceptance of orders and the sequence in which they must be filled.

(1) Sawmills' acceptance of certified and rated orders received a month before month of delivery. Certified and rated orders calling for delivery in any calendar month must be accepted by a sawmill up to the first day of the preceding calendar month in accordance with the provisions of § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1; that is, as between certified and rated orders, a higher rated order shall take precedence over a lower rated order. If receipt of an order which is rated higher than a previously accepted rated order would result in the sawmill having rated orders for more than 110 percent of its anticipated shipments for the month, then the lowest rated orders or order must be displaced and the customer must be notified.

(2) Orders received within one month of month of delivery. A sawmill must not accept rated orders after the beginning of the month preceding the month in which delivery is requested except: (i) where acceptance of the order will not bring the sawmill's total accepted rated orders for delivery in the same month to more than 110 percent of anticipated shipments; (ii) where the new order is rated AAA; or (iii) where the sawmill is directed by the War Production Board to accept the order. If, by the first of the month preceding the month in which delivery is requested, a sawmill does not have certified and rated orders calling for 110 percent of its anticipated shipments, it must continue to accept rated certified orders in accordance with the provisions of § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 until its accepted rated orders reach 110 percent of its anticipated shipments. After that, it must not accept any rated order for delivery in the same month, unless (i) the new order is rated AAA; or (ii) the sawmill is directed by the War Production Board to fill the order.

(3) Sequence of filling accepted rated orders where all cannot be filled. If a sawmill is unable to make delivery at the time requested on all certified and rated orders which it has accepted for delivery, it must give precedence to high rated orders over lower rated orders as provided in § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation 1, except that any unfilled certified and rated orders carried over from a previous month must be filled before making delivery on orders accepted for delivery in the current month, even if the orders carried over bear lower ratings. The only exceptions are that current orders rated AAA and orders which the sawmill has been directed by the War Production Board to fill take precedence over unfilled orders carried over from a preceding month.

(4) Certified but unrated orders. There is no fixed limit on the amount of certified but unrated orders that a sawmill may accept from Class I consumers and distributors, but a sawmill should not accept more of these orders than it reasonably expects it will be able to ship. These orders must give way to all certified rated orders previously or subsequently received.

Miscellaneous

(y) The following provisions generally affect consumers, distributors, and sawmills and should be carefully read:

(1) Validation of orders in the third quarter. Any consumer or distributor who has placed orders with lumber suppliers and is authorized under this order to place a lumber order may accept delivery of that order after July 31, 1944 provided he validates the order by giving his supplier the certification that he would use if the order were being placed after July 31, 1944. Consumers that are authorized only to receive specified amounts of lumber (in board feet) in the third quarter must charge receipts of lumber after June 30, 1944 against their total authorization for the third quarter. Consumers that cannot validate orders placed with lumber suppliers for receipt after July 31, 1944 must cancel such orders by notifying the supplier. Sawmills and distributors shall treat any order which requests delivery of lumber in the months of August and September, 1944, as an uncertified order, if the order has not been validated prior to July 20, 1944. Consumers and distributors validating orders under these provisions may do so by telegraph. Orders for delivery after July 31 which are validated before July 20 must be scheduled by sawmills on the same basis as if they had been certified orders when originally received.

(2) Directives and directions. The term "directive" as used in this order means written instructions to a specific person regarding the manufacture, delivery or use of lumber. The term "direction" means published instructions to a group or class. The War Production Board may issue directives or directions requiring sawmills or distributors to set aside specific quantities or percentages of production or shipments for persons placing certified orders. It may also allocate production or shipments to specified persons or classes or for specified uses, and may direct how and in what quantities delivery to specified persons or classes or uses may be made. It may also direct distribution to particular areas and may direct or prohibit the production by any person of particular items of lumber. Directions and directives supersede any preference ratings assigned to particular purchase orders or contracts. They will be issued in accordance with approved programs for the satisfaction of war and essential civilian requirements, and in order to carry out more fully the purposes of this order.

(3) Exports. The Army, and Navy, the Foreign Economic Administration, and other Federal agencies exporting or authorizing the export of lumber will obtain authorizations on Form WPB-3640 for all exports of lumber under their jurisdiction. Any person who wishes to buy lumber for export must submit his delivery orders to the appropriate Federal agency for certification when requesting permission to export.

(4) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise required by this order, Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 continue to govern the use of ratings and the acceptance, scheduling and filling of orders placed with distributors and sawmills. All other applicable regulations and orders of the War Production Board also remain in effect where not inconsistent with this order.

(5) Not applicable to territories and possessions. This order applies only to deliveries made within the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

(6) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(7) Delivery to violators prohibited. No person shall sell, ship, or deliver, or cause to be sold, shipped or delivered, any lumber which he knows or has reason to believe will be received or used in violation of the provisions of this order or any direction or directive issued under it, or any other order or regulation of the War Production Board.

(8) Reports. Every person shall file with the War Production Board or any other Federal agency through which the War Production Board may distribute lumber, such reports and questionnaires as the War Production Board or such other agency may from time to time require subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(9) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by mailing a letter to the War Production Board referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(10) Application and communications. Form WPB-3640 for use in filing applications under this order and Forms WPB-3773 and WPB-3813 may be obtained at any War Production Board District Office. All communications, unless otherwise directed, must be addressed as follows: Lumber and Lumber Products Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-335.

(11) Effective date. Except as otherwise stated, this order applies to all deliveries and receipts of lumber after July 31, 1944. It also applies to all orders placed at any time which call for delivery after July 31, 1944. Such orders may be certified after they have been placed, as explained in paragraph (y) (1) above.

PART 3291—CONSUMER DURABLE GOODS

[Supplementary Limitation Order L-7-c, as Amended June 23, 1944]

DOMESTIC ICE REFRIGERATORS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of iron and steel and other critical materials used in the production of Domestic Ice Refrigerators for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3291.16 Supplementary Limitation Order L-7-c—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Domestic ice refrigerator" means any non-mechanical ice chest or ice box designed for home use.

(iv) Having iron and carbon steel content of more than 6 pounds; or

(v) [Deleted June 23, 1944]

(2) (i) No person shall produce any domestic ice refrigerator except in accordance with a production quota assigned to him in a schedule issued by the War Production Board pursuant to this order. Such production quotas shall be assigned for periods of time to be specified in the schedule, and shall expire on the last day of the period for which they are assigned. Any person desiring to obtain a production quota shall file with the War Production Board at least 30 days before the expiration date of the schedule in effect at that time a written application to be assigned a production quota for such period as the War Production Board shall specify.

(ii) Such application should contain a statement as to the amount of iron and carbon steel, and other critical materials to be contained in each domestic ice refrigerator the applicant proposes to produce during such period. Whenever production quotas are assigned by the War Production Board, it will take into consideration the amount of iron and carbon steel, and other critical materials to be used by each applicant, the extent to which the domestic ice refrigerators which each applicant proposes to produce conforms to the performance specifications contained in Appendix A attached to this order as established by tests of the National Bureau of Standards, the labor and transportation situation in the area where the plant of each applicant is located and such other factors as the War Production Board shall deem appropriate.

(e) Avoidance of excessive inventories. No person authorized to produce domestic ice refrigerators shall accumulate for use in the production of such domestic ice refrigerators inventories of raw materials, semi-processed materials or finished parts in quantities in excess of the minimum amount necessary to maintain production at the rates permitted by this order and any schedules issued pursuant thereto.

(f) Records. All persons affected by this order or any schedule issued pursuant thereto, shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales.

(g) Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this order shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

Each person, before he offers for sale any new model of domestic ice refrigerator, shall file with the War Production Board a report on Form WPB-1117 (formerly Form PD-531), setting forth a bill of material for such model. Each person affected by this order, or any schedule issued pursuant thereto, shall file such other reports and answers to questionnaires as the War Production Board shall from time to time require.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or of any schedule issued pursuant thereto, or who, in connection with this order, or any such schedule, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(j) Appeal. Any appeal from the restrictions contained in paragraph (b) (1) of this Order should be made on Form WPB-1477 (formerly PD-500) and filed with the Consumers Durable Goods Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C.

APPENDIX A—PERFORMANCE SPECIFICATIONS FOR DOMESTIC ICE REFRIGERATORS

I. Temperature & Ice Meltage Performance

1. The refrigerator shall maintain with no load in the food compartment an average food compartment temperature of 48° F. or less and a temperature of 46.5° F. or less in the milk storage space at 60% of initial ice load with the room at an average temperature of 85° F. plus or minus 1° F.

2. The temperature at a point two inches above the bottom of the food compartment and two inches from the sidewall, located in the vertical plane perpendicularly bisecting a return air duct shall not be higher than the temperature of the air entering the return air duct. (The return air duct is defined as the duct or ducts through which the air in the refrigerator returns from the food compartment to the ice compartment.)

3. Ice meltage at 60% initial ice load for food compartment volumes between 2.75 and 5.5 cubic feet shall not exceed the value, in lbs/day, computed from the following formula:

M equals 7.28 plus 3.3V

where M is the ice meltage in lbs/day and V is the volume of the food compartment in cubic feet. Note: This formula applies only under the following conditions: Room temperature 85° F.; Average food compartment temperature 48° F.; and Food Compartment volumes ranging between 2.75 cubic feet and 5.5 cubic feet.

II. Construction Performance

4. Box deformation: The box shall show no permanent vertical deformation in excess of 3/16" per 3 feet of vertical elevation when subjected to a horizontal load of 350 pounds applied along one diagonal of the top from front to back with the box fastened to the floor at all four legs.

5. Door damage: The door and hinges shall show no permanent damage when the door is subjected to a vertical load of 100 pounds applied to the upper outside corner 2 inches from the outside vertical edge of the door with the door open and at an angle of 90° with the front of the box.

6. Ice shelf: The ice shelf shall be able to support a load of 200% of the normal ice load without fracturing the shelf or supports or causing permanent sagging of more than 1/16" at the center, sides and back.

7. Food shelves: Full width food shelves shall have sufficient strength to support an evenly distributed load of 50 pounds without fracturing or permanently sagging more than 1/16" at the center. Fractional width shelves around the milk storage space shall have sufficient strength to support an evenly distributed load of 25 pounds without fracturing or permanently sagging more than 1/16" at the center.

8. The back of the ice compartment shall withstand without damage an impact of 40 ft. lbs.

9. The refrigerator door shall withstand without damage to the door, hinges and latch a closing of 100 consecutive times from a fully opened position (opened through an angle of 180°) by an impact of 40 ft. lbs. applied at the center of door.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE AND PROHIBITIONS OF THE REGULATION

SECTION 1. Scope—(a) Commodities and transactions. This regulation establishes maximum prices for all domestic sales, rentals and leases of new machine tools. Domestic sales of new attachments and machine tool parts are also covered by this regulation when (1) the sale is made by a machine tool manufacturer or his dealer and (2) the attachment or part is designed for a machine tool produced by the machine tool manufacturer. The supplying of services which result in the production of a complete new machine tool shall be deemed to be a sale of the machine tool for the purposes of this regulation. Except as provided in section 7 (f), maximum prices for export sales and sales to exporters are established by the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[2] or any revisions thereto. When used in this regulation the terms "export sale" and "exporter" have the meaning given to them by the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

(b) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia, but not in the territories and possessions of the United States.

(c) Definitions. When used in this regulation, the term:

(1) "Machine tool" means a power-driven machine not portable by hand in its normal use, used for shaping metal by cutting, abrading, straightening, forcing, forging or forming under pressure. Welding equipment, machines for cutting metal by gas flame, and those made especially for laboratory use, are not included. The term "machine tool" includes standard equipment, i. e., those new accessories normally furnished with the machine and normally included in its price.

(2) "Attachment" means any new accessory equipment furnished with a machine tool, or separately for use on the machine tool, and for which a separate charge is normally made.

(3) "Part" means any component part of a machine tool, or standard equipment or attachment when separately furnished, as for spares or for repair purposes.

(4) "Dealer" means any person engaged in the business of purchasing new machine tools, attachments or parts for resale.

(5) "Manufacturer" means a producer, assembler or subcontractor who produces a complete machine tool, attachment or part from material owned either by him or by another, and any agent of the foregoing; but does not include any person whose work on the machine tool, attachment or part is restricted to the reconditioning or repair thereof.

(6) "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association, any other organized group of persons, legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States, any agency thereof, any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, and any agency of any of the foregoing.

SEC. 2. Prohibitions. (a) On and after June 28, 1944 (except as provided in paragraph (b)):

(1) No person shall sell, deliver, lease, rent or negotiate the sale, lease or rental of any new machine tool, attachment or part at a price higher than the maximum fixed by this regulation.

(2) No person, in the course of trade or business, shall buy, rent, lease or receive any new machine tool, attachment or part at a price higher than the maximum fixed by this regulation. If the purchaser or lessee receives from the seller or lessor a written statement that the price does not exceed the maximum price, and if the purchaser or lessee has no reason to doubt the validity of this statement, the purchaser or lessee shall be deemed to have complied with this subparagraph.

(3) No person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited by subparagraphs (1) and (2).

(b) Nothing in this regulation shall be deemed to prohibit the fulfillment of any contract entered into before June 28, 1944, for the sale, lease or rental of any new machine tool, attachment or part, if the price under such contract was permissible under the maximum price regulation or price schedule which was applicable to the transaction at the time the contract was made.

SEC. 3. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged.

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES AND TERMS OF SALE

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales—(a) Maximum price. The maximum price for the sale by any person of any new machine tool, attachment or part shall be the manufacturer's price to a user in effect on October 1, 1941, plus the additions permitted by paragraphs (b) and (c), wherever applicable. The term "price in effect on October 1, 1941," means a list price in effect on that date, or a price which would have been quoted on that date under a method of quoting prices without further cost computation which was in effect on October 1, 1941. If the manufacturer had no price in effect on October 1, 1941, the maximum price for the sale by any person shall be the last price at which the manufacturer contracted to sell the new machine tool, attachment or part to a user during the period January 1, 1941, to October 1, 1941, inclusive, plus the additions permitted by paragraphs (b) and (c), wherever applicable.

(b) Addition for resale discount or commission. This paragraph is applicable to new machine tools, attachments or parts which the manufacturer did not customarily distribute through dealers. In such a case, if the manufacturer intends to distribute the new machine tool, attachment or part through dealers and if the maximum price established by paragraph (a) does not include an allowance for resale discount or commission, such an allowance may be added to the price determined under (a). This allowance shall not exceed the percentage for resale discount or commission used by the manufacturer in sales of the most nearly comparable new machine tool, attachment or part during the period January 1, 1941, to October 1, 1941, inclusive. If a manufacturer did not use any allowance for resale discount or commission in determining a price for sales during the period January 1, 1941, to October 1, 1941, inclusive, the amount which may be added shall be an amount, in line with the allowance for resale discount or commission made by comparable manufacturers, specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration. The manufacturer shall write to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for such authorization. If the manufacturer does not file under this provision, the Office of Price Administration may of its own accord establish the allowance for resale discount or commission which may be added. This allowance shall be in line with that made by comparable manufacturers. The manufacturer shall notify his dealers, agents and distributors of the maximum price established by this paragraph, and that price shall be the maximum price for all sellers.

(c) Effect of escalator clause invoked on or before October 1, 1941. In the case of a new machine tool, attachment or part for which there was no price in effect on October 1, 1941, if on October 1, 1941, an existing contract of a manufacturer contained an escalator clause, and if on or prior to October 1, 1941, a delivery had been made under this contract at a price higher than the contract price, because the escalator clause had been invoked in whole or in part, the maximum price of the new machine tool, attachment or part shall be the last price at which it was delivered to a user by the manufacturer on or before October 1, 1941.

(d) Formula prices. The maximum price of any new machine tool, attachment or part that cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) to (c), inclusive, shall be determined as follows:

(1) Manufacturers' maximum prices where there is a comparable machine tool—(i) Maximum price. Where there is a comparable machine tool produced by the same manufacturer, the maximum manufacturer's price for a machine tool covered by this paragraph (d) shall be the maximum price established by this regulation for the most nearly comparable machine tool produced by the same manufacturer, adjusted to reflect increases or decreases in cost due to structural differences.

(ii) Report and approval of prices. Prices determined under (i) must be approved by the Office of Price Administration. A manufacturer seeking such approval must file the information required by OPA Form 167:1 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within ten days after he receives his first order for the machine tool. If the Office of Price Administration does not object to the proposed price within fifteen days after the mailing of the required report, the proposed price shall be deemed to be approved. If the manufacturer does not file the required report, the Office of Price Administration may establish a maximum price of its own accord. This price will be in line with the level of maximum prices established by this regulation.

(2) Manufacturers' maximum prices for the first order where there is no comparable machine tool—(i) Maximum price. Where there is no comparable machine tool produced by the same manufacturer, the maximum manufacturer's price for the first order of a machine tool covered by this paragraph (d) shall be determined as follows: The manufacturer shall use the same method of computation and the costs of labor, material, and the overhead and profit rate which were in effect in his plant on October 1, 1941 However, for any purchased equipment or subcontracted services, the manufacturer shall use actual prices paid by him, not in excess of the applicable maximum price. If the manufacturer did not have a price determining method for machine tools in effect on October 1, 1941, he shall use the labor rates and material prices in effect in his locality on October 1, 1941, and a price determining method approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration. A manufacturer seeking such approval shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(ii) Report and approval of prices. Prices determined under (i) must be approved by the Office of Price Administration. A manufacturer seeking such approval must file the information required by OPA Form 694–971 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within ten days after he contracts to sell the machine tool. This form is set out in Appendix A. If the Office of Price Administration does not object to the proposed price within fifteen days after the mailing of the required report, the proposed price shall be deemed to be approved. If the manufacturer does not file the required report, the Office of Price Administration may establish a maximum price of its own accord. This price will be in line with the level of maximum prices established by this regulation.

(iii) Report after production is completed. Within forty-five days after the manufacturer has completed production of the first order for a machine tool, which must be priced under this subparagraph (2), he shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the information required by OPA Form 694–971, on a copy of that form. This form is set out in Appendix A. Cost submitted on this report must be based on the actual labor hours and actual quantities of materials used in the production of the first order of the machine tool.

(3) Manufacturers' maximum prices for the second and all subsequent orders where there is no comparable machine tool or attachment. Where there is no comparable machine tool produced by the same manufacturer, the maximum price for the second and all subsequent orders of a machine tool covered by this paragraph (d) shall be determined in accordance with subparagraph (2). However, all costs which were included in the initial manufacture and which will not be experienced in recurring production must be deducted from the price determined under (2) to the extent that they were reflected in the selling price on the first order, and the estimates of quantity of labor and material used must be based upon the manufacturer's production experience in the first order. This price must be approved by the Office of Price Administration. A manufacturer seeking such approval must file the proposed price with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., before he accepts the second order. If the Office of Price Administration does not object to the proposed price within fifteen days after the mailing of the required report, the proposed price shall be deemed to be approved. If the manufacturer does not file the required report, the Office of Price Administration may establish a maximum price of its own accord. This price will be in line with the level of maximum prices established by this regulation.

(4) Manufacturers' maximum prices for attachments and parts. The maximum manufacturers' price for any attachment or part that cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) to (c), inclusive, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of (2) above. However, no reports of these prices are required.

(5) Maximum prices for sales by persons other than manufacturers. The maximum price for a sale by a person other than a manufacturer of any new machine tool, attachment or part that cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) to (c), inclusive, shall be the manufacturer's maximum price to a user established by (1), (2), (3) or (4) above.

(e) Notification of maximum price by the manufacturer. The manufacturer shall furnish his dealer, agent or distributor with the maximum price established by this section if requested to do so by any such person. If a seller has no reason to doubt the validity of the notification received from the manufacturer, he may rely on that notification.

(f) Retroactive effect of maximum prices established under (b) or (d). Where the Office of Price Administration establishes a maximum price under paragraphs (b) or (d) above because the maximum price has not been computed as required by those paragraphs, such maximum price shall apply to all sales or deliveries, to which such price applies, made after June 27, 1944.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for rentals and leases—(a) Price. The maximum price for the lease or rental of any new machine tool shall be determined as follows:

(1) Annual rental. The maximum annual rental shall be determined by multiplying the maximum price established by this regulation, as of the date of the rental contract, for the sale of the new machine tool, by the applicable percentage rate set forth below:

	8-hour day	16-hour day	24-hour day
	Percent	Percent	Percent
General use	26	30	35
Outdoor use of tools designed for indoor use	38	45	55

(2) Monthly, weekly and daily rental. The maximum rental shall be determined by multiplying the maximum annual rental by the applicable factor set forth below:

Period of time:	Factor
Month	0.10
Week	.025
Day, or fractional part thereof	.005

However, where the machine tool is rented for a specific period of time which results in a maximum total rental of less than $5.00, the maximum total rental for that period of time shall be $5.00.

(b) Rates most favorable to the lessee. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, the maximum price for any rental shall be computed on the basis of that period of time which will yield the lowest total rental. For example, if the machine tool is rented on a daily basis but the maximum rental figured on a weekly basis is lower than the maximum rental computed on any other basis, the maximum rental must be computed on a weekly basis.

(c) Additional charges. Charges for dismantling, loading, installation, transportation, maintenance and power supplied by the lessor may be in addition to the maximum rental, but must be invoiced separately. Such charges must not exceed any maximum price established therefor.

(d) Rentals and leases after the first contract. Maximum prices for the second and all subsequent rentals or leases of machine tools shall be determined in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation 1.[8] Where a rental or lease is continued by agreement, such continuance shall be deemed to be a subsequent rental or lease for the purpose of this paragraph.

SEC. 6. Federal and state taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale, rental, delivery or processing of machine tools, attachments or parts imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the maximum price or rental: If the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the seller or lessor from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the seller or lessor does separately state it, the seller or lessor may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller or lessor by the vendor from whom he purchased.

SEC. 7. Terms and conditions of sale—(a) Transportation charges. No seller or lessor shall require any purchaser or lessee, and no purchaser or lessee shall be permitted, to pay a larger proportion of transportation costs incurred in the delivery of any new machine tool, attachment or part than the seller or lessor required purchasers or lessees of the same class to pay on October 1, 1941, on deliveries of the same or similar types of machine tools, attachments or parts.

(b) Credit charges. The maximum prices and rentals established by this regulation shall not be increased by any charges for the extension of credit, unless (1) the seller or lessor on October 1, 1941, required payment of a separately stated additional charge for the extension of credit by purchasers or lessees of the same class on sales or leases of the same or similar types of machine tools, attachments or parts and (2) the amount charged for the extension of credit is not in excess of the charge the seller or lessor had in effect on October 1, 1941, for extension of credit involving the same amount and term.

(c) Special packing charges. If the buyer requests packing to his specifications and such specifications involve an increase in cost over the cost of the packing normally furnished by the seller, the difference between the factory costs of such packing, and the factory costs of standard packing may be added to the maximum price. This special packing charge must be billed or invoiced separately.

(d) Erection, demonstrating, training of labor and servicing. Charges for erecting, demonstrating, training of labor or servicing new machine tools shall be figured on the same basis as that used by the seller on October 1, 1941. Where such charges are made, they shall be invoiced separately.

(e) Discounts to dealers. The maximum prices established by this regulation shall not be exceeded by any seller of new machine tools, attachments or parts, but nothing in this regulation shall prevent changes in discounts or commissions allowed by a manufacturer to a dealer or sales representative.

(f) Supplementary Order 34 and Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation not applicable. Supplementary Order 34 and the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation are not applicable to sales of new machine tools, attachments or parts to procurement agencies. The term "procurement agency" means the United States, any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or any agency of the foregoing.

SEC. 8. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets, or stock in trade are sold or otherwise transferred after October 1, 1941, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 9. Individual maximum prices. The provisions of subparagraphs (4), (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), (10), (11), (12), (13), (14), (15), (16), (17) and (18) of section 1301.51(a) of Revised Price Schedule 67 are incorporated by reference into this regulation as they were in effect on June 27, 1944. The maximum prices established by these subparagraphs remain in effect, notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation. The subparagraphs named establish maximum prices for sales of certain new machine tools, attachments and parts by the following persons:

The Cincinnati Planer Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.
The Cleveland Automatic Machine Company, Cleveland, Ohio.
Defiance Machine Works, Inc., Defiance, Ohio.
Fox Grinders, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Gould & Eberhardt, Inc., Newark, N. J.
Hanna Engineering Works, Chicago, Ill.
L. J. Kaufman Manufacturing Company, Manitowoc, Wis.
The King Machine Tool Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Niagara Machine & Tool Works, Buffalo, N. Y.
Norton Company, Worcester, Mass.
Portage Machine Company, Akron, Ohio.
Smalley-General Company, Bay City, Mich.
Stokerumit Corporation, Milwaukee, Wis.

ARTICLE III—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 10. Application for adjustment—(a) When adjustment may be granted—(1) In general. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the manufacturer's maximum price of a new machine tool, attachment or part upon the basis of information submitted by the manufacturer or of other information. It may make that adjustment whenever it finds that the maximum price of a new machine tool, attachment or part is at such a level that (taking into account the cost thereof, the profits position of the manufacturer and the nature of his business) production of the new machine tool, attachment or part is impeded or threatened.

[8] 8 F.R. 10116.

[10] 8 F.R. 4132, 5967.

(2) Factors which may be considered. The following factors are relevant to the consideration of whether production of the new machine tool, attachment or part is impeded or threatened:

(i) Whether, and by what amount, the maximum price is below or above the total unit costs, less selling and administrative expenses properly allocable to the internal management of the business.

(ii) Whether, and by what amount, the maximum price is below or above total unit costs.

(iii) Whether, and by what amount, the manufacturer's current over-all profits, before income and excess profits taxes, are greater or less than his average over-all profits during the normal base period. These base period profits will be adjusted to reflect any change from the normal base period average investment.

(iv) Whether the manufacturer's sales of the new machine tool, attachment or part represent only a very small part of his total sales.

(v) Whether the manufacturer previously sold the new machine tool, attachment or part at a price which was below its total unit costs.

(b) How the manufacturer proceeds in applying for an adjustment—(1) In general. An application for adjustment under this paragraph (a) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [6] and shall be made on a copy of Form OPA 694-972, set out in Appendix B. The application shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(2) Application based on proposed wage or salary increase to be authorized by the National War Labor Board. A manufacturer who believes that the conditions for an adjustment set forth in paragraph (a), would exist if the National War Labor Board should grant a pending application for wage or salary increase, may file an application for adjustment under this paragraph. Applications for adjustment of maximum prices based on wage or salary increases requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board must also comply with Supplementary Order No. 28 [7] which requires, among other things, that an application for adjustment in such case be filed within fifteen days after an application for a wage or salary adjustment has been filed with the National War Labor Board, or, in a disputed wage proceeding, within fifteen days after the employer receives notification that the National War Labor Board has taken jurisdiction of the dispute.

(c) Prices for deliveries made pending disposition of the application. A manufacturer who has filed an application under this section may contract or agree that deliveries made during the pendency of the application shall be at a specific price which is higher than the existing maximum price which the manufacturer wants to have adjusted. However, no payment in excess of that existing maximum price may be received until final disposition is made of the application. Where the application is disposed of by an order issued under this section, the price received for deliveries made subsequent to the filing of the application may not exceed the maximum price as determined by the Office of Price Administration. Where the application is disposed of by an amendment of general applicability, payment in excess of the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery may be made for deliveries made pending disposition of the application, only as expressly authorized by order of the Price Administrator.

A manufacturer who wishes to enter into such an arrangement must specifically state to the buyer the following:

(1) The maximum price for the new machine tool, attachment, or part;

(2) The fact that an appropriate application for an adjustment of that maximum price has been filed with the Office of Price Administration; and

(3) The fact that the specific price quoted by the manufacturer is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration.

(d) Definitions—(1) Normal base period. The term "normal base period" means the period 1936–1939. If the manufacturer shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration that because of unusual conditions prevailing during that period he was operating at an unusually depressed level in comparison to other manufacturers in the industry, and in addition that some other period prior to January 1, 1941, represents a proper "normal base period," such other period may be considered. The mere fact that the manufacturer's rate of production has increased since 1936–1939 will not be deemed evidence that he was operating at an "unusually depressed level" during that period. If the manufacturer was not in business prior to January 1, 1941, he shall state that fact in his application.

(2) Over-all profits. The term "over-all" profits means net profit resulting from an operation of all divisions of the manufacturer, before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profits taxes. In the case of a subsidiary wholly owned by a parent corporation, the term "over-all profits" means the consolidated net profit before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profits taxes.

(3) Total unit costs. The term "total unit costs" means the direct unit cost of labor, material and subcontracted services, plus a proportion of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses, based on actual operating experience, properly allocable to the production of the new machine tool, attachment or part, but does not include provisions for income or excess profits taxes. In evaluating total unit costs, the Office of Price Administration will determine whether the allocation of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses is based on a representative period of continuous, normal production.

(e) Sellers other than manufacturers. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, the maximum manufacturer's price established by an order of adjustment, issued under this section, shall be the maximum price for sales by sellers other than the manufacturer.

(f) Procedural Regulation No. 6 superseded. No application for adjustment filed under Procedural Regulation No. 6 after June 27, 1944, with respect to new machine tools, attachments or parts will be granted.

(g) Amendment of general applicability. Where the Price Administrator deems it appropriate, he may grant the relief, which he deems necessary, by issuing an amendment of general applicability.

SEC. 11. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a modification of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 12. Adjustable pricing. Agreements may be made to sell at a price which will be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. However, except as provided in section 10 (c) or unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, no deliveries may be made at a price which is to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. This authorization will be given only where: (a) a request for change in the applicable maximum price is pending; (b) authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production; and (c) it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 13. Records. Every seller and lessor of new machine tools, attachments or parts shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect, complete and accurate records of every sale and lease. Such records shall state: (a) the date of the sale or lease; (b) the name and address of the buyer or lessee; (c) the quantity, number and description of each type of new machine tool, attachment or part sold or leased; (d) the price on the date of sale, or if there was no price on that date, the price eventually collected; and (e) the net price received.

SEC. 14. Reports—(a) Manufacturers shall report. On or before July 28, 1944, every manufacturer of new machine tools or attachments who has not already done so shall file a statement on OPA Form 167:2 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., setting forth:

(1) The price in effect on October 1, 1941 for each type and size of new machine tool or attachment offered for sale by the manufacturer on that date, together with any special charges, discounts, allowances or concessions applicable thereto on October 1, 1941.

(2) The last price during the period January 1, 1941 to October 1, 1941, inclusive, at which he contracted to sell any new machine tool or attachment for which he had no price in effect on October 1, 1941.

(3) The names and addresses of all dealers to whom the manufacturer has sold new machine tools, attachments or parts since January 1, 1941. This report shall be made on OPA Form 167:3. A supplemental list of dealers is to be filed, if such information has been previously submitted.

(b) Machine tool parts. The manufacturer is not required to file prices of machine tool parts with the Office of Price Administration. However, maximum prices for machine tool parts must be determined under section 4 of this regulation.

(c) Financial reports by manufacturers. On or before April 1 of each year, every manufacturer of new machine tools shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., three copies of the information required by OPA Form A—Annual Financial Report—on a copy of that form. If the manufacturer's fiscal year does not coincide with the calendar year, this report shall be filed within ninety days of the close of the fiscal year, instead of on or before April 1.

(d) Reports of leases. Every person who leases or rents a new machine tool shall file a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within ten days after delivery is made pursuant to the lease or rental agreement. This report shall set forth the following:

(5) The maximum price established by this regulation for the sale of the machine tool being leased or rented;

(6) The name, address and nature of the business of the lessee; and

(7) The rental charged.

SEC. 15. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, [8] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price regulations or schedules. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 16. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, lease or rental of a new machine tool, attachment or part, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise. Specifically, but not exclusively, it shall be a violation of this regulation for any person to pay a fee, commission, or other compensation for the finding or locating of, or for the services of anyone acting as a broker or dealer concerning a new machine tool, attachment or part, if the total of any such charge and the selling or rental price charged that person exceed the maximum price or rental established by this regulation.

SEC. 17. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

PART 1360—MOTOR VEHICLES AND MOTOR VEHICLE EQUIPMENT

[RMPR 341,[1] Amdt. 4]

USED COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 341 is revised in the following respects:

1. Section 1 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Definition of used commercial motor vehicle ("used vehicle"). Used commercial motor vehicle (called used vehicle in this regulation) means

(i) Any self propelled vehicle, or a vehicle drawn by it, which is primarily designed for civilian use on the highway for the transportation of property or of more than ten persons; or

(ii) Any army vehicle listed in Appendix C; or

(iii) Any chassis or body of a vehicle named in (i) or (ii); which irrespective of mileage has been used other than for the purpose of sale. This definition covers vehicles of the following types:

(iv) Vehicles primarily designed for civilian use, such as: ambulances, cab pickups, carryall suburbans, combinations consisting of truck bodies and passenger automobile chassis, coupes fitted with pickup boxes, fire trucks, hearses, omnibuses, sedan deliveries, trucks, truck tractors, truck trailers (full and semi), and utility sedans; and

(v) Army general and special purpose vehicles and army special equipment vehicles, listed in Appendix C and defined in section 18. This definition does not cover civilian passenger automobiles, civilian station wagons, vehicles operated on rails, selftracklaying vehicles, motorcycles, nor farm and garden tractors designed and used for agricultural purposes.

2. Section 6 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Method of determining "value when new". The "value when new" of a vehicle, or a vehicle chassis or body when sold or priced separately, shall be determined under this paragraph (b). (When a part of a vehicle, or chassis or body, has been removed, the "value when new" shall be the "value when new" of the complete unit less the retail list price for the part when new (which has been removed) when sold as a replacement; or if such a price is not ascertainable, an amount which is a reasonable estimate of the retail price of such part when new.)

(1) When the chassis and body are priced as one unit—(i) If the chassis and body are listed as one unit (called complete vehicle) in Appendix C. When the complete vehicle (includes both chassis and body) is listed in Appendix C, the "value when new" is the price listed in that appendix for such a vehicle.

(ii) Only chassis listed in Appendix C. If the chassis of the vehicle being priced is listed in Appendix C, and if the complete vehicle is not so listed, the "value when new" shall be the price listed in Appendix C for the chassis alone or the chassis with cab, whichever is appropriate, plus the first applicable of the following:

(a) The original retail price when new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) for the body with which the vehicle being priced is now equipped; or

(b) If that price is not ascertainable, the retail price new, f. o. b. factory, in effect on March 31, 1942, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) for the same or most comparable body.

(iii) If neither complete vehicle nor chassis alone is listed in Appendix C. If neither the complete vehicle nor the chassis being priced is listed in Appendix C, the "value when new" shall be determined as follows:

(a) If the vehicle being priced was purchased new as a complete vehicle, the "value when new" shall be the original retail price new of the vehicle, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) or if that price is not ascertainable, the first applicable of the following: the price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable vehicle of the same year of manufacture; or the price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable vehicle of the nearest year of manufacture.

(b) If the chassis and body were bought separately, the "value when new" of the vehicle shall be the sum of the price of the chassis, or chassis with cab, and the price of the body, each determined by one of the following methods:

(1) The chassis, or the chassis with cab. The original retail price new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) or if that price is not ascertainable, the first applicable of the following: The price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable chassis, or chassis with cab, of the same year of manufacture; or the price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable chassis, or chassis with cab, of the nearest year of manufacture.

(2) The body. The original retail price new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) or if that price is not ascertainable, the retail price new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) in effect on March 31, 1942, for the same or most comparable body.

(2) When the chassis, or chassis with cab, and body are sold or priced separately. If the chassis, or chassis with cab, and body are sold separately, or are priced separately in accordance with section 9 (b), the "value when new" shall be determined as follows:

(i) The chassis or chassis with cab—(a) When listed in Appendix C. When the chassis, or chassis with cab, is listed in Appendix C, the "value when new" is the price there listed.

(b) When not listed in Appendix C. When the chassis, or chassis with cab, is not listed in Appendix C, the "value when new" shall be the original retail price new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) or if that price is not ascertainable, the first applicable of the following: the price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable chassis, or chassis with cab, of the same year of manufacture; or the price listed in Appendix C for the most comparable chassis, or chassis with cab, of the nearest year of manufacture.

(ii) The body. The "value when new" of the body shall be the original retail price new, f. o. b. factory, (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) or if that price is not ascertainable, the retail price when new, f. o. b. factory, in effect on March 31, 1942 (exclusive of transportation costs and taxes) for the same or most comparable body.

3. The second sentence in section 6 (d) (2) is amended to read as follows:

Where an extra has replaced equipment on the used vehicle, the amount to be included in the "base price" for such an extra is the charge which the manufacturer of the vehicle had in effect on March 31, 1942 as an addition to be made to the vehicle list price when such a replacement was made, or if such a charge is not ascertainable, it is the difference between the "value when new" of the extra and the "value when new" of the standard equipment, replaced by this extra or previous extra, which was provided for in the list price of the vehicle when new. The "value when new" of standard equipment shall be determined by using the precedure prescribed in this paragraph for determining the "value when new" of an extra.

4. Section 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Percentage to be used in multiplying "base price" to obtain maximum price—(a) For a used vehicle or chassis. For a used vehicle or used chassis, the percentage to be used during the calendar year 1944 in multiplying the "base price" to obtain the maximum price shall not exceed the percentage stated in the following schedule which is applicable to the model year of the vehicle as determined by the manufacturer and the condition in which the vehicle is sold ("as is" or "warranted".)

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

Model year	Percentages
	"As is"	"Warranted"
1944 and 1943 and 1942 (sold new in 1944)	Percent 92	Percent 103
1943 and 1942 (sold new in 1943)	85	97
1941	63	78
1940	58	73
1939	55	70
1938	51	67

*1933 and low model year vehicles take the percentage applicable to 1934.

Where the manufacturer did not designate a model year for the vehicle when it was new, the year including the date when it was delivered new to the first purchaser for use shall be considered as the model year if such date of delivery can be substantiated by the original bill of sale or original invoice. If the year including the date of delivery cannot be substantiated, then the model year shall be the year of manufacture if substantiated by the motor or serial number, or lacking such data, the year 1934.

(b) For a body of a used vehicle. For a body of a used vehicle, the percentage to be used, during the calendar year 1934, in multiplying the base price to obtain the maximum price shall not exceed the percentage listed in the schedule in paragraph (a) which is applicable to the model year and the condition in which the body is sold ("as is" or "warranted"). The model year is the year of the original manufacture of the body or the model year 1934.

5. The narrative in section 8 (a) preceding the "Dealer's warranty" is amended to read as follows:

(a) A "warranted" used vehicle, which includes a chassis or body sold separately, is one in good operating condition for which the dealer furnishes to the purchaser, in writing, the following warranty signed by the dealer or his authorized representative.

6. Section 18 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) "Dealer" means a person engaged, in whole or in part, in the business of acquiring for resale, selling, repairing and reconditioning used vehicles, and who maintains a place of business for the display, sale, repairing and reconditioning of such vehicles. A person who has all the above qualifications except that he does not maintain a place for the repairing and reconditioning of used vehicles may be approved in writing as a dealer under this regulation by the regional office of the Office of Price Administration for the region in which the person's principal place of business is located, or a district office in that region authorized by that regional office, if he provides that office with adequate evidence that he has established, and is in a financial position to maintain, a working arrangement (for the repairing and reconditioning of used vehicles) with a reputable business engaged in the repairing and reconditioning of used vehicles. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this paragraph (b), an owner and operator of any number of commercial motor vehicles shall be considered a dealer under this regulation if he has an established place of business and adequate facilities for the general repairing and reconditioning of his vehicles, and regularly inspects, and maintains in good running condition, such vehicles.

7. Section 18 is amended by the addition of new paragraphs (g), (h) and (j) to read as follows:

(g) "Army general purpose vehicles" mean all wheeled vehicles intended for movement of personnel, supplies, ammunition, or equipment or towing of guns, trailers, or semi-trailers, and which are used by more than one service.

(h) "Army special equipment vehicles" mean wheeled vehicles, the chassis of which are basically identical to those used in general purpose vehicles but which have a special body or special equipment.

Chapter XIV—War Contracts Price Adjustment Board

RENEGOTIATION REGULATIONS

The changes and additions to Parts 1603, 1607, and 1608 set forth below are also contained in Revision 7 of the Renegotiation Regulations, dated June 9, 1944.

JOSEPH M. DODGE,
Chairman.

PART 1603—DETERMINATION OF RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS AND COSTS[1]

SUBPART B—METHODS FOR SEGREGATING SALES BETWEEN RENEGOTIABLE AND NON-RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

Section 1603.324 is added, as set forth below.

§ 1603.324 Segregation and exclusion of exempt contracts. Sales and costs allocable to any contract or portion thereof which is exempt from renegotiation under subsection (i) (1) of the 1943 act, or which is exempted from renegotiation under subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act, shall be entirely excluded from consideration in determining whether excessive profits have been realized and the amount thereof. However, sales allocable to such contracts shall not be excluded in determining whether the contractor is subject to renegotiation under subsection (c) (6) of the 1943 act. [RR 324]

SUBPART D—MANDATORY EXEMPTIONS AND EXCLUSIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

Section 1603.340 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.340 Scope of subpart. The preceding subpart deals with the general interpretation of the coverage of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 and with the meaning of the terms "contract" and "subcontract" as used in the act. The act contains various specific exemptions and exclusions of mandatory character, which are found in subsections (i) and (c) (6) of the act. These exemptions and exclusions will be outlined in this subpart. Permissive exemptions are covered by the succeeding Subpart E of this part. Exempt contracts are excluded from consideration in determining whether excessive profits have been realized and the amount thereof, but are not excluded in determining whether the contractor is subject to renegotiation under subsection (c) (6).. (See § 1603.324.) [RR 340]

Section 1603.344 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.344 Contracts and subcontracts for certain raw materials and agricultural commodities. * * *

(b) Agricultural commodities. * * *

(2) Interpretation and application of exemption—(i) Applicability. This provision of the 1943 act is retroactive as if it were a part of the Renegotiation Act on the date of its enactment, April 28, 1942.

(ii) Interpretation. The purpose of this provision is to exempt from renegotiation farmers, fruit growers, livestock raisers, fishermen and other basic producers of agriculture commodities and those who trade in such products or handle or transport them without processing them; it is not intended to exempt canners, processors, manufacturers and others who acquire products of this type from the basic producer and process them to a higher form or state. In order to qualify for exemption the product contracted for must be an agricultural commodity in its raw or natural state, or if such a commodity is not customarily sold or does not have an established market in its raw or natural state in the first form or state beyond the raw or natural state in which it is customarily sold or in which it has an established market.

(iii) Application. A commodity will be deemed to be an agricultural commodity in its raw or natural state only so long as it has not undergone some process of treatment or fabrication. In the case of fruits, vegetables and other like products this state does not ordinarily extend beyond the state in which such products are harvested. In the case of livestock, it terminates at the time the animal is slaughtered. Where an agricultural commodity is not customarily sold or does not have an established market in its raw or natural state as above defined and is no longer in such state the exempt status of such commodity will terminate with the state in which the commodity is first customarily sold or has an established market, and, with the exception of the produce of live animals which are specifically exempted, the exemption will not apply to any derivative products which are derived from such commodity in the state in which it is first sold, whether as a result of division, separation or further treatment or processing. For the purposes of determining whether an agricultural commodity is customarily sold or has an established market, regard will be given to the entire field in which such commodity is produced or marketed rather than to sectional or local practices; and varieties, types or classes of the commodity will be disregarded. Profits or losses from sales of agricultural commodities in their exempt form or state, including sales of futures in such commodities, are excluded from consideration in renegotiation. The War Contracts Price Adjustment Board has determined the form or state at which the exemption terminates in the case of each of the agricultural commodities set forth in § 1608.844 and will continue to determine and publish from time to time additions to this list. [RR 344.2]

SUBPART E—PERMISSIVE EXEMPTIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

Section 1603.350 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.350 Scope of subpart. The preceding subpart deals with mandatory exemptions and exclusions from the operation of the Renegotiation Act of 1943. The act contains certain provisions authorizing the War Contracts Board, or persons to whom its authority shall be delegated, to exempt other contracts and subcontracts from the operation of the act. This subpart will deal with these permissive exemptions. Such exempted contracts are excluded from consideration in determining whether excessive profits have been realized and the amount thereof, but are not excluded in determining whether the contractor is subject to renegotiation under subsection (c) (6). (See § 1603.324.) [RR 350]

SUBPART H—COSTS ALLOCABLE AND ALLOWABLE AGAINST RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

Subparagraphs (1) and (3) of § 1603.381 (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1603.381 Statutory provisions and general regulations. * * *

(d) Profit, cost allocation and allowance; general—(1). Profit. The term "profits derived from contracts with the departments and subcontracts" is defined by the act as the excess of the amount received or accrued under contracts and subcontracts over the costs paid or incurred with respect thereto. The term "costs" includes selling, general and administrative expenses. In connection with renegotiation on an over-all fiscal-year basis income received or accrued and items of cost paid or incurred will be considered as having been received or accrued or paid or incurred in the fiscal year to which such items are to be attributed in accordance with the method of accounting employed by the contractor or subcontractor in keeping his books. The method of accounting employed in determining the net income of the contractor or subcontractor for Federal income tax purposes shall be deemed to be the method of accounting employed by him in keeping his books. When the contractor requests that renegotiation be conducted on a completed contract basis, receipts and accruals and costs paid or incurred will be determined in accordance with the method agreed upon in connection with the granting of such request.

(3) Tax deductions. Costs allocable to renegotiable business shall be determined in accordance with the principles set forth above. Where the full amount of an item of cost is allocable to renegotiable business, it shall be allowed in the amount estimated by the War Contracts Board, or any agency to which its functions are delegated, to be allowable as a deduction or exclusion under Chapters 1 and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code. No such item of cost shall be allowed in an amount less than or in excess of that which is estimated to be deductible or excludible from income under the Internal Revenue Code, and all items of cost shall be attributed to the fiscal year in which they are allowable in the determination of taxable income under said Code. Where only a portion of an item of cost is allocable to renegotiable business, the War Contracts Board, or any agency to which its functions have been delegated, shall estimate the total amount allowable to the contractor, as a deduction or exclusion under Chapters 1 and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code and the portion of this estimated amount which is allocable to renegotiable business in accordance with the principles set forth above shall be allowed as a cost of renegotiable business. Where it is clear that a contractor's deductions and exclusions under the Internal Revenue Code result in allowable costs of renegotiable business which are either high or low on a comparative basis, this circumstance shall be considered in connection with the factor of the "reasonableness of costs" of the contractor and the determination of the amount of the profit adjustment to be required of the contractor. [RR 381.4]

SUBPART E—FORMS OF REPORTS

Section 1607.752 (b) (3) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1607.752 Statement to be furnished contractor. * * *

(b) Form of statement and specific instructions as to its preparation (statutory). * * *

(3) Summary of the relevant facts—(i) Financial comparisons. (a) There shall be made part of this statement comparative financial statements of the contractor which may be in the form of exhibits attached to the statement. If exhibits are used, they should be described and referred to in this part of the statement.

(b) The maximum prices fixed under (a) shall be subject to at least the same extension of cash, quantity, and other discounts, the same absorption of transportation charges, and the same rendition of services as the manufacturer extended, absorbed, or rendered or would have extended, absorbed, or rendered on comparable sales to purchasers of the same class during March 1942.

(iii) Notification to purchasers by manufacturers. All manufacturers selling cast-iron or steel warm-air furnaces or repair parts for such furnaces under the authority of this subparagraph (10) shall send the following notice to every purchaser of cast-iron or steel warm-air furnaces or repair parts for such furnaces at the time of the first billing:

[Region II Order G-39 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN NEW JERSEY

Order No. G-39 under §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Solid fuels sold and delivered by dealers. Pennsylvania anthracite delivered by dealers in Hunterdon and Warren Counties and all of Somerset County except the Boroughs of North Plainfield and Watchung, State of New Jersey, Coal Area XI.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Dealers' maximum prices; area covered. If you are a dealer in "Pennsylvania anthracite," this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of "Pennsylvania anthracite" (hereinafter called simply "anthracite") delivered to or at any point in the zones comprising State of New Jersey, Coal Area XI. That area consists of two zones, as follows:

Zone 1. Zone 1 includes all of Somerset County except the boroughs of North Plainfield and Watchung, in the State of New Jersey.

Zone 2. Zone 2 includes all of Hunterdon County and Warren County, in the State of New Jersey.

(2) Schedules of prices, charges and discounts. The applicable prices, authorized charges, and required discounts, from which you shall determine the maximum prices for designated sizes and quantities of anthracite delivered within Zones 1 and 2 are set forth in Schedules I and II.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer in anthracite, you are bound by the prices, charges and discounts, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Zones 1 and 2.

You shall determine the maximum price for "direct-delivery" sales, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone to which delivery is made, whether or not you are located in one of the two zones.

You shall determine your maximum price for a "yard" sale, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone in which the purchaser takes physical possession or custody of the anthracite.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not:

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy anthracite of the sizes and in the quantities set forth in the schedules herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorized herein, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorized by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum prices as follows:

(1) Use the schedule which covers your sale. (Schedule I applies to sales on a "direct-delivery" basis and "yard sales" within Zone 1. You will find Schedule I in paragraph (d). In like manner, Schedule II applies to similar sales in Zone 2. You will find Schedule II in paragraph (e).)

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure set forth in the applicable table of the appleable schedule, for the sizes and quantity you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount which you are required to give, as specified therein. Where a discount is required, you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above, no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in the schedules.

The price for anthracite so commingled shall be calculated on the basis of the applicable per net ton price for each size in the combination, and the invoice shall separately state the price, so determined, for the quantity of each size in the combination.

(g) Ex parte 148; freight rate increase. Since the Ex Parte 148 Freight Rate Increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December 1941. Therefore, you may not increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(h) Addition of increase in suppliers' maximum prices prohibited. You may not increase the specific maximum prices established by this order to reflect, in whole or in part, any subsequent increase to you in your supplier's maximum price for the same fuel. The specific maximum prices already reflect increases to you in your supplier's maximum prices occurring up to the effective date of this order. If increases in your supplier's maximum prices should occur after such date, as the result of any amendment to or revision of a maximum price regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration governing sales and deliveries made by such suppliers, the Regional Administrator will, if he then deems it to be warranted, take appropriate action to amend this order to reflect such increases.

(i) Taxes. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you may collect, in addition to the specific maximum prices established herein, provided you state it separately, the amount of the Federal tax upon the transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 actually paid or incurred by you, or an amount equal to the amount of such tax paid by any of your prior suppliers and separately stated and collected from you by the supplier from whom you purchased. On sales to the United States or any agency thereof, or to the State of New Jersey or any political subdivision thereof, you need not state this tax separately.

(j) Adjustable pricing. You may not make a price adjustable to a maximum price which will be in effect at some time after delivery of the anthracite has been completed; but the price may be adjustable to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery.

(k) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(l) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator may amend, revoke or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(m) Applicability of other regulations. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you are governed by the licensing provisions of Licensing Order 1. Licensing Order 1 provides, in brief, that a license is required of all persons making sales for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for a license. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If your license is suspended, you may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(n) Records. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall preserve, keep, and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, a record of every sale of anthracite hereunder, showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged, and the solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also state separately each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(o) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips and receipts. (1) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall post all your maximum prices (as set forth in the applicable schedule or schedules of this order) in your place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public.

(2) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall, except for a sale of less than one-half ton, give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt showing your name and address, the kind, size, and quantity of the anthracite sold to him, the date of the sale or delivery and the price charged, separately stating the amount, if any, of the required discounts which must be deducted from, and the authorized service charges and the taxes which may be added to the specific maximum prices prescribed herein.

In the case of all other sales, you shall give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt containing the information described in the foregoing paragraph, if requested by such purchaser or if, during December 1941, you customarily gave purchasers such sales slips or receipts.

(p) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Trenton District Office of the Office of Price Administration, or with the Price Panel of the appropriate War Price and Rationing Board.

(r) Definitions and explanations. When used in this Order No. G–39, the term: (1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(5) The sizes of "Pennsylvania anthracite" described as broken, egg, stove, nut, pea, buckwheat, rice, barley and screenings shall refer to the same sizes of the same fuel as were sold and delivered in the State of New Jersey, Coal Area XI with such designation during December 1941. Under no circumstances, however, shall the anthracite contain an ash content in excess of the limits specified by Amendment No. 1 to Solid Fuels Administration for War Regulation No. 9.

(6) "Direct-delivery", except with respect to sales in 100 lb. lots, means delivery to the buyer's bin or storage space by dumping or chuting directly from the seller's truck or vehicle, or, where such delivery to the buyer's bin or storage space is physically impossible, by discharging at the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space and at which the coal can be discharged directly from the seller's truck. "Direct-delivery" in 100 lb. lots shall mean depositing in buyer's bin or other storage space designated by buyer.

(7) "Carry" and "wheel" refer to the movement of coal to buyer's bin or storage space in baskets or other containers, or by wheelbarrow or barrel, from seller's truck or vehicle, or from the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space at which the coal is discharged from the seller's truck in the course of "direct delivery."

(8) "Yard sales" means sales accompanied by physical transfer to the buyer's truck or vehicle at the yard, dock, barge, car, or at a place of business of the seller other than at seller's truck or vehicle.

Effective date. This order shall become effective June 11, 1944.

NOTE: The record-keeping provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Region II Order G–42 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN ORANGE AND ROCKLAND COUNTIES, N. Y.

Order No. G–42 under §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Solid fuels sold and delivered by dealers. Pennsylvania anthracite delivered by dealers in Orange and Rockland Counties. State of New York, Coal Area VIII.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Dealers' maximum prices; area covered. If you are a dealer in "Pennsylvania anthracite", this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of "Pennsylvania anthracite" (hereinafter called simply "anthracite") delivered to or at any point in the zones comprising State of New York, Coal Area VIII. That area consists of three zones, as follows:

Zone 1 Zone 1 includes the City of Newburgh and the Towns of Newburgh, New Windsor, and Cornwall in Orange County.

Zone 2 Zone 2 includes all of Orange County not included in Zone 1.

Zone 3 Zone 3 includes all of Rockland County.

(2) Schedules of prices, charges and discounts. The applicable prices, authorised charges, and required discounts, from which you shall determine the maximum prices for designated sizes and quantities of anthracite delivered within Zones 1, 2, and 3 are set forth in Schedules I, II, and III, respectively.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer in anthracite, you are bound by the prices, charges and discounts, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Zones 1, 2 and 3.

You shall determine the maximum price for "direct-delivery" sales, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone to which delivery is made, whether or not you are located in one of the three zones.

You shall determine your maximum price for a "yard" sale, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone in which the purchaser takes physical possession or custody of the anthracite.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy anthracite of the sizes and in the quantities set forth in the schedules herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorised herein, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorised by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the Schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum prices as follows:

(1) Use the schedule which covers your sale. Schedule I applies to sales on a "direct-delivery" basis and "yard sales" within Zone 1. You will find

Schedule I in paragraph (d). In like manner, Schedules II and III apply to similar sales in Zones 2 and 3, respectively. You will find Schedule II in paragraph (e) and Schedule III in paragraph (f).

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure set forth in the applicable table of the applicable schedule, for the sizes and quantity you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount, if any, which you are required to give, as specified therein. Where a discount is required, you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in the schedules.

WAR FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

HANDLING OF MILK IN CINCINNATI, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF REPORT AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTION

Notice of report and opportunity to file written exceptions with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati, Ohio, marketing area.

Pursuant to § 900.12 (a) of the rules of practice and procedure (§ 900.17; 7 F.R. 3350, 8 F.R. 2815), Office of Distribution of the War Food Administration, notice is hereby given of the filing with the hearing clerk of this report of the Director of Distribution with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the amended order regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati, Ohio, marketing area. Interested parties may file exceptions to the report with the Hearing Clerk, Room 1331, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 8th day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

The proceeding was initiated by the Office of Distribution, War Food Administration, upon receipt of a petition dated April 26, 1944, from the Cincinnati Sales Association and the Cooperative Pure Milk Association, both of Cincinnati, Ohio, for a public hearing on certain amendments they proposed. Following receipt of the petition, and after consideration of the proposals made, notice of hearing was issued on May 4, 1944, and a hearing was convened on May 10, 1944, in Cincinnati, Ohio. The time for filing briefs was set at the close of the hearing to expire at midnight May 24, 1944, and was extended to June 1, 1944.

The major issues to be decided are whether or not (1) the prices of Class I and Class II milk shall be increased, and (2) the Class III milk shall be prevented from exceeding a certain amount.

On these issues it is concluded that the prices of Class I and Class II milk should be adjusted and that no maximum should be placed on the price of Class III milk.

The following amendment is recommended as the detailed means by which these conclusions should be carried out. It applies equally to both the tentatively approved marketing agreement and the order, as amended.

Findings

It is found, upon the evidence introduced at the public hearing held in Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 10, 1944, such findings being in addition to the findings made upon the evidence introduced at prior public hearings on the original order and on the order, as amended (which findings are hereby ratified and affirmed save only as such findings are in conflict with the findings hereinafter set forth), that:

1. The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 and section 8 (e) (50 Stat. 246; 7 U.S.C. 602, 608e), are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and that the minimum prices set forth in this order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest.

2. The order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to handlers defined in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held; and

3. The issuance of this amendment to the order, as amended, and all its terms and conditions, as so amended, tends to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Provisions

1. Delete § 965.6 (a) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk—$3.80: Provided, That beginning with the delivery period second following that during which the Class III price decreases to $2.85 or less, the price for Class I milk shall be $3.55.

2. Delete § 965.6 (a) (2) and substitute therefore the following:

(2) Class II milk—$3.35: Provided, That beginning with the delivery period second following that during which the Class III price decreases to $2.85 or less, the price for Class II milk shall be $3.10: Provided further, That the price for Class II milk shall not be less than the price for Class III milk plus 15 cents.

This report filed at Washington, D. C., this 22d day of June 1944.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL.

I submit herewith a memorandum dated June 5, 1944, from the Director of the Chemicals Bureau and the Director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development of the War Production Board, requesting that certain named manufacturers of penicillin, as well as others who may be added from time to time, be authorized to collaborate in the exchange of technical information respecting the production and processing of penicillin derived by fermentation from penicillium notatum and of any raw material or intermediate components of penicillin.

For the purposes of section 12 of Public Law 603, 77th Congress (56 Stat. 357), I approve the proposal described in the memorandum; and after consultation with you, I hereby find and so certify to you that the doing of any act or thing, or the omission to do any act or thing, by any person in compliance with my approval as herein expressed is requisite to the prosecution of the war. Nothing in my approval, however, is to be construed as authorizing the imposition of limitations upon the use of information exchanged by the manufacturers.

DONALD M. NELSON,
Chairman.

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

[T. D. 5380]

EXCESS DEDUCTIONS OF ESTATES AND TRUSTS

Regulations 111 amended to conform to section 133 of the Revenue Act of 1943.

In order to conform Regulations 111 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 29) relating to the income tax under the Internal Revenue Code, to section 133 of the Revenue Act of 1943 (Pub. Law 235, 78th Cong.), enacted February 25, 1944, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. The following is inserted immediately preceding § 29.162-1:

SEC. 133. RELIEF IN THE CASE OF EXCESS DEDUCTIONS OF ESTATES AND TRUSTS. (Revenue Act of 1943.)

(a) In general. Section 162 (d), relating to deductions in computing the net income of estates and trusts, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

(4) Excess deductions. If for any taxable year of an estate or trust the deductions allowed under subsection (b) or (c) solely by reason of paragraph (2) or (3) (A) in respect of any income which becomes payable to a legatee, heir, or beneficiary exceed the net income of the estate or trust for such year, computed without such deductions, the amount of such excess shall not be included in computing the net income of such legatee, heir, or beneficiary under subsection (b) or (c). In cases where the income deductible solely by reason of paragraph (2) or (3) (A) becomes payable to two or more legatees, heirs, or beneficiaries, the benefit of such exclusion shall be divided among such legatees, heirs, and beneficiaries, in the proportions in which they share in such income. In any case where the estate or trust is entitled to a deduction by reason of paragraph (1), in the determination of the net income of the estate or trust for the purposes of this paragraph the amount of such deduction shall be determined with the application of paragraph (3) (A).

(b) Effective date. The amendment made by subsection (a) shall be effective as if it were a part of section 111 of the Revenue Act of 1942 on the date of its enactment.

PAR. 2. Section 29.162-1 is amended by changing the second and third sentences of the ninth paragraph beginning with the words "The tax upon" to read as follows:

If the tax has been properly paid on the net income of an estate or trust for a taxable year, the net income on which the tax is so paid is not, generally, in the hands of the distributee thereof (the legatee, heir, or beneficiary) taxable as income to him, but if such income becomes payable in a subsequent taxable year of the estate or trust it may be required to be included in the income of the distributee under section 162 (d) (2) or (3). See § 29.162-2 (b), (c) and (d).

PAR. 3. Section 29.162-2 is amended as follows:

(A) The last sentence of paragraph (a) is amended by changing the parenthetical clause therein to read as follows: "(see paragraphs (b) and (d) of this section)."

(B) The sixth sentence in example (1) of paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

Assuming the beneficiary makes his income tax returns on the calendar year basis, he will include this amount deducted by the trust in 1942 in his income for 1942, unless he is permitted to exclude part or all of the income earned by the trust in the last six months of 1941 under the provisions of section 162 (d) (4).

(C) Example (3) of paragraph (b) is deleted.

(D) The last example contained in paragraph (b) is deleted and the following inserted in lieu thereof.

Example. Under the terms of an existing trust with respect to which the local law allows accumulations, the trustee has discretion to either accumulate or distribute the income to the beneficiary. The income tax returns of the trust and the beneficiary are made on the calendar year basis. On April 1, 1943 the trustee distributes to the beneficiary all the income accumulated from January 1, 1940 through March 31, 1943. Pursuant to section 162 (d) (2), the amount of the income of the trust for the period April 1, 1942, through March 31, 1943, that is, for the last 12 months of the period of accumulation, is deductible under section 162 (c) in the return of the trust for the calendar year 1943, and is includible in the beneficiary's income tax return for that year, subject to the limitation provided in section 162 (d) (4). The distribution of the accumulated income will include the income of the trust for the last nine months of 1942 upon which the trust may have paid a tax for the year 1943, but such income is, if under the terms of the trust instrument and the local law the Federal income tax is a charge against such income, reduced by the amount of Federal income tax attributable to such income and paid by the trustees. If the deduction taken by the trust for the distribution to the beneficiary on April 1, 1943 exceeds the net income of the trust for the calendar year 1943, see section 162 (d) (4) and § 29.162-2 (d).

(E) There is inserted immediately following § 29.162-2 (c) the following paragraph:

(d) Treatment of excess deductions of estates and trusts. Section 162 (d) (4) is designed to avoid a form of double taxation which can arise through operation of section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A). It becomes applicable only in cases where the deductions allowed to an estate or trust for a taxable year under section 162 (b) or (c) solely upon application of section 162 (d) (2) or (3) (A) exceed the net income of the estate or trust for such year, computed without the deductions allowed by reason of section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A). The provisions of section 162 (d) (4) do not prevent the taxation of income distributed to legatees, heirs, or beneficiaries merely because the income may have been previously taxed to the estate or trust. See the example in the third subparagraph of this paragraph.

It is in the case of an estate which terminates its administration on a date more than 65 days after the beginning of its final taxable year that section 162 (d) (4) will be applicable most frequently to eliminate the double taxation that can arise by reason of section 162 (d) (2). For example, the income of an estate during its several years of administration, amounting to $100 each month, was accumulated until the estate was closed on May 31, 1942, on which date the accumulated income was payable under the terms of the will or local law to B, the residuary legatee, together with or as a part of the residue of the estate. The return of the estate for the calendar year 1942 will include income of $500 from which there will be deducted under section 162 (c) pursuant to section 162 (d) (2) the sum of $1,200 (assuming that under the local law any income taxes paid by the estate with respect to the 1941 income are not chargeable to income). Since the estate is entitled to a deduction of $500 under section 162 (c), without the application of section 162 (d (2), that is, for income received and distributed in the year 1942, only $700 of the $1,200 deduction is taken by the estate solely by reason of section 162 (d) (2). Thus, the deduction allowed the estate solely by reason of section 162 (d) (2) exceeds the net income of the estate for 1942 computed without such deduction by the amount of $700, which amount would be excluded from B's income for the year 1942. B's return for the calendar year 1942 would include only the income of $500 received by the estate in 1942.

If a trustee is required, or permitted, under the terms of the trust to distribute in one year the income of a prior period, excess deductions of the type covered by section 162 (d) (4) also may arise by reason of section 162 (d) (2) in such a case. For example, the income of a trust for the calendar year 1942 amounted to $10,000 and was properly accumulated by the trustee until July 1, 1943, when only the income for the year 1942 was paid to the beneficiary, and no other distribution was made during the year 1943 or within the first 65 days of 1944. The net income of the trust for the year 1942, computed without the deduction allowed through the operation of section 162 (d) (2), amounted to only $8,000. The deduction of $10,000, being allowed solely by reason of section 162 (d) (2), exceeded the net income of the trust for 1943, computed without such deduction, by $2,000. Thus, section 162 (d) (4) operates so as to exclude from the beneficiary's return the amount of such excess deduction. The beneficiary, in his return for the calendar year 1943, would include $8,000 of the July 1, 1943 distribution, even though the trust may have paid taxes on such income for the year 1942.

Excess deductions of an estate or trust solely by reason of section 162 (d) (3) (A) will not arise frequently, for the distribution of income within the first 65 days of a taxable year of an estate or trust will generally consist of income received by the estate or trust in the immediately preceding taxable year of the estate or trust. Thus, if on February 1, 1943 an estate or trust distributes the 1942 income to B, the deduction for such distribution is taken in the return of the estate or trust for the calendar year 1942, and in most cases the deduction allowed will be equal to the net income (before such deduction) for the year 1942. However, if the estate or trust income (as determined by the will, trust instrument, or local law) for the year 1942 payable to B on February 1, 1943 exceeded the net income of the estate or trust for 1942 before the application of section 162 (d) (3) (A), then section 162 (d) (4) would operate to exclude from B's income the amount of the excess deduction to the estate or trust. Excess deduction also can arise upon application of section 162 (d) (3) (A) in a case where a fiduciary of an estate or trust distributes within the first 65 days of its taxable year the income of a period not covering its immediately preceding taxable year. Thus if a trustee who accumulated the income for the calendar years 1941 and 1942 distributes to B on March 1, 1943 the income of the year 1941 only, the trust in its return for the year 1942 will deduct the amount of income of the year 1941 distributed on March 1, 1943. If such deduction allowed to the trust exceeds the net income of the trust for the year 1942, computed without such deduction, B will exclude the amount of such excess from his return for the calendar year 1943.

The deductions allowed to an estate or trust solely by reason of section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A) are compared under the provisions of section 162 (d) (4) with the net income of the estate or trust computed without such deductions, except that in a case where the estate or trust in computing its net income for a taxable year is entitled to a deduction under section 162 (d) (1) (relating to amounts paid to annuitants), the amount of the deduction under section 162 (d) (1) shall be computed with the application of section 162 (d) (3) (A). Such application of section 162 (d) (3) (A) in computing the net income of an estate or trust for the purpose of section 162 (d) (4) in a case where section 162 (d) (1) is applicable is shown in the following example which also illustrates the manner in which excess deductions are treated when two or more beneficiaries are involved.

Example. Under an existing trust the trustee in his discretion may either accumulate or distribute the income to the beneficiaries, A and B, who share equally in the income of the trust. The returns of the trust and of the beneficiaries are made upon the calendar year basis. Under the terms of the trust, the trustee is required to pay an annuity of $4,000 to C on April 1 of each year. During the year 1942 the trust had gross income of $9,000 and expenses of $1,000 which were deductible in computing the net income under the Internal Revenue Code and were chargeable against income under the terms of the trust instrument.

The following distributions were made by the trustee during 1942 and the first 65 days of 1943:

$6,000 was paid to A on April 1, 1942; $5,000 as his share of the trust income during the last nine months of 1941 and $1,000 as his share of the trust income during the first three months of 1942.

$2,000 was paid to A on November 1, 1942, out of income received by the trust after March 31, 1942.

$3,000 was paid to B on January 5, 1943 out of his share of trust income for 1942.
$4,000 was paid to C, the annuitant, on April 1, 1942.

Of the $15,000 distributed, the trust is allowed deductions of only $13,000 by reason of such distributions, since only $3,000 of the $4,000 paid to C is deductible by the trust inasmuch as the distributable income as defined in section 162 (d) (1) is only $2,000, that is, $8,000 less: $1,000 of the April 1, 1942 distribution to A, the $2,000 distribution to A on November 1, 1942 and the $3,000 distribution to B on January 5, 1943.

The amount of the deductions of the trust which is to be excluded under section 162 (d) (4) in computing the net incomes of A and B is $5,000 computed as follows:

(a) Without the application of section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A), the following deductions would not have been taken by the trust:

$5,000 paid to A on April 1, 1942 out of 1941 income, and deductible under section 162 (d) (2)--------	$5,000
Amount paid to B on Jan. 5, 1943, deductible for 1942 under section 162 (d) (3) (A)--------	3,000
Total----------	8,000

(b) The net income, for the purpose of section 162 (d) (4), is computed without applying section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A), except that in computing the deduction allowed under section 162 (d) (1) it is necessary to apply section 162 (d) (3) (A) in determining the amount of the deduction allowable to the trust under section 162 (d) (1). The net income so computed is $3,000, determined as follows:

(1) Net income before any deductions under section 162----------	$8,000
(2) Less deductions allowable other than under section 162 (d) (2) and (3) (A):
Paid to A on April 1, 1942 out of 1942 income----------	$1,000
Paid to A on November 1, 1942 out of 1942 income----------	2,000
Portion of the $4,000 paid to C, the annuitant (the distributable income under section 162 (d) (1) being only $2,000 in view of the $3,000 paid to B within the first 65 days of 1943)----------	2,000
	5,000
(3) Net income for the purpose of section 162 (d) (4)----------	3,000

5,000/8,000 of $5,000 is excluded from A's income.

3,000/8,000 of $5,000 is excluded from B's income.

Section 162 (d) (4) has no application to a case where, without applying section 162 (d) (2) or (3) (A), the deductions of the estate or trust under section 162 (b) or (c) by reason of distributions of income exceed the net income of the estate or trust for the taxable year computed under the Internal Revenue Code without such deductions. For example, section 162 (d) (4) would not be applicable in the case of a trust which receives a deduction of $10,000 by reason of its distribution to the beneficiary during the taxable year of the entire trust income (determined under the trust and local law) received during the taxable year, even though the net income of the trust under the Code before such deduction amounted to less than $10,000.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

PART 618—REGISTRATION OUTSIDE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES, ALASKA, HAWAII, AND PUERTO RICO

Pursuant to authority contained in the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, Selective Service Regulations, Second Edition, are hereby amended in the following respect:

1. Amend paragraph (a) of § 618.4 to read as follows:

This direction applies only to materials and products (other than controlled materials and Class A products) which you got with priorities assistance and which you have in your inventory, but which you cannot use for the purpose for which you got them.

You may already have the right to use the material under the provisions of paragraph (u) of CMP Regulation 1. If that paragraph does not let you use the material the way you want to, you may ask for permission in the way explained in paragraph (b) of this direction.

Direction 4 to Priorities Regulation 1 tells you how to get permission in the same way to use other materials and products where § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1 limits your right to use the materials or products.

(b) Method of applying for authorization. If you need permission to use controlled materials or Class A products as explained in paragraph (a), you should apply by letter, in duplicate, to the nearest field office of the War Production Board. The letter that you write should describe the material you want to use, what you want to use it for, how you got it, and any other relevant circumstances.

(c) When an authorization will be issued. The War Production Board may give you the permission you ask for, but will do so only under the following conditions:

(1) The War Production Board will give you this permission only under the same circumstances and under the same conditions that it would allow you to buy the materials from somebody else under Priorities Regulation 13.

(2) In processing applications to use excess materials, the War Production Board will be guided by the policy that production in any one plant, or labor requirements for that production, shall not interfere with war production in that plant or in any other plant located in the same area.

(d) No authorization that you get under this direction shall constitute an exception to the provisions of any E, L, or M Order or any direction issued under any such order.

PART 3285—LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS [1]

SOFTWOOD PLYWOOD

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of softwood plywood for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3285.3 [1] Limitation Order L–150–a—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Producer" shall mean any manufacturer of softwood plywood, but shall not include any distribution warehouse of any manufacturer.

(2) "Softwood plywood" shall mean a built-up board of laminated veneers of any species of softwood united with a bonding agent.

(3) "Distributor" shall mean any wholesaler, jobber, retailer or other person who in the regular course of his business sells softwood plywood.

(b) General restrictions. No distributor shall sell, ship or deliver or cause to be sold, shipped or delivered, any softwood plywood except upon orders rated AA–2X or higher, except that this restriction shall not apply

(1) To sales, shipments or deliveries by producers to distributors;

(2) To sales, shipments, or deliveries of the following items of softwood plywood, the surface of which does not measure more than eight square feet: strips, odd sizes, and scrap resulting from the processing for use of standard panels.

(3) To sales, shipments, or deliveries on orders rating AA–3 which bear the following certification (instead of the certification prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7):

All softwood plywood delivered on this order will be used as authorised on Form GA–1456 and delivery is permitted under paragraph (b) (3) of Order L–150–a, and use of the preference rating shown on this delivery order is authorised.

No person shall use this certification unless (i) he has received an authorization on Form GA–1456 permitting him to do construction work; and (ii) the purpose for which the softwood plywood is to be used is not prohibited by the terms of the authorization.

(4) To sales, shipments, or deliveries on orders rated AA–3 which bear the following certification (instead of the certification prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7):

All softwood plywood delivered on this order will be used for concrete form work in a construction project rated on Form CMPL–593 and delivery is permitted under paragraph (b) (4) of Order L–150–a and use of the preference rating shown on this delivery order is authorized.

No person shall use this certification unless (i) an authorization on Form CMPL–593 has been issued to him giving priorities assistance for construction under Direction 3 to CMP Regulation 6; and (ii) the softwood plywood is to be used for concrete form work to be carried out under the authorization.

(c) Appeals. Any appeal from this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provisions appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(d) Communications. Communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to War Production Board, Lumber and Lumber Products Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref.: L–150–a.

(e) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, the War Production Board may prohibit such person from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, may withhold from such person priorities assistance, and may take such other action as it deems appropriate.

(f) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-42, Direction 3]

CAST IRON BATHTUBS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Limitation Order L-42:

(a) What this direction does. The War Production Board having determined upon a program of production of metal bathtubs for the remainder of the year 1944, has authorized the production of 50,000 bathtubs for the third quarter. This direction tells by whom and for what purposes bathtubs may be made without utilizing labor in critical labor areas in order to produce the required 50,000 metal bathtubs.

(b) Production of bathtubs. Prior to October 1, 1944, in addition to the bathtubs authorized by previous Directions to Limitation Order L-42, the following manufacturers may produce at their plants at the addresses indicated, recess type cast iron bathtubs, no longer than those commercially known as five foot, and in quantities not exceeding the number indicated opposite their names:

American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corporation, Louisville, Kentucky	10,000
Crane Company, Chattanooga, Tennessee	10,000
Eljer Company, Salem, Ohio	10,000
Kohler Company, Kohler, Wisconsin	10,000
Richmond Radiator Company, Uniontown, Pennsylvania	10,000

(c) Sale of bathtubs. These bathtubs may be delivered only to fill orders (1) of or for ultimate delivery to the Army or Navy, (2) for export authorized by the Foreign Economic Administration, or (3) for approved installation in projects rated in the P-19 series authorized on Form GA-1456, in the P-55 series authorized on Form WPB-2896, or in the U-1 series authorized on Form WPB-2774. No jobber, or dealer, may accept delivery of any such bathtubs to place in his inventory, whether or not he has previously delivered bathtubs to fill such orders. No jobber or dealer may order, or accept delivery of any such bathtubs unless he has in his possession an actual order calling for the delivery of bathtubs to an authorized project or building with a specified completion date, to or for the account of the Army, or Navy, or for installation in a project rated by orders in the P-19, P-55, or U-1 series. Shipments for export may be made only if a license has actually been issued by the Foreign Economic Administration. A manufacturer may not accept a rating alone as evidence of his authority to deliver to a dealer, but must obtain, in addition to the standard certification accompanying the extension of the rating, applicable information of the following nature:

(1) For delivery to the Army or Navy: the contract purchase order, or rating certificate number.

(2) For delivery to an authorized project of the P-19, P-55, or U-1 series: the number and location of the project.

(3) For export authorized by the Foreign Economic Administration: the export license number.

(d) Crating. No manufacturer may use better than No. 3 quality grades of lumber in crating these bathtubs.

(e) Reports. Each manufacturer named in paragraph (b) shall report by letter on or before the 10th day of each month to the Plumbing and Heating Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., by size, the number of bathtubs produced and the number shipped under this direction during the preceding month. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(f) Effect of other orders. The restrictions of Schedule XII to Order L-42 are superseded to the extent necessary to give effect to this direction.

PART 3289—RADIO AND RADAR

[General Limitation Order L-151, as Amended June 24, 1944]

DOMESTIC WATTHOUR METERS

§ 3289.11 General Limitation Order L-151—(a) Definition. Wherever it appears in this order, the term "domestic watthour meter" is used to mean any device designed and manufactured for the purpose of measuring the consumption of electrical energy with respect to time, and includes single phase, two and three wire types, with capacities up to 25 amperes and voltages up to 240 volts, for use on alternating current of any frequency. The term does not include electric energy meters for use on direct current or on polyphase circuits, maximum demand meters, or integrating meters, calibrated in terms other than electric energy (i. e., meters integrating weight, pressure, etc.).

(b) Restrictions on production. (1) No person shall manufacture or assemble any new domestic watthour meters or any new parts for the conversion of domestic watthour meters from one to another type, except as authorized by the War Production Board on Form GA-1850.

(2) The above provision in paragraph (b) (1) does not prohibit the use or delivery of existing parts for the conversion of domestic watthour meters from one to another type, such as the conversion of non-socket to socket type meters, three-wire to two-wire or two-wire to three-wire meters, or meters from one current rating to a higher current rating.

(3) A person wishing to manufacture domestic watthour meters or conversion parts, should apply for authorization by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Radio and Radar Division, Washington, 25, D. C., Reference L-151. This letter should give all pertinent information with respect to proposed production. Where the applicant will need controlled materials in order to produce the equipment, the letter requesting authorization should be accompanied by application on Form CMP-4B, for the controlled materials.

(4) Production will be authorized for the several manufacturers as nearly as practicable according to ratios comparable to the pre-war ratios of the several companies. Production will be so authorized that the total production will not exceed the approved War Production Board program, and the production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, will not interfere with war production in that plant, or in any other plant located in the same area. Individual authorizations will be issued in amounts sufficient to carry out the presently approved program of 260,000 domestic watthour meters for the last six months of 1944, and any other program which may be approved later by the War Production Board.

(c) Restrictions on delivery. No person shall deliver or accept delivery of any new domestic watthour meter unless it is a delivery:

(1) To or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration.

(2) Between persons who own or operate electric power utilities which serve the public generally.

(3) Authorized by the War Production Board on Form WPB-1319. Any prospective purchaser may apply for such an authorization by filing Form WPB-1319 in accordance with the current instructions for filing such forms. These form applications should be filed with the nearest Utility Inventory Control Office of the War Production Board, addressed to the attention of the Regional Utility Engineer. The locations of these Regional Utility Inventory Control Offices are given on List A at the end of this order. As a general rule, favorable consideration will be given to the purchase of new domestic watthour meters only where one or more of the following factors appear to establish the need for them:

(i) The meters are to measure the consumption of electric energy by individual homes in a war housing project, which cannot be metered with a master meter, and delay in obtaining individual used meters would delay the occupancy of such dwellings.

(ii) The meters are required for the replacement in service of damaged meters, and the applicant cannot obtain prompt delivery of used meters for that purpose, and does not have such meters available in his own inventory for replacements.

(iii) Special or emergency conditions require the prompt delivery of new meters.

Unless one of the above conditions exists, a prospective purchaser should obtain his requirements of domestic watthour meters from such sources of supply as the excess inventories of electric utilities, used meter dealers, and meter repair shops. Information as to excess stocks of such meters in the hands of utilities may be obtained from Regional Utility Inventory Control Offices (See List A at the end of this order).

(d) Parts for maintenance or repair. The provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this order on production and delivery do not apply to the production or delivery of parts for the maintenance or repair of domestic watthour meters. No person, however, shall manufacture so many of such parts that his inventory thereof will at any time exceed his average monthly inventory of such parts during the calendar year 1941.

(e) Monthly reports. On or before the tenth day of each calendar month each manufacturer of domestic watthour meters shall file with the War Production Board a report, in duplicate, in letter form, which shall show the following information as of the first of the month:

(1) Inventory of domestic watthour meters.

(2) Deliveries of domestic watthour meters during the preceding calendar month.

(3) Unfilled orders on hand for domestic watthour meters.

(f) Applicability of War Production Board regulations and orders. This order and all things done under it are subject to the provisions of all applicable regulations and orders of the War Production Board.

(g) Violations and penalties. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who conceals any material information or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime. If convicted, he may be punished by fine or imprisonment; or any such person may be deprived of any or all priorities assistance. For example, he may be prohibited from getting, delivering, processing, or using anything which is subject to priority control by the War Production Board.

(h) Appeals from this order. Any person may appeal for relief from any provision of this order by writing a letter which explains fully what provisions he is appealing from and why he thinks he should be relieved from those provisions. He should send this letter, with two signed copies, to the War Production Board.

(i) Letters and reports. Letters about this order, or reports filed under it, should be addressed to the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L-151; and the reports required by paragraph (e) of the order should be addressed to the attention of the Office of War Utilities. All other letters or reports, however, should be addressed to the attention of the Radio and Radar Division. All reports and forms required by this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

G. T. E. COMPANY

George T. Estfan, doing business as G. T. E. Company, 317 North Main Street, Wichita, Kansas, is engaged in selling refrigeration equipment. Between May 15, 1942 and March 30, 1943, he sold, on unrated orders, five units of new refrigeration equipment of a type that could be sold only on preferred orders bearing preference ratings of A-9, or higher. On or about April 20, 1943, he sold, on an unauthorized order, one unit that could be sold only on an authorized order. All of these sales constituted violations of Limitation Order L-38. Mr. Estfan was familiar with the order and the violations were wilful. As a result of the violations, critical materials were diverted to uses not authorized by the War Production Board, and the war effort of the United States has been hampered and impeded. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, that:

§ 1010.563 Suspension Order No. S-563. (a) Deliveries of materials to George T. Estfan, individually or doing business as G. T. E. Company or under any other name, his successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order and no preference rating shall be assigned, applied or extended to such deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, preference rating orders, general preference orders, or any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve George T. Estfan, individually or doing business as G. T. E. Company or under any other name, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on June 24, 1944, and shall expire on September 25, 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1041—PRODUCTION, TRANSPORTATION, REFINING AND MARKETING OF PETROLEUM

[Preference Rating Order P–98–b, as Amended June 26, 1944]

Section 1041.2 (Preference Rating Order P–98–b, as amended March 18, 1944) is hereby amended to read as follows:

Definitions and Scope

§ 1041.2 Preference Rating Order P–98–b—(a) Definitions. (1) "Operator" means any person to the extent that he is engaged in the petroleum industry in the United States, its territories (except Hawaii) or possessions.

(2) "Petroleum" means crude oil, petroleum products and associated hydrocarbons, including but not limited to natural gas.

(3) "Petroleum industry" includes any of the following activities and any operation directly incident to these activities:

(i) The discovery, development or depletion of petroleum pools (production);

(ii) The extraction or recovery of natural gasoline and associated hydrocarbons (natural gasoline recovery);

(iii) The transportation, movement, loading or unloading of petroleum other than natural gas (transportation);

(iv) The processing, reprocessing or alteration of petroleum, including but not limited to compounding or blending (refining);

(v) The distribution or dispensing of petroleum products (other than natural gas) and the storing of petroleum products incident thereto (marketing); and includes for each of the above listed branches of the industry, to the extent applicable, the control of, or the investigation into more effective methods of conducting petroleum industry operations by means of research, technical or control laboratories.

(4) "Maintenance and repair" means (without regard to accounting practice):

(i) The upkeep of any structure, equipment, or material in a sound working condition or the restoration or fixing of any structure, equipment, or material which has broken down or is worn out, damaged or destroyed;

(ii) Any other use of material not exceeding in material cost $500 for any one complete operation which has not been subdivided for the purpose of coming within this definition.

Maintenance and repair shall not include (a) the drilling, redrilling, deepening, plugging back, or multiple completion of any well or the initial installation on any well of pumping or other artificial lifting equipment, or (b) the extension or the initial construction or installation of a field gas gathering line, or (c) any use of material in connection with a service station or retail outlet other than for upkeep or restoration purposes, or (d) the installation or replacement in marketing of any "equipment" defined as such in Petroleum Administrative Order 12.

(5) "Operating supplies" means material, other than material used for maintenance and repair, which is consumed in petroleum operations and which is normally carried by an operator as operating supplies or which is normally chargeable to operating expense.

(6) "Laboratory equipment" means instruments and equipment for use in a petroleum research, technical or control laboratory. This does not include material for use in the construction of a laboratory, pilot plant or other structure.

(b) Purpose of order. This order will be used to secure priorities assistance for all material required to conduct petroleum operations. In addition, an MRO rating assigned by this order may be used to secure the services of repairmen and the like to the extent consistent with Priorities Regulation 3. However, under this order priorities assistance may not be used to obtain any of the following material:

(1) Material listed on Schedule A of this order.

(2) Material or equipment to be used by a consumer account for or in the storage or dispensing of petroleum, including liquefied petroleum gas. (See Order P–98–e.)

(3) Tank trucks and trailers, railroad rolling stock or marine equipment, other than parts necessary for containing and moving petroleum by tank truck or trailer; parts for railroad rolling stock not under the jurisdiction of the I. C. C.; and parts for marine equipment where other ways of getting priorities assistance are not available.

How To Obtain Material

(c) Assignment of ratings and symbols. (1) An operator may use the appropriate preference ratings and allotment symbols in the table below to secure the material specified (for exceptions see paragraph (d)):

Preference rating and allotment symbol	Material which may be secured with the indicated rating and symbol
AA-1; MRO-P-3	Material for maintenance and repair, operating supplies or laboratory equipment (all known as MRO material) and other materials not exceeding in material cost $500 for use in each single operation. This provision applies to any use of material in the petroleum industry, other than in a service station or retail outlet.
AA-2X; P-1	Material (other than MRO material) for use in production, except in connection with a "special production operation," as defined in paragraph (e).
AA-2X; F-5	Material (other than MRO material) for use in connection with a crude oil gathering line, but only in those cases where the operation may be undertaken without specific authorization under Petroleum Administrative Order 15.
AA-3; F-5	Material (other than MRO material) for use in a special production operation or in natural gasoline recovery, transportation or refining, but only in those cases where the operation may be undertaken without specific authorization under Petroleum Administrative Order 11 or Petroleum Administrative Order 15.
AA-5; MRO-P-3	MRO material for use in connection with a service station or retail outlet. (See Direction 2 to P–98–b for another rating available.)

(2) Information on delivery orders. The following information must be shown by an operator on each delivery order for controlled material using the priorities assistance of this paragraph (c):

Allotment symbol.
PAW District in which the material will be used.
Use to which the material will be put.
Weight of the material by item.
Month in which delivery of the material is promised.
Certification of paragraph (g) of this order.

(3) Filing of delivery orders with PAW. Where required by the provisions of this paragraph, delivery orders must be submitted to the PAW District Office for the District in which the material will be used, or, if so desired by an operator in any branch of the industry other than production, for the District in which the purchasing office of the operator is located. They should be marked "Ref: Materials Division."

Delivery orders for controlled materials using the priorities assistance of this paragraph (c) must be submitted to the Petroleum Administration for War as follows:

(i) Delivery orders with a total cost of more than $100 but not more than $2,500 and with no item of more than $500—one copy for accounting purposes.

(ii) Delivery orders with a total cost of more than $2 500 or with any item of more than $500—the original and two copies for approval, and the operator may not place that order with a supplier until the approved original and one copy have been returned to him.

It is no longer necessary for operators to submit delivery orders for materials other than controlled materials to the Petroleum Administration for War.

In preparing or placing a delivery order an operator shall not alter the customary designation of any item or items for the purpose of making it appear that an item costs $500 or less or that the total cost of all items on the delivery order is $100 or less or $2,500 or less, as the case may be.

(d) Exceptions to use of assigned ratings and symbols. (1) The preference ratings and allotment symbols assigned in paragraph (c) may not be used to secure material covered by Schedule B or C of this order. Instead the procedures described in this paragraph will be used.

(2) Material on Schedule B—special MRO symbol and rating. An operator must in each case request a rating and symbol for material on Schedule B. The request will be made by submitting the original and two copies of the delivery order, regardless of cost, for approval to the PAW District Office for the District in which the material will be used (or, if so desired by an operator in any branch of the industry other than production, for the District in which the purchasing office of the operator is located), Ref: Materials Division. The operator should show on each delivery order the certification of paragraph (g), and include on the order (or in an accompanying statement) information on the specific use to which the material will be put and why the particular item is required. The operator may not place the order with a supplier until the approved original and one copy have been returned to him.

(3) Material on Schedule C. To secure material covered by Schedule C, an operator must apply on the appropriate form in that schedule.

(e) Application for ratings and symbol for operations not covered by paragraph (c)—(1) Apply on PAW Form 30. It is necessary to apply on PAW Form 30 for priorities assistance for material to be used in a special production operation or in natural gasoline recovery, transportation, refining or marketing where a specific authorization to use material is required by Petroleum Administrative Order 11, Petroleum Administrative Order 12 or Petroleum Administrative Order 15. This, of course, means that it is not necessary to apply on PAW Form 30 for priorities assistance for material to be used in an operation covered by paragraph (c) of this order.

"Special production operations" are:

Gas cycling operations for condensate recovery.
Gas desulphurization operations.
Gas dehydration operations.
Pressure maintenance operations.
A gas lift compression plant or a field gas booster plant where the material to be installed or added increases the rated capacity of the plant by more than 500 h.p.

Form WPB–541 should be used instead of PAW Form 30 in marketing to request a preference rating for machinery or equipment, if the machinery or equipment will be installed with the use of no more than $500 worth of material obtained with the MRO rating of this order and if the machinery or equipment will be installed as part of a complete operation having a total material cost of no more than $5,000.

Form WPB–541, or such other form as may be specified by any WPB order, should be used instead of this form to request a preference rating for material (such as construction machinery or equipment) which will not be incorporated into the proposed plant or facility.

Form WPB–541 applications should be filed with the nearest War Production Board Field Office.

(2) Special requirements for certain material and equipment. Schedule D of this order lists, as part of the "Construction Standards," certain material and equipment which in general may be acquired or used in an operation covered by a PAW Form 30 application only in accordance with certain limitations, or which may not be acquired or used without specific permission. If it is necessary to use such material or equipment in a manner other than as permitted by Part 2 of the schedule or to use the products listed in Part 3 of the schedule, the operator must specifically identify such use in accordance with the instructions to PAW Form 30. If an operator is authorized on Form GA–1456 Petroleum to get and use any equipment listed in Part 3 of Schedule D, he may do so without further special authorization, notwithstanding the provisions of any other order of the War Production Board which requires authorization on a special form or letter.

(3) How to use allotment symbol and preference rating—(i) Placing on delivery orders. Each delivery order for controlled material must bear the allotment symbol assigned. Each delivery order for material other than controlled material must bear the preference rating assigned, and the applicable allotment symbol. Each delivery order must also bear the standard certification of paragraph (g), and in addition the following certification, if for equipment listed in Part 3 of Schedule D and authorized by a Form GA–1456 Petroleum:

Delivery approved on Form GA–1456 under Order P–98–b (approval equivalent to that under Direction 1 to CMP Regulation 6).

(ii) Use of any allotment symbol. Any allotment symbol assigned on a Form GA–1456 Petroleum may be used by the following persons in addition to the operator to order controlled materials and Class A products:

(a) By manufacturers of Class A products or Class A components of Class A products to be incorporated in the operation.

(b) By contractors and sub-contractors doing all or any part of the construction work.

Such allotment symbol may be used only where the manufacturer, contractor, or sub-contractor, as the case may be, has received a statement in substantially the following form endorsed on the order or contract by the person placing it:

Serial Number _____ (identifying project). You are authorized to use allotment symbol _____ to order controlled materials and Class A products needed to fill this order or contract.

It is not necessary to show the quantities of controlled materials in this statement. Its use shall constitute a representation by the person signing it to the person with whom the order or contract is placed, and to the War Production Board, subject to the penalties of section 35A of the United States Criminal Code, that he has the right to authorize the person with whom the order or contract is placed to use the allotment symbol to fill the order or contract. The standard certification in paragraph (g) of this order may not be used instead of the above statement (but both will be used to order a Class A product.)

(iii) Purchase order filing not required. Any rating or allotment symbol assigned pursuant to an application on PAW Form 30, Form WPB–541 or other appropriate form may be used without submitting purchase orders to the Petroleum Administration for War, unless the operator receives special instructions to the contrary.

General Provisions

(f) How to obtain authority to use material. An operator may use material for maintenance or repair or as operating supplies, or in any other operation only in accordance with the provisions of the applicable Petroleum Administrative Orders, which are listed in this paragraph. Unless a desired use of material is permitted by the terms of the appropriate order, the operator must secure an authorization under or an exception to that order, as the case may be.

(1) Use of material in production (including "special production operations") or in natural gasoline recovery is governed by Petroleum Administrative Order 11, as amended and supplemented from time to time.

(2) Use of material in transportation or refining is governed by Petroleum Administrative Order 15, as amended and supplemented from time to time.

(3) Use of material (other than liquefied petroleum gas equipment covered by Order L–86) in marketing is governed by Petroleum Administrative Order 12, as amended and supplemented from time to time.

(g) Certification for delivery orders. The certification required to be placed on delivery orders is as follows:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to the penalties of section 35A of the United States Criminal Code, to the seller and to the War Production Board, that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the undersigned is authorized under applicable War Production Board regulations or orders to place this delivery order, to receive the item(s) ordered for the purpose for which ordered, and to use any preference rating or allotment number or symbol which the undersigned has placed on this order.

This certification may be used as provided in Priorities Regulation 7.

(h) Placement of delivery orders for controlled materials. Under many War Production Board orders and regulations, a delivery order for controlled materials which is an authorized controlled material order is given special treatment. Any delivery order for controlled materials placed pursuant to this order and bearing the certification of paragraph (g) of this order is an authorized controlled material order if the delivery order is in sufficient detail to be placed on a mill schedule and if it specifies the month in which delivery is requested or promised.

(i) Restoration of inventories. An operator may use an allotment number or symbol or preference rating authorized under this order to restore his inventory to a practicable working minimum. However, an operator may not secure replacements which would result in surplus material as defined in Order P–98–c as amended.

(j) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order should, unless other directions are given, be addressed to the Petroleum Administration for War, Interior Building, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: P–98–b.

(k) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who wilfully furnishes false information to the Petroleum Administration for War or the War Production Board in connection with this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance by the War Production Board.

(l) Applicability of other orders and regulations. (1) This order and all transactions affected hereby, except as herein otherwise provided, are subject to all orders and regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) None of the provisions of CMP Regulations 2, 5, 5A and 6 (or the limitations incorporated in any CMP Regulation which otherwise would subject an operator to the provisions of CMP Regulation 2, 5, 5A or 6) shall apply to an operator, and no operator shall obtain any material under or be limited by the provisions of such regulations or limitations. The provisions of paragraphs (i), (s), (s–1) and (u) of CMP Regulation 1 shall not apply to an operator who secures material in accordance with the provisions of this order.

(3) Any preference rating, other than a rating for MRO material, assigned pursuant to the provisions of this order is assigned in lieu of a preference rating under an order in the P–19 series or on Form CMPL–224 Petroleum. Any reference in any order of the War Production Board to an order in the P–19 series or to Form CMPL–224 Petroleum shall constitute a reference to a preference rating assigned pursuant to this order.

(4) Privileges granted by other orders and regulations of the War Production Board to persons on Schedule I of CMP Regulation 5 shall be considered as applicable to petroleum operators, other than an operator to the extent that he operates a service station or retail outlet. For example, Order E–5–a on gauges and precision measuring hand tools classifies a person on Schedule I or II of CMP Regulation 5 as an "approved user." With the exception of an operator of a service station or retail outlet, an operator covered by P–98–b is in identically the same position, Provided, That certification clauses in and all other provisions of such other orders are complied with.

(5) The War Housing Construction Standards, contained in Schedule II of Order P–55–c, apply to any housing undertaken with the priorities assistance of this order.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 26th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A

The items listed on this schedule may be delivered to operators without regard to preference ratings. No operator shall apply or extend any rating to get any of these items, and no person selling any such item shall require a rating as a condition of sale.

Items on List A of Priorities Regulation 3.
Rock bits and core bits (rotary bits).
Tool joints.
Low and high temperature fractional distillation equipment for gas and gasoline analysis.

SCHEDULE B

The following materials are covered by this schedule:

(a) Those items currently identified on (and more completely described in) List B of Priorities Regulation 3, as follows, and any equivalent items replacing them on revisions of that List B, when included on a purchase order which bears allotment symbol MRO-P-3:

Civilian defense devices.
Filing cabinets, wooden.
Fire protective equipment.
Furniture for any use, except furniture specifically designed for schools.
Medical, surgical and dental equipment and supplies (except parts for the maintenance or repair of existing equipment).
Medical, surgical and dental instruments.
Slide rules, precision engineering, having a list price of $7.50 or more.
Venetian blinds.

(b) Construction machinery and equipment (on Schedule B of Order L–192) costing in excess of $500, when to be acquired with a rating and symbol assigned in paragraph (c) of this order.

SCHEDULE C

Many of the materials on List B of Priorities Regulation 3 (other than those on Schedule B of this order) may be secured without a preference rating, and every attempt should be made to do so. If a rating is required for any of these materials it should be applied for on Form WPB–541, filed with the nearest WPB Field Office.

There are two general exceptions to this rule. In the first place, a rating for laboratory instruments and equipment and chemicals may be obtained under the procedure of paragraph (c) of this order. And secondly, the forms indicated below will be used for the items there listed.

Item	Preference rating form	Release or scheduling form	Filing instructions
(b) Wooden shipping containers (as defined in L–232, P–140).	WPB-2408		File WPB-2408 with PAW, Washington, Ref: P–98–b. File this form only if the preference ratings of P–140 are not sufficiently high to obtain delivery at the time the material is needed.

SCHEDULE D—CONSTRUCTION STANDARDS

PART 1—GENERAL

A. What these Construction Standards are and what they do. Under these Construction Standards an operator is informed in Part 2 of the principles governing wartime construction and of the specific limitations to be followed in undertaking construction covered by PAW Form 30. In Part 3 certain products are listed which may be requested through the PAW Form 30 procedure and which otherwise would require the filing of supplemental application forms.

In preparing PAW Form 30 applications the Construction Standards should be consulted closely, since they apply to the use of material in operations covered by that form and authorized on Form GA–1456 Petroleum. The Construction Standards have not been included in the Instructions to PAW Form 30 because of the likelihood of their frequent revision, and because additional products may in the future be added to Part 3 of the Standards, thus eliminating the need for supplemental authorization forms for such products. These Construction Standards do not apply to petroleum industry operations which are not covered by PAW Form 30; nor do they apply to the use of used material and equipment except where specifically stated.

Operators should request any exceptions from the limitations contained in Part 2 of this Schedule which they consider essential. Each authorization granted on Form GA–1456 Petroleum will provide that the limitations of Part 2, except as modified by any exception granted in the particular authorization, shall apply to material for use in the proposed operation.

B. Amendments to Construction Standards. These Construction Standards may be amended from time to time by the issuance of an amended Schedule D to P–98–b. After any such amendment, use of material covered by an authorization on Form GA–1456 Petroleum may be made in accordance with that authorization, or in accordance with any revised Standards.

PART 2—LIMITATIONS ON CONSTRUCTION

(Unless required under the provisions of a WPB order or regulation, none of the limitations of Part 2 of this Schedule applies to use of material in the fabrication or assembly of Class A or Class B products by suppliers regularly engaged in the business of fabricating or assembling such products for sale.)

A. Principles governing wartime construction. The principles governing wartime construction are defined in a directive adopted by the WPB and the Army-Navy Munitions Board, May 20, 1940. These principles are interpreted as limiting all construction to a design of the simplest type consistent with structural stability and sufficient only to meet the immediate minimum functional requirements.

The guiding principle should always be to utilize those materials which are most plentiful and which, in the ultimate analysis, will cause the least interference with the production of combat material and the utilization of transportation and power.

B. Structural design. All construction using more than 5 tons of structural steel or more than 5 tons of reinforcing steel (including mesh) or any stress grade lumber shall be designed in accordance with the applicable provisions of the War Production Board Directive No. 8 "National Emergency Specifications for the Design, Fabrication and Erection of Structural Steel for Buildings" as amended, and/or Directive No. 9 "Design of Reinforced Concrete Buildings" as amended, and/or Directive No. 20 "Design, Fabrication and Erection of Stress Grade Lumber and its Fastenings for Buildings" as amended.

HAND SERVICE TOOLS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of hand service tools and of alloy steel used in their manufacture, for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3274.51 General Preference Order E-6—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Mechanic's hand service tool" means any tool listed on Exhibit A attached hereto.

(2) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(3) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of mechanics' hand service tools.

(4) "WPB-547 order" means any order for mechanics' hand service tools now or hereafter placed with a producer by any person acquiring such tools for his own inventory or shelf stock pursuant to a rating assigned on Form WPB-547 (formerly PD-1X).

(5) "Other order" means any purchase order for mechanics' hand service tools except WPB-547 orders.

(6) "Total monthly production" means either.

(i) The total dollar value of each kind of mechanic's hand service tool listed on Exhibit A hereto attached, scheduled to be produced in any given month by a producer, including both special and standard tools of that kind; or

(ii) The total number of units of each kind of mechanic's hand service tool listed on Exhibit A hereto attached, scheduled to be produced in any given month by a producer.

(b) Restriction on use of steel. No producer shall manufacture any mechanics' hand service tools out of any alloy steel except those which are in the series specified in Exhibit B hereto attached or except pursuant to specific permission of the War Production Board.

(c) Allocation of production between WPB-547 orders and other orders. Commencing with the month of July 1943 and each month thereafter, each producer shall schedule his total monthly production and the delivery thereof as follows:

(1) To the extent that he has WPB-547 orders on hand, he shall schedule between 20 and 25 percent of his total monthly production of each kind of mechanic's hand service tool specified in Exhibit A hereto attached for delivery against WPB-547 orders requiring delivery in such month. No producer shall schedule any order pursuant to this paragraph (c) (1) unless it clearly appears from such order that the rating applied thereto was assigned on Form WPB-547 (formerly PD-1X).

The sequence of deliveries on WPB-547 orders within the percentage limitation thereon which may be delivered in any given month shall be scheduled according to applicable War Production Board regulations.

(2) To the extent that he has other orders on hand, he shall schedule between 75 and 80 percent of his total monthly production of each kind of mechanic's hand service tool specified in Exhibit A hereto attached for delivery against other orders requiring delivery in such month.

The sequence of deliveries on other orders within the percentage limitation thereon which may be delivered in any given month shall be scheduled according to applicable War Production Board regulations.

(3) Any portion of the percentage allocated to WPB-547 orders which has not been taken up by such orders on or before the fifteenth day of the month preceding the month being scheduled, shall be scheduled for delivery against other orders, and vice versa.

(d) Necessity for preference ratings and authorizations to place orders. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this order:

(1) No producer shall sell or deliver any mechanics' hand service tools pursuant to any purchase order placed prior to June 12, 1943 unless such order bears a preference rating of A-9 or higher, nor shall any producer sell or deliver any mechanics' hand service tools pursuant to any purchase order placed subsequent to June 12, 1943 unless such order bears a preference rating of AA-5 or higher, or except pursuant to specific permission of the War Production Board.

(2) [Deleted Feb. 19, 1944]

NOTE: Specific authorization to purchase certain types of mechanics' hand service tools is now required by Table 12 under General Scheduling Order M-293.

(e) Restrictions on inventory. On and after June 12, 1943, no person purchasing more than ten mechanics' hand service tools of any kind specified on Exhibit A shall accept delivery of any such tools the delivery of which will effect an increase in his inventory beyond a supply required by his current practices for use or for resale during a sixty-day period. In the event that the provisions of Suppliers' Inventory Limitation Order L-63 as applied to any supplier as defined in that order are more restrictive, such provisions shall govern. The restrictions on inventory contained in this paragraph (e) shall not apply to the following designated types of purchase orders:

(1) Purchase orders for mechanics' hand service tools made pursuant to the purchaser's special design or specifications which are not standard items in the producer's production schedules.

(2) Purchase orders placed by the Army, Navy, or Maritime Commission for mechanics' hand service tools required for bases or supply depots outside the continental United States (comprising the several States and the District of Columbia), or for bases or supply depots within the continental United States which are maintained for emergency purposes, or to supply such bases or supply depots outside the continental United States.

(3) Any other purchase order specifically excepted from this restriction by the War Production Board.

(f) Repair parts. Nothing in this order shall be construed to prevent the sale and delivery of repair parts for mechanics' hand service tools in accordance with applicable regulations and orders of the War Production Board concerning repair parts.

(g) [Revoked Feb. 19, 1944]

(h) Applicability of General Scheduling Order M-293. Those mechanics' hand service tools which are listed on the schedule attached to General Scheduling Order M-293 are also subject to the terms and provisions of that order.

(i) Reports. Each producer shall execute and file with the War Production Board Form WPB-3057 and such other reports and questionnaires as said Board may from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made on Form WPB-1477 (formerly PD-500) or by letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provisions appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. All appeals should be filed with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant to which the appeal relates.

(k) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board.

(l) Communications. All reports, appeals, and other communications concerning this order shall be addressed to: War Production Board, Tools Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: E-6.

(m) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

PART 3291—CONSUMERS DURABLE GOODS

FURNITURE AND FURNITURE PARTS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States, has created a shortage in the supply of wood and other critical materials for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3291.66 General Limitation Order L-260-a—(a) What this order does. This order governs the manufacture and distribution of furniture. It restricts the use of certain materials in the production of furniture both for civilian use, and for all other uses, including Army, Navy or other Governmental orders.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) The term "manufacturer" means any person who makes, assembles, finishes or upholsters any new furniture.

(2) "Furniture" as used in this order means all articles commonly known as furniture including, but not limited to, products shown on List I, but not including products shown on List II.

(3) "Wood" means furniture parts and all sawed lumber including round edge, of any size or grade, whether rough, dressed on one or more sides or edges, dressed and matched, shiplapped, worked to pattern, or grooved for splines. The term does not include veneer and all-veneer constructed plywood, whether produced or purchased by a manufacturer. Neither does it include slabs, edgings, trims and off-falls less than 3 inches wide or less than 4 feet long when purchased in such form.

(4) "Veneer" means, for the purpose of this order and only for the purpose of this order, a layer of wood ⅝ inches or less in thickness whether sawn, sliced or rotary cut.

(5) "Furniture parts" as used in this order means parts, unassembled or assembled, intended for use in the production of furniture, including but not limited to, dimension parts whether or not cut to size, machined or partially machined, carvings, turnings, venetian blind slats, moldings, lumber cores used or purchased as such or in the form of plywood.

(6) "Pattern" means any piece of furniture, whether or not containing wood as defined in paragraph (b) (3), having its own identification mark and selling price, except that for the purpose of this order, two or more pieces of furniture identical in every respect othef than color, finishing material, fabric, leather or other outer covering or cover, species of wood or veneer, spring construction, content of metal parts or method of joining shall be considered one pattern, whether or not they have the same selling price. A suite of furniture of two or more different pieces shall constitute two or more patterns.

(7) "Upholstery springs" means any type of spring, intended for use in upholstered furniture, whether flat, coiled or otherwise formed, made of metal, including but not limited to, upholsterer's seat springs, spring cushion units, pillow springs, flat or formed under-constructions, spring constructions, spring supporting bars, edgewire and edgewire clips.

(8) "Upholstered furniture" means padded furniture whether or not containing upholstery springs.

(c) Restrictions on use of wood. During any calendar quarter, no manufacturer shall use in the manufacture and crating of furniture more than 21% of the amount of wood which he used for these combined purposes in the calendar year 1943. Use of wood shall be measured in board feet, and wood shall be considered used in the quarter in which it is first changed from the form in which it was received or is first assembled, finished or upholstered. In computing the amount of wood used in items such as furniture parts or as assembled furniture, bought otherwise than by gross board-foot measurement, a manufacturer may convert it to board feet by any reasonable and consistent method.

(d) Restrictions on receipt of wood. No manufacturer shall accept any delivery of wood, which, added to all inventory on hand, including wood in dry kilns, will give him a supply greater than:

(1) 42% of the amount of wood (which requires kiln or air drying prior to use) consumed by him in the production of furniture in 1943.

(2) 21% of the amount of other wood, consumed by him in the production of furniture in 1943.

(e) Restrictions on patterns. (1) Until June 1st, no manufacturer shall at any one time be engaged in processing, fabricating, assembling or offering for sale in combined total more than 35% of the total number of patterns of furniture offered for sale by him during the month of September, 1941, or 24 patterns, whichever is greater.

(2) On and after June 1, 1944, no manufacturer shall at any one time be engaged in processing, fabricating, assembling or offering for sale in combined total more than 25% of the total number of patterns of furniture offered for sale by him during the month of September, 1941, or 24 patterns, whichever is greater.

(3) No manufacturer shall produce or offer for sale any pattern of furniture which had not been offered for sale by him prior to March 15, 1943, or any pattern which has not been specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(4) Request for specific authorization to make a change in patterns should be made by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Washington, 25, D. C., Ref: L–260–a.

(5) The provisions of this paragraph (e) do not apply to the manufacture of the following: (i) venetian blinds; (ii) furniture to fill any order, contract or subcontract placed by or for the account of the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration, or the Federal Public Housing Authority.

(f) Restrictions on the use of metal. (1) No manufacturer shall use in the production of upholstered furniture in any calendar quarter more metal upholstery springs than 12½% by weight of the total weight of metal upholstery springs used by him in the year 1941.

(2) No manufacturer shall use in the production of furniture any steel sheet or strip which is 12 inches or more in width.

(g) Small manufacturers excluded. This order does not apply to any manufacturer in any quarter in which his sales of furniture are less than $5,000.00 provided that his sales did not exceed $20,000.00 in any of the years 1941, 1942, or 1943.

(h) Equitable distribution to retailers. It is the policy of the War Production Board that furniture not required to fill rated orders be distributed equitably to retailers giving due regard to established trade connections and also to the needs of dealers whose usual supplies have been cut off and diverted, and to the increased needs of certain areas caused by war conditions. If voluntary compliance with this policy is not found to be sufficient, the War Production Board may issue directions with respect to sales to specified outlets or to outlets in specified areas.

(i) Finished item deliveries. No person shall deliver, offer for sale, or accept delivery of any furniture or furniture part which he knows or has reason to believe was made, assembled or delivered in violation of this order.

(j) Reports. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports as the War Production Board may specify from time to time, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(k) Appeals. Any appeal from this order should be made on Form WPB–1477 (formerly PD–500) and should be filed with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant to which the appeal relates.

(l) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(m) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(n) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications, other than appeals, concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Consumers Durable Goods Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L–260–a, as amended.

Issued this 26th day of June 1944.

FURNITURE AND FURNITURE PARTS; REMODELING BY INCLUSION OF SPRINGS

Since the revocation of Order L–125 on January 14, 1944, some question has arisen in connection with the remodeling of padded or upholstered furniture produced prior to that date without springs.

A person who remodels such a completely finished and upholstered item of padded furniture by the mere inclusion of upholstery springs is not engaged in the production of upholstered furniture within the meaning of Order L–260–a, nor is he a "reconditioner" or "repairman" under CMP Regulation No. 9A. However, if a person adds springs to an item of furniture which had not been completely finished and upholstered prior to that date, he is a manufacturer and subject to the restrictions of that order.

Only a limited number of springs are available for this purpose. To the extent that a spring distributor has upholstery springs available which are not required to fill rated orders, he may sell them on unrated orders. (Issued Apr. 18, 1944.)

PART 3293 [1]—CHEMICALS

CHLORINE

Section 3293.46 [1] Allocation Order M–19 is hereby amended in its entirety to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of chlorine for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.46 Allocation Order M–19—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Chlorine" means gaseous and liquid chlorine.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of chlorine.

(3) "Distributor" means any person who has purchased or purchases chlorine for resale, except persons who resell exclusively in containers of less than one ton.

(b) Restrictions on use and delivery. (1) No producer or distributor shall use or deliver chlorine except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application pursuant to paragraph (e).

(2) No person shall accept delivery of chlorine from a producer or distributor except upon application pursuant to paragraph (e) (1). Each person who obtains chlorine upon this application shall use it only for the purpose stated in the application. However, if changing circumstances make it impracticable for him to use it for that purpose, he may apply to the War Production Board on Form WPB–2908 or by letter (3 copies) for authority to use it for some other specified purpose.

(3) If the balance of supply and demand on which chlorine allocations have been based is affected by unexpected losses in production or emergency military demands, the War Production Board may make such adjustments as are necessary by directions to any person to or from whom chlorine has been allocated, revising the quantities and permitted uses specified in the previous allocations, and by making any required additional allocations.

(4) The War Production Board may from time to time issue special directions to any producer with respect to production of chlorine.

(c) Exemptions. (1) The restrictions of paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) shall not apply to the following:

(i) Delivery, acceptance of delivery and use of chlorine in containers of less than one ton capacity.

(ii) Delivery and acceptance of delivery of chlorine for use, or for resale for use, for water treatment (industrial, potable, sewage), or for swimming pool sanitation: Provided, however, That each person placing a purchase order for chlorine under this exemption (in containers of a ton or more capacity) shall certify on the purchase order "Under par. (c) (1) (ii) M–19".

(2) No person shall accept delivery of chlorine under paragraph (c) (1) if his inventory of chlorine exceeds, or as a result of acceptance would exceed, a 30 day supply on the basis of his current method and rate of operation, unless the amount ordered is the smallest practical delivery unit. No producer or distributor shall deliver a greater aggregate amount under paragraph (c) (1) than he has been specifically authorized to deliver for this purpose.

(d) Placing of orders. Each person ordering chlorine from any supplier, including persons ordering chlorine under paragraph (c), should place his order for chlorine on or before the 5th day of the month preceding the period for which delivery is requested if his supplier is a distributor, or the 10th day if his supplier is a producer. No producer or distributor shall be required to fill any order for chlorine which is not placed in accordance with this paragraph.

(e) Applications and reports. (1) Each producer and each distributor seeking authorization to use pursuant to paragraph (b) (1), and each person applying for delivery pursuant to paragraph (b) (2), shall apply to the War Production Board on Form WPB–2908 (formerly PD–190), which form shall be prepared and filed in the manner prescribed therein.

(2) Each producer and each distributor seeking authorization to deliver chlorine, either directly to consumers or through distributors, shall apply to the War Production Board on Form WPB–927 (formerly PD–191), which form shall be prepared and filed in the manner prescribed therein.

(3) The above reporting requirements have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(4) In addition, the War Production Board at its discretion may require additional information on chlorine, or may issue special instructions regarding preparing and filing Forms WPB-2908 and 927, subject to approval by the Bureau of the Budget when required by the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(f) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable War Production Board regulations, as amended from time to time.

(2) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provisions of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(3) Communications to War Production Board. Communications concerning this order should be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemicals Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-19.

Issued this 26th day of June 1944.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[Rev. RO 16,[1] Amdt. 5]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2.3 (g) is amended to read as follows:

(g) How consumers acquire and use tokens. If the consumer is unable to give up points exactly equal to the point value of the foods acquired by him because he does not have stamps, certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of sufficiently small value to make up the proper amount, he may give up, and the transferor may accept, stamps, certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of the nearest higher value, and the transferor must return the excess number of points to the consumer in the form of tokens. Tokens may be used to acquire foods covered by this order only if the tokens were acquired in a way provided for by this order. A transferor may accept tokens from a consumer, unless he knows or has reason to believe that they were not acquired by the consumer in a way provided for by this order.

2. The first sentence of section 16.10 (a) is amended to read as follows:

Beginning February 27, 1944, tokens may be used to buy or acquire foods, to give change to consumers when they buy or acquire such foods and to give to consumers for household salvage fats.

3. Section 16.11 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 16.11 Tokens which may not be used must be surrendered. (a) A person who has any tokens which he acquired in a way not provided for by this or any other order of the Office of Price Administration must not use them for any purpose but must surrender them to a board.

This amendment shall become effective June 30, 1944.

PART 1386—SOAP AND GLYCERINE

[MPR 390,[1] Incl. Amdt. 1-6]

HOUSEHOLD SOAPS AND CLEANSERS SOLD BY RETAIL FOOD STORES

This compilation of Maximum Price Regulation 390 includes Amendment 6, effective June 24, 1944. The text added or amended by Amendment 6 is underscored.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary to issue a regulation establishing dollars and cents maximum prices for retail sales of household soaps and cleansers by retail food stores.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Insofar as this regulation uses specifications and standards which were not, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected, or insofar as their use was not lawfully required by another Government agency, the Administrator has determined, with respect to such standardization, that no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control with respect to the commodities subject to this regulation.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation are applicable to the continental United States.

[The word "class" wherever it appears in sections 2, 3, 5, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, and 19 is amended to read "group" by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 9380, effective 7-13-43]

SEC. 2. What this regulation does. (a) This regulation fixes maximum ceiling prices on all retail sales of household soaps and cleansers made by retail food stores on and after May 24, 1943. Different ceiling prices are fixed for sales made by different groups of retail food stores. Household soaps and cleansers are defined in section 10 of this regulation. Retail food store means a store in which 50 per cent or more of the gross dollar sales volume is from the sale of food products or the food department of any store.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

(b) This regulation does not apply to sales of household soaps and cleansers by retailers other than retail food stores. For example, it does not apply to sales by drug stores, 5 and 10 cent stores, dry goods stores, and mobile retail units.

The maximum prices for sales by such sellers are fixed by the General Maximum Price Regulation* and the seller's maximum price is that determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

SEC. 3. Your ceiling prices. (a) You will find your ceiling prices in that section which sets maximum prices for your group of store. Each of these sections contains a list of specific dollars and cents maximum prices for the most widely distributed brands of household soaps and cleansers. It also contains directions on how to figure maximum prices for household soaps and cleansers which are not listed there.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

(b) Your group of store. (1) Your store is in group 1 if it is an "independent retail food store" with an annual gross sales volume less than $50,000. Ceiling prices for group 1 are set out in section 17.

(2) Your store is in group 2 if it is an "independent retail food store" with an annual gross sales volume of $50,000 but less than $250,000. Ceiling prices for group 2 are set out in section 18.

(3) Your store is in group 3 if it is a "chain retail food store" with an annual gross sales volume less than $250,000. Ceiling prices for group 3 are set out in section 19.

(4) Your store is in group 4 if it is either a "chain or independent retail food store" with an annual gross sales volume of $250,000 or more. Ceiling prices for group 4 are set out in section 19.

Specific directions for figuring your annual gross sales volume are set out in sections 11, 12, and 13 of this regulation.

(c) Reclassification of store groups. Effective May 25, 1944, this regulation requires that the year 1943 be used for figuring your "annual gross sales" instead of the year 1942. If you find that as a result of that change, your store is now in a group different from the one it was in before, you must, after June 15, 1944, use the ceiling prices fixed for the group in which you are now classified.

[Paragraph (c) amended, former (c) redesignated (d) by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 5804, effective 5-29-44]

(d) New size packs. Manufacturers may be required to change the size of packs in the tables of sections 17, 18, and 19 below, in compliance with War Production Board Limitation Order No. 317, Fibre Shipping Containers, dated March 23, 1944, which order is designed to conserve paper board. This change has no effect on your maximum prices listed in the tables or otherwise determined as required, because these maximum prices per unit contained in the pack regardless of the size of the pack.

[Paragraph (d), formerly (c), added by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 4440, effective 5-5-44, and amended by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 5804, effective 5-25-44]

SEC. 4. When the new ceiling prices take effect. When the ceiling prices fixed by this regulation take effect on May 24, 1943, they will take the place of all previous ceiling prices fixed by the Office of Price Administration for sales of all household soaps and cleansers by retail food stores. On and after May 24, 1943, you may not sell any household soap or cleanser at a price higher than the ceiling price fixed by this regulation. You may sell any of these products at a price lower than the ceiling price.

SEC. 5. Posting and marking requirements.—(a) Posting your ceiling prices. After you have found your group of store, you should apply to your local War Price and Rationing Board which will supply you with a list of maximum prices for your group of store setting out in dollars and cents the prices for all brands of household soaps and cleansers listed in this regulation. You are required to post this list in plain view of your customers either at the points in your store where the soaps and cleansers you sell are displayed or at the points where purchases of soap are ordinarily paid for. In addition to posting this list of prices, you are required to figure your maximum prices for all unlisted brands of soap and cleanser's and unbranded and bulk soaps and cleansers you sell. You must also post these prices at the places specified above.

(b) Marking the classification of bulk soap or cleanser. ("Bulk soap or cleanser" is defined in section 10 of this regulation.) If you offer bulk soap or cleanser for sale, you must mark on the barrel or other container from which you sell such bulk soap or cleanser the classification of the contents, whether bar toilet soap, bar laundry soap, cleanser or scouring powder, package soap, or washing powder. If such barrel or other container is not marked and in plain view of your customers at the point of sale, or if you put the bulk soap or cleanser in a paper bag, sack or other package before offering it for sale, you must mark the proper classification of that bulk soap or cleanser on the package. These various classifications of soaps and cleansers will be identified on your sellers' invoices and are also defined in section 10 of this regulation.

[Sec. 5 amended by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 4440, effective 5-5-44 and Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

SEC. 6. Records, sales slips, and receipts. (a) Records. After May 23, 1943, you must keep the records listed below for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect:

(1) The kinds of records you have customarily kept showing the prices you charge for household soaps and cleansers.

(2) Records showing how you figured your maximum prices for unlisted household soaps and cleansers under the regulation.

(3) All records of household soaps and cleansers which you were required to keep under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(4) Records showing how you figured your maximum prices for bulk soaps and cleansers, including bulk soap and cleanser purchased by you from the wholesaler in bars or packages which are, or are required to be marked, "Packaged from bulk," as well as the bulk soap and cleanser purchased by you in barrels and other large containers.

[Subparagraph (4) added by Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

You must show any of the above records to any representative of the Office of Price Administration on request.

(b) Sales slips and receipts. If you have customarily given a customer a sales slip, receipt or similar evidence of purchase, you must continue to do so. Furthermore, regardless of your previous custom, you must upon request by any customer give a receipt showing the date, your name and address, the brand name (in the case of bulk soap, the classification thereof according to section 10), and weight or size of the household soap or cleanser, and the price you received for it.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

SEC. 7. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1 [4] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation or schedule. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

[Sec. 7 amended by Supplementary Order 72, 8 F.R. 13244, effective 10-1-43]

SEC. 8. Indirect price increases. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded directly or indirectly by you, and you shall not require a purchaser to buy or agree to buy any other household soap or cleanser or other article, service, package or wrapper as a condition of selling him a household soap or cleanser nor shall you require him to buy or agree to buy a household soap or cleanser as a condition of selling him any other commodity or any service.

SEC. 9. Prohibitions. On and after May 24, 1943, the date this regulation takes effect, if you sell or deliver any household soap or cleanser at a price higher than your ceiling price, or if you otherwise violate any provision of this regulation, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. Also, any person, who in the course of trade or business, buys from you at a price higher than your ceiling price is subject to the criminal penalties and civil enforcement actions provided for by that Act.

ARTICLE II—SPECIAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 11. How you figure the annual gross sales of your store in most cases. (a) To find your "annual gross sales," take your total sales for the calendar year 1943, including all sales whether of foods or not, as shown on your books (except sales made by restaurants operated in conjunction with your store). You can use your Federal Income Tax Return to get your gross sales for all or any part of the calendar year 1943 which is covered by such return. If you own more than one store, figure the sales for each store separately, treating each as a separate retailer.

(b) If you were not in operation during the entire year 1943, you must divide your total gross sales from the time you began operation up to May 25, 1944 by the number of weeks you were in operation. This will give you your weekly average gross sales. Multiply this figure by 52 and the result is your "annual gross sales."

[Sec. 11 amended by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 5804, effective 5-25-44]

SEC. 12. How to figure your annual gross sales in certain special cases.—(a) Department stores. If you operate a department store, that is, a store in which the greater volume of sales is general merchandise and not foods, and you sell foods in a separate department or departments, then you must find in which group your store falls by using only the gross annual sales of your food departments.

(b) Stores in which more than one retailer operates. (1) If you sell foods in a retail store in which more than one retailer sells a complete line of the same general class of food, you are treated as a separate retailer and must find out what group you are in by using only your own annual gross sales.

(2) If you sell food in a retail store in which there are other food retailers, but no two of them sell a complete line of the same general class of food, you must find out what group you are in by taking the combined annual gross sales of all the food retailers in that store.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 9380, effective 7-13-43]

SEC. 13. How to find your annual gross sales if you are a new retailer. (a) If you open an "independent" retail food store on or after May 25, 1944, you may consider your store to be in group 1 and figure your selling prices accordingly. But after you have been in operation for 3 months you must determine again what group your store is in. To do this, take your gross sales for the 3-month period and multiply by 4. Use the result as your "annual gross sales" in order to find in what group your store is. If you find that your store is now in group 2, you must figure and post new ceiling prices on the first of the following month. You must also promptly notify your local War Price and Rationing Board of any change in your group.

(b) If you open a "chain" retail food store on or after May 25, 1944, you may consider your store to be in group 3 and figure your selling prices accordingly. But after you have been in operation for 3 months you must determine again what group your store is in. To do this, take your gross sales for the 3-month period and multiply by 4. Use the result as your "annual gross sales" in order to find in what group your store is. If you find that your store is now in group 4, you must figure and post new ceiling prices on the first of the following month. You must also promptly notify your local War Price and Rationing Board of any change in your group.

[Paragraphs (a) and (b) amended by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 5804, effective 5-25-44]

SEC. 14. Transfer of business or stock in trade. If you acquire in any manner the business, assets or stock in trade of any store subject to this regulation after May 24, 1943, and you carry on the business or continue to deal in household soaps or cleansers in a store separate from any other store previously owned or operated by you, then your ceiling prices shall be the same as those of the former owner as if no transfer had taken place; unless as a result of the transfer the business changes from one group of stores to another, in which case your ceiling prices shall be those fixed for the group to which the store belongs after the transfer. You must keep all records sufficient to verify your ceiling prices. The former owner shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to you all records of transactions prior to your acquiring the store which are necessary to enable you to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 15. Retail sales taxes. Any tax upon or incident to the sale or delivery of a household soap or cleanser for which maximum prices are established by this regulation, imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof, or any increase in such tax, may be collected by you in addition to the selling price if you state the tax separately and the statute or ordinance imposing such tax or increase does not prohibit you from stating and collecting the tax or increase separately from the purchase price. Similar statements and collections of a tax shall be permitted in addition to the selling price where the tax has been paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from you by the vendor from whom you purchased.

[Sec. 15 amended by Am. 6, effective 6-24-44]

SEC. 16. Petitions for amendment and applications for adjustment.—(a) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking any modifications of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [5] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

[NOTE: Procedural Regulation No. 6 (7 F.R. 5067, 5665; 8 F.R. 6176, 6174) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment of maximum prices for commodities or services under Government contracts or subcontracts. Revised Supplementary Order 9 (8 F.R. 6175) makes the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 6 applicable to all price regulations, excepting those which expressly prohibit such applications and certain specific regulations listed in Revised Supplementary Order No. 9.]

(b) Adjustment provisions. On or before October 30, 1943, any retail food store subject to this regulation may apply to its appropriate State or District Office of the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of the maximum price established for it upon the sale of any listed household soap or cleanser. Such application must conform to the requirements of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and must show in addition to such requirements that:

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 3, 8 F.R. 13499, effective 10-8-43]

(1) The applicant sold the commodity for which price adjustment is sought prior to September 15, 1942, at a price which was higher than the price established by this regulation, and

(2) That as a result of a lawful surcharge for delivery (a charge made by a wholesaler for a delivery in a remote area which is over and above the seller's usual delivery charge in a less remote area) the applicant's unit net cost exceeds the price for the commodity upon a service sale by a wholesaler who buys in less than carload quantities as set out in Maximum Price Regulation No. 391 Household Soaps and Cleansers sold by Manufacturers and Certain Wholesalers, and

(3) That no cheaper source of supply is available,

Upon such a showing the State or District Office of the Office of Price Administration shall adjust the applicant's maximum price so as to reflect the amount of such surcharge for delivery.

(c) Adjustment provision for group 3 or 4 stores. On or before June 24, 1944, any retail food store in group 3 or 4 which is subject to this regulation may apply to its appropriate State or District Office of the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of its established maximum price for any household soap or cleanser to the price established for such household soap or cleanser for group 1 stores. Such application must conform to the requirements of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and must show in addition to such requirements that:

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 3, 8 F.R. 13499, effective 10-8-43 and Am. 5, 9 F.R. 5804, effective 5-25-44]

(1) Most of applicant's sales are made by sales clerks who assist customers in selecting, collecting, and wrapping merchandise; and

(2) It generally offers to all its customers the services of (i) taking orders over the telephone, and (ii) carrying monthly charge accounts, and (iii) providing delivery service; and

(3) It has consistently maintained prices for household soaps and cleansers prior to September 15, 1942, as high or higher than those charged by group 2 stores in the same community; and

(4) Its total gross margin on all its sales of soap and food products, if it is not a "chain retail food store", was more than 25 per cent during its fiscal year 1941; or, if it is a "chain retail food store," the total gross margin on the combined sales of all the stores in the chain was more than 25 per cent during its fiscal year 1941. If applicant was not in operation in 1941, its gross margin for the most recent fiscal year, or if it has not been doing business for a full fiscal year, for the most recent fiscal period, must be more than 25 per cent.

Upon such a showing the State or District Office of the Office of Price Administration shall adjust the applicant's maximum price on such household soap or cleanser to the maximum price established therefor by this regulation for group 1 stores.

A group 3 or 4 food store which has had its maximum prices for household soaps or cleansers adjusted to the maximum prices for group 2 stores prior to July 3, 1943, under this section may adjust such maximum prices to the maximum prices for group 1 stores if its total gross margin specified in paragraph (c) (3) for the periods there referred to was more than 25 per cent. However, if this total gross margin was not more than 25 per cent, it must, beginning July 3, 1943, use as its maximum prices the maximum prices for group 4 stores, if it is a group 4 store, or the maximum prices for group 3 stores, if it is a group 3 store.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 8047, effective 7-3-43 and as otherwise noted]

(d) Adjustment provision for group 3 or 4 stores in Region VII. On or before June 24, 1944, any retail food store in Region VII of the Office of Price Administration which is subject to this regulation as a group 3 or 4 store, may apply to the appropriate regional office or any district office so authorized by its regional office, for an adjustment of its established maximum price for any listed household soap or cleanser to the price established for such household soap or cleanser for group 2 stores. Such application must conform to the requirements of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and must show in addition to such requirements that:

(1) Applicant has customarily purchased more than 70 per cent of all its household soaps and cleansers from wholesalers; and

(2) It has consistently maintained prices for household soaps and cleansers prior to September 15, 1942, as high or higher than those charged by group 2 stores in the same community.

Upon such a showing the State or District Office of the Office of Price Administration shall adjust the applicant's maximum price on such household soap or cleanser to the maximum price established therefor by this regulation for group 2 stores.

"Customarily purchased" refers to the practice of the store during the fiscal year 1941; if it was not in operation in 1941, the most recent fiscal year shall be used, or if it has not been doing business for a full fiscal year, the most recent fiscal period shall be used.

"70 per cent" refers to the dollar amount of purchases of household soaps and cleansers.

[Paragraph (d) added and former (d) redesignated (e) by Am. 3, 8 F.R. 13499, effective 10-8-43]

(e) Delegation of authority to make adjustments. Any regional office of the Office of Price Administration, or such offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may act on all applications for adjustment under the provisions of this regulation, and may deny any application filed under paragraph (c) of this section or revoke any order granting adjustment under that paragraph if denial of such application would not cause the applicant a substantial financial hardship. Applications for adjustment are governed by Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

ARTICLE III—CEILING PRICES

[The phrase, "the seller's maximum price under the GMPR or," whenever it appears in sections 17, 18, and 19 is amended to read "the seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or" by Am. 3, 8 F.R. 13499, effective 10-8-43]

SEC. 17. Maximum prices for sales of household soaps and cleansers by Group 1 stores. The maximum prices at which the listed brands of household soaps and cleansers may be sold by Group 1 stores are set out below. If you sell a household soap or cleanser which is not listed you will establish your maximum price for it by following the instructions given at the end of each table in this section.

(1) Instructions: How to establish maximum prices for unlisted brands of bar or cake toilet soaps. For unlisted brands of bar or cake toilet soap the maximum price per unit for Group 1 stores shall be at the seller's option either:

(i) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or:

(ii) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.28 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand bar toilet soap, which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $5.00 per case of 100 bars, divide 100 into $5.00, and get a unit net cost per bar of 5 cents. Then multiply 5 by 1.28 and get a price of 6.40 cents per bar. Since the fraction is less than ½ cent, your maximum price must be 6 cents per bar (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR. If the fraction had amounted to ½ cent or more, your maximum price would have been 7 cents.)

(2) Instructions: How to establish maximum prices for unbranded or bulk bar toilet soaps. For unbranded or bulk bar toilet soap the maximum price per unit for Group 1 stores shall be the unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.28 and figured to the nearest cent.

(1) Instructions: How to establish maximum prices for unlisted brands of package soaps—(i) Large size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in large size packages (marked weight on package at least 10 oz. but less than 27 oz.) the maximum price per unit for group 1 stores shall be at the seller's option either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.20 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight 25 oz.), which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $4.80 per case of 24 packages, divide 24 into $4.80 and get a unit cost per package of 20 cents. Then multiply 20 by 1.20 and get a price of 24 cents per package. Your maximum price is 24 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR).)

(ii) Small size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in small size packages (marked weight on package less than 10 oz.) the maximum price per unit for group 1 stores shall be at the seller's option, either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.23 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight on package 8½ oz.) which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $5.90 per case of 60 packages, divide 60 into $5.90 and get a unit cost per package of 9.83 cents. Then multiply 9.83 by 1.23 and get a price of 12.09 cents per package. Since the fraction is less than ½ cent your maximum price would be 12 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR). If the fraction had amounted to ½ cent or more your maximum price would have been 13 cents.)

(iii) Giant or family size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in giant or family size packages (marked weight not less than 27 oz.) the maximum price per unit for Group 1 stores shall be at the seller's option, either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.15 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight 64 oz.), which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $4.80 per case of 8 packages, divide 8 into $4.80 and get a unit cost per package of 60 cents. Then multiply 60 by 1.15 and get a maximum price of 69 cents per package. Your maximum price would be 69 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR).)

(1) Instructions: How to establish maximum prices for unlisted brands of package soaps—(i) Large size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in large size packages (marked weight on package at least 10 ounces but less than 27 ounces) the maximum price per unit for Group 2 stores shall be at the seller's option either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.20 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight 25 ounces), which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $4.80 per case of 24 packages, divide 24 into $4.80 and get a unit cost per package of 20 cents. Then multiply 20 by 1.20 and get a price of 24 cents per package. Your maximum price is 24 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR).)

(ii) Small size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in small size packages (marked weight on package less than 10 ounces) the maximum price per unit or Group 2 stores shall be at the seller's option, either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.23 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight on package 6½ oz.) which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $5.90 per case of 60 packages, divide 60 into $5.90 and get a unit cost per package of 9.83 cents. Then multiply 9.83 by 1.23 and get a price of 12.09 cents per package. Since the fraction is less than ½ cent your price would be 12 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR). If the fraction had amounted to more than ½ cent your maximum price would have been 13 cents.)

(iii) Giant or family size packages. For unlisted brands of package soap in giant or family size packages (marked weight not less than 27 ounces) the maximum price per unit for Group 2 stores shall be at the seller's option, either:

(a) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(b) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.15 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand package soap (marked weight 64 oz.), which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $4.80 per case of 8 packages, divide 8 into $4.80 and get a unit cost per package of 60 cents. Then multiply 60 by 1.15 and get a price of 69 cents per package. Your maximum price would be 69 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR).)

(2) Instructions: How to establish maximum prices for unbranded or bulk package soaps. For unbranded or bulk package soaps the maximum price per unit for Group 2 stores shall be the unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.20 and figured to the nearest cent.

(i) The seller's maximum price as determined under the GMPR, or

(ii) The actual unit net cost to the seller multiplied by 1.32 and figured to the nearest cent.

(For example, if you buy Y brand washing powder, which is not listed above, at an actual cost to you of $3.00 per case of 50 packages, divide 50 into $3.00 and get a unit cost per package of 6 cents. Then multiply 6 by 1.32 and get a price of 7.92 cents per package. Since the fraction is more than ½ cent your price would be 8 cents per package (unless you choose to take your maximum price under the GMPR). If the fraction had amounted to less than ½ cent your maximum price would be 7 cents.)

PART 1386—SOAP AND GLYCERINE

[MPR 391,[1] Incl. Amdts. 1-3]

HOUSEHOLD SOAPS AND CLEANSERS SOLD BY MANUFACTURERS AND CERTAIN WHOLESALERS

This compilation of Maximum Price Regulation 391 includes Amendment 3, effective June 24, 1944. The text added or amended by Amendment 3 is underscored. Redesignations are indicated by notes.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary to issue a regulation establishing dollars and cents maximum prices for certain sales of household soaps and cleansers by manufacturers and certain wholesalers.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[2]

Insofar as this regulation uses specifications and standards which were not, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected, or insofar as their use was not lawfully required by another Government agency, the Administrator has determined, with respect to such standardization, that no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control with respect to the commodities subject to this regulation.

[2] Statements of consideration are also issued with amendments. Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

(e) None of the respective classes of persons in this section designated shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing acts which are by this section prohibited: Provided, That the provisions of this regulation shall not apply to sales or deliveries of household soaps or cleansers if prior to May 24, 1943, such household soaps and cleansers had been received by a carrier other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller for shipment to the purchaser.

SEC. 2. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged, paid, or offered.

SEC. 3. To what products, transactions, and persons this regulation applies and the relation to other regulations—(a) Products covered by this regulation. This regulation covers household soaps and cleansers.

(1) "Household soaps and cleansers" are defined in detail for the purpose of this regulation in section 11.

(f) The maximum price for any household soap or cleanser not listed in the table above, whether branded or unbranded, packaged, cut or bulk shall be:

(1) The highest price which the manufacturer charged for such commodity delivered by him during January 1943 or

(2) If the manufacturer made no delivery of such commodity during January 1943 his highest offering price for delivery during that month.

(3) If the manufacturer did not deliver or offer to deliver such commodity during January 1943, the maximum price shall be the manufacturer's maximum price as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

[Subparagraph (3) added by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 13500, effective 10-8-43]

[Paragraph (f), formerly (g), redesignated by Am. 3, effective 6-24-44]

(g) How to compute your carload ceiling price on a new-size pack assembled in order to comply with War Production Board Limitation Order 317—Fibre Shipping Containers, dated March 23, 1944. By "new-size pack" is meant a pack containing a number of units different than the number in any pack for which a maximum price has been established in the table of maximum prices listed above, or in the case of unlisted soap products, for which a maximum price has been established prior to March 23, 1944.

(1) Find your present ceiling price on the old pack containing the same product in the same size bar or package by reference to the table in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), or (e) above or, if your product is not listed in the foregoing table, by computation according to paragraph (f) above. All "new-size packs" must be priced with reference to a pack for which a maximum price was established in one of the paragraphs of the table of maximum prices listed above or, in the case of unlisted soap products, for which a maximum price had been established under paragraph (f) above, prior to March 23, 1944. You may not determine a maximum price for one "new-size pack" on the basis of the maximum price previously determined for another "new-size pack."

(2) If you had two or more sizes of old packs containing the same product in the same size bar or package, select the ceiling price of the old pack containing the number of units most nearly equal to the number of units in the new-size pack; if the number of units in the new pack is exactly midway between the number of units in two different old packs, select the ceiling price of the larger old pack.

Example: Product sold in old packs of 50 and 100: new-size pack will be 150. Price of 100 pack, $8.075, and of the 50 pack, $4.063.

Divide price of old pack containing the number of units nearest to 150 (the 100 unit pack): $8.075, by number of units contained (100): $.08075.

Multiply $0.08075 by 150 to get ceiling price for new-size pack: $12.1125 rounded to nearest tenth of a cent or $12.113.

The above method of computation is not required to be used as the only method of computation. Any method may be used so long as the result obtained as the maximum price per case for a given new-size pack is not greater than that which would be obtained by use of the above method. For example, manufacturers who have customarily used list prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in the table above and used discounts from those list prices to arrive at their selling prices may continue to do so, adjusting their list prices accordingly, so long as the result thereby obtained does not lead to a higher maximum price per case of new-size pack than the maximum price which would be obtained by the method described here.

You must mark on the exterior of any changed-size pack the number of bars or packages it contains. In addition, when delivering a new-size pack for the first time to a wholesaler who resells to retail food stores, you must indicate on your invoices to such buyers which items are new-size packs by marking the letter "N" before such items on the invoice; at the same time you will state on your invoice,

"N" before an item indicates a new-size pack, whose resale ceiling price is to be computed in accordance with the enclosed instructions.

You will enclose with your invoice the following:

Instructions—How to compute your ceiling price on a new-size pack assembled in compliance with War Production Board Limitation Order No. 317—Fibre Shipping Containers, dated March 23, 1944, when selling to retail food stores. (1) Find your ceiling price on the old pack containing the same product in the same size bar or package.

(2) If there are two or more sizes of old packs containing the same product in the same size bar or package, select the ceiling price of the old pack containing the number of units most nearly equal to the number of units in the new-size pack; if the number of units in the new pack is exactly midway between the number of units in two different old packs, select the ceiling price of the larger old pack.

(4) Multiply this last figure by the number of bars or packages contained in the new pack and round to the nearest cent. The answer is your ceiling price for the new pack.

Example: You sold product in old pack of 50 and 100. New-size pack will be 150. Your ceiling price of the 100 pack is $8.33 f. o. b. warehouse sale, and $8.51 service sale.

To obtain your ceiling price on an f. o. b. warehouse sale of the new-size pack, divide $8.33 (the price of the old pack containing the number of units most nearly equal to the number of units in the new-size pack) by the number of units in the old pack (100): $0.0833. Multiply $0.0833 by the number of units in the new-size pack (150): $12.495, rounded to $12.50.

To obtain your ceiling price on a service sale of the new-size pack divide $8.51 by 100 and multiply by 150 or $12.765 rounded to $12.77.

[Paragraph (g) added by Am. 3, effective 6-24-44]

(h) Less-than-carload quantities—(1) Packs other than new-size packs. When sales of the household soaps and cleansers listed in the table above are made in less-than-carload quantities, their respective maximum prices may be increased by a sum equal to the seller's differential for such less-than-carload quantity in effect in January 1943. (For example, if in January 1943 the seller's carload delivered price for X brand before cash discount was $4.90 per case and his price for 100 cases, delivered, was $5.00 per case, he may, upon a sale of 100 cases, add 10¢ per case to the price listed in the table above.)

(2) New-size pack price in less-than-carload quantities. If you had established a maximum price or prices per case in less-than-carload quantities differing from the price per case in carload quantities in accordance with (1) above, such less-than-carload price or prices per case in the new-size pack shall be determined similarly to the procedure described in paragraph (g) above for carload prices, that is, by dividing the maximum price or prices per case of the old pack in less-than-carload quantities by the number of bars or packages it contains and multiplying the figure or figures thus obtained by the number of bars or packages contained in the new-size pack, rounding to the nearest full cent.

Where you had more than one less-than-carload price depending upon the number of old packs sold at one time, the quantity brackets used to determine the price applicable to a sale of a given quantity shall be expressed in the total number of bars or packages involved rather than the total number of cases. Purchasers of such quantities of bars or packages shall pay the price per case applicable to such quantity brackets expressed in the number of bars or packages, regardless of the number of cases involved.

Example:

OLD PACK PRICES—100 BARS TO CASE

	Per case
C. L.	$5.00
100 or more cases (10,000 bars or more)	5.10
50 to 99 cases (5,000 bars to 10,000)	5.20
Less than 50 cases (Up to 5,000 bars)	5.30

NEW-SIZE PACK PRICES—150 BARS TO CASE

	Per case
C. L.	$7.50
67 or more cases (10,000 bars or more)	7.65
34 to 66 cases (5,000 bars to 10,000)	7.80
Less than 34 cases (up to 5,000 bars)	7.95

Thus, a purchaser of 40 new-size packs, having a total of 6,000 units, would be entitled to the price per case for sales of more than 5,000 units, or $7.80.

[Paragraph (h), formerly (f), redesignated and amended by Am. 3, effective 6-24-44]

(i) Each manufacturer shall continue to allow the cash and quantity discounts allowed by him during January 1943 which were most favorable to the buyer.

Redemption or premium plans offered by the manufacturer wherein the manufacturer offers to redeem a tag, wrapper, coupon or other evidence of a purchase of his product, for something of value, whether cash, commodity, "trading stamp" or similar right, or a service, shall be deemed a cash or quantity discount to the buyer within the meaning of this section whether the buyer purchases directly from the manufacturer or indirectly through a wholesaler, distributor, or retailer.

[Paragraph (i), formerly (h), amended by Am. 2, 9 F.R. 4441, effective 5-5-44 and redesignated by Am. 3, effective 6-24-44]

[NOTE: Revised Supplementary Order No. 34 (8 F.R. 12404) permits, under certain conditions, the addition of extra packing expenses to maximum prices on sales to procurement agencies of the United States.]

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for sales of household soaps and cleansers by wholesalers to retail food stores. The maximum prices of household soaps and cleansers listed in the table below, when sold to a retail food store by a wholesaler who has purchased such product in carload quantities shall be, for an f. o. b. warehouse sale, the price therefor listed in Column A of the table, and for a service sale, the delivered price therefor listed in Column B of the table. None of the maximum prices established in this section 6 may be increased by reason of the extension of credit to the buyer by the seller.

For instructions concerning the maximum prices for the products listed in the tables below when sold to a retail food store by a wholesaler who has purchased the product sold on a less-than-carload basis, for instructions concerning additions of surcharges for remote deliveries, for instructions on the method of establishing maximum prices for sales of household soaps and cleansers not listed in the table below, and for the method of establishing maximum prices for sales of household soaps and cleansers in new-size packs, see paragraphs (f), (g), (h), (i), and (j) at the end of this table.

(f) Instructions. The maximum selling price of the products listed in the table above, when sold to a retail food store by a wholesaler who purchased the product sold on a less than carload basis, may be increased by a sum equal to the difference between the manufacturer's carload maximum price per case and the manufacturer's actual selling price per case for the quantity purchased. (For example, if the manufacturer lists a price of $5.00 per case before cash discount for delivered carload quantities of X brand soap and the wholesaler actually buys only 100 cases for which he pays $5.15 per case delivered before cash discount, he may add 15 cents per case on this hundred-case quantity to the maximum price established for X brand soap in the table above.)

[Paragraph (f) amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 13500, effective 10-8-43]

(g) Instructions. A wholesaler making a delivery in a remote area or zone for which he customarily added a surcharge for delivery in March 1942 may continue to add an amount equal to such customary surcharge to the maximum prices established in column B of the table above. (For example, if the wholesaler customarily made a special charge of 5 cents a case for delivering any soap product listed in the table above to any retail food store located more than 25 miles outside the city limits, he may add 5 cents per case to the maximum prices established in column B of the table above for his deliveries of such soap product to any retail food store more than 25 miles outside the city limits.)

(h) Instructions. Upon a sale of either a listed or unlisted household soap or cleanser by a branch unit of any manufacturer which performs a wholesaler function, the invoice price (not in excess of the manufacturer's maximum price) to the branch unit shall be deemed to be the actual cost of the household soap or cleanser.

[Paragraph (h) amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 13500, effective 10-8-43]

(i) Instructions. (1) The maximum prices for a sale of an unbranded or bulk household soap or cleanser shall be

(i) Upon an f. o. b. warehouse sale of bar toilet soap, bar laundry soap or package soap, the actual cost to the seller before cash discount multiplied by 1.04,

(ii) Upon an f. o. b. warehouse sale of a cleanser, scouring powder or washing powder, the actual cost to the seller before cash discount multiplied by 1.06.

(iii) Upon a service sale of bar toilet soap, bar laundry soap, or package soap, the actual cost to the seller before cash discount, multiplied by 1.06, plus, in the case of a delivery to a remote area for which a delivery surcharge was customarily added in March 1942, an amount equal to such customary surcharge.

(iv) Upon a service sale of a cleanser, scouring powder or washing powder, the actual cost to the seller before cash discount multiplied by 1.08, plus, in the case of a delivery to a remote area for which a delivery surcharge was customarily added in March 1942, an amount equal to such customary surcharge.

(2) The maximum price for a brand of household soap or cleanser (other than a bulk soap or cleanser) not listed in the table above shall be at the seller's option either:

(i) The seller's maximum price as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation, or

(ii) The seller's actual cost multiplied by the appropriate mark-up factor in subparagraph (1) above.

[Paragraph (i) amended by Am. 1, 8 F.R. 13500, effective 10-8-43, and Am. 3, effective 6-24-44]

(j) Instructions—How to compute your ceiling price on a new-size pack assembled in compliance with War Production Board Limitation Order No. 317—Fibre Shipping Containers, dated March 23, 1944. By "new-size pack" is meant a pack containing a number of units differing from any pack for which a maximum price had been established in one of the tables of maximum prices listed above or in the case of unlisted soap products, for which a maximum price had been established prior to March 23, 1944.

(1) Find your present ceiling price on the old pack containing the same product in the same size bar or package by reference to paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), or (e) of the table above if the product is listed therein, or by computation according to paragraph (i) above if the product is not listed in the foregoing table. All "new-size packs" must be priced with reference to a pack for which a maximum price was established in one of the paragraphs of the table of maximum prices listed above or, in the case of an unlisted soap product, for which a maximum price had been established under paragraph (i) above prior to March 23, 1944. You may not determine a maximum price for one "new-size pack" on the basis of the maximum price previously determined for another "new-size pack."

(2) If you had two or more sizes of old packs containing the same product in the same size bar or package, select the ceiling price of the old pack containing the number of units most nearly equal to the number of units in the new-size pack; if the number of units in the new pack is exactly midway between the number of units in two different old packs, select the ceiling price of the larger old pack.

(3) Make any necessary adjustments to this price under paragraphs (f) and (g) above, if applicable.

(4) Divide the ceiling price obtained by (1) and (3), or (2) and (3) above, by the number of bars or packages contained in the old pack selected under (1) and (2) above and carry out the answer to the nearest hundredth of a cent.

(5) Multiply this last figure by the number of bars or packages contained in the new pack and round the answer to the nearest cent. This figure will be your ceiling price for the new-size pack.

Example: You sold product in old packs of 50 and 100; new-size packs will be 150. Your ceiling prices for the old pack containing the number of units nearest to 150 (the 100 unit pack) was $8.33 f. o. b. warehouse and $8.51 service. To obtain your f. o. b. warehouse price divide the price of the largest size pack ($8.33) by the number of units contained (100): $0.0833. Multiply $0.0833 by number of units contained in new pack (150): $12.495, rounded to $12.50.

To obtain your ceiling price for a service sale, divide price of the 100 unit pack ($8.51) by 100: $0.0851. Multiply $0.0851 by 150: $12.765, rounded to $12.77.

(c) The registration of any person who is registered as an industrial user on OPA Form R-1200 solely for the purpose of obtaining a provisional allowance for feeding bees shall be deemed cancelled on June 30, 1944.

(2) The amount of any advances obtained by him during 1942 on future provisional allowances for feeding bees which he has not deducted from such future allowances; and

(3) On an application filed during 1944, the amount of any sugar previously obtained during 1944 for feeding bees.

(e) If an applicant does not on his first application during a calendar year receive certificates for the full amount permitted under paragraph (d), he may make one or more later applications for an additional amount up to the total amount permitted by paragraph (a).

4. Section 1407.163b is added to read as follows:

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[Rev. RO 16, Amdt. 3]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. The definition of "household salvage fats" in section 27.1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

"Household salvage fats" means any fat produced (or salvaged from other fat) by a consumer or a Group I institutional user in preparing or cooking food while that fat is in the original container in which the consumer or Group I institutional user placed it for transfer.

2. Section 26.8a is added to read as follows:

SEC. 26.8a Certain persons may register as master collectors—(a) General. A person who removes household salvage fats from their original containers and mixes them with other fats to produce hard grease or tallow for sale or transfer and who carried on those operations before June 30, 1944 may register his establishment as a master collector establishment. A person who has registered his establishment as a master collector establishment is a master collector with respect to that establishment.

(b) Registration. His registration must be filed on OPA Form R-315 in duplicate with the regional office for the place where his establishment is located. (Regional offices may authorize this registration to be made at district offices instead.) If he has more than one master collector establishment, he may register them together or separately. If he registers them together, he must register all on a single registration form and file that form with the regional office (or authorized district office) for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers each of them separately, he must file a separate registration form for each establishment with the regional office (or authorized district office) for the place where that establishment is located. Each separately registered establishment is to be treated and operated separately for all the purposes of this order, just as if the establishments were owned by different persons. His registration must show:

(1) That he acquires household salvage fats which he removes from the original containers in which they were placed by consumers or Group I institutional users and mixes with other fats to produce hard grease or tallow for sale or transfer and that he engaged in those operations before June 30, 1944;

(2) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired each month beginning with January 1944;

(3) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he has on hand;

(4) The number of points he owes for household salvage fats he acquired;

(5) The number of points owed to him for salvage fats he transferred; and

(6) The number of points he has on hand and in his ration bank account, if any.

(c) A registered master collector may get allotments and must make reports. If a person registers as a master collector under this section, he is entitled to receive allotments under Section 26.3, in the same way as a renderer. The number of points owed to him for salvage fats he transferred and the number of points he has on hand and in his ration bank account at the time he registers as a master collector shall be deducted from the amount of any certificate issued to him when he registers. However, if he owes points for salvage fats acquired by him, the amount of the certificate issued shall be increased by the number of points he owes. He must also make the reports, keep the records and open the ration bank accounts referred to in sections 26.4, 26.5 and 26.9 (a), in the same way as a renderer. He must file the reports at the office with which he is registered.

3. Section 26.11 (b) (3) (ii) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

However, if he acquired less than 100 pounds from a person during an entire month, he may issue to that person a household salvage fats ration check for the number of points due.

4. The last sentence of section 26.3 (c) is amended by substituting the words "on hand and in his ration bank account" for the words "remaining from prior allotments for household salvage fats".

This amendment shall become effective June 30, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 10.21 Effective date. The regulations contained in §§ 10.21 to 10.32, inclusive, of this part shall be effective 30 days after their publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 10.22 Area in which regulations apply. The regulations contained in §§ 10.21 to 10.32, inclusive, of this part shall apply to all vessels, harbors, ports, and waterfront facilities, including those located on the inland navigable waters of the United States as well as those on the sea coasts, located within that portion of the Western Defense Command within the States of Washington, Oregon and California.

§ 10.23 Responsibility for execution of regulations. The responsibility for the execution of the regulations contained in §§ 10.21 to 10.32, inclusive, of this part shall rest upon the master or senior officer present on board a vessel, and the operator of a waterfront facility. During the time an air raid warning alarm is in effect, the master or senior officer present on board a vessel shall comply immediately with all special instructions or orders issued by officers of the Army, Navy, or Coast Guard.

§ 10.24 Air raid signals. The air raid warning signals and the all clear signals shall be the signals prescribed by the responsible authorities of the States of Washington, Oregon, and California, and issued to civilian defense warning centers by the IV Fighter Command and such modifications as may hereafter be prescribed by the responsible authorities of the said States. The signals at this time are as follows:

(a) Yellow and blue warnings. The "yellow" warning and the "blue" warning are confidential preliminary caution warnings issued to civilian district warning centers by the IV Fighter Command. The yellow warning indicates the possibility of enemy attack in a specified area. The blue warning indicates the probability of enemy attact in a specified area. No public notice or alarm shall be given in respect to either the yellow or blue warnings, but these warnings shall be transmitted by civilian defense authorities to such persons as they deem necessary to insure proper preparation and precautions for defense.

(b) Air raid (red) warning shall mean a public notice or signal, conforming with the law applicable to the particular locality, requiring compliance with regulations governing precautions against possible enemy attack, either actual or assumed, within a specified area. Said public notice or signal shall be an audible signal of approximately two minutes duration, made by siren, whistle, horn or other audible device, consisting of a fluctuating or warbling sound of varying pitch or a succession of intermittent blasts of approximately five seconds duration separated by a succession of silent periods of approximately three seconds duration, arranged (so far as practicable) so as to be audible within all parts of the area of air raid alarm; but in any area where it is impracticable to use the form of signal specified herein, a different form of signal may be used in such areas and in such form as may be specified and permitted by or under the authority of the Governor (or the State Director of Civilian Defense of the State Defense Council).

(c) All clear signal shall mean a public notice or signal, conforming with the law applicable to the particular locality, indicating the termination of the requirement of compliance with regulations governing precautions against possible enemy attack, either actual or assumed, within a specified area. Said notice or signal shall be a continuous audible signal of approximately two minutes duration at a steady pitch, made by siren, whistle, horn or other audible device, arranged (so far as practicable) so as to be audible within all parts of the area to be affected thereby; but in any area where it is impracticable to use the form of signal specified herein, a different form of signal may be used in such areas and in such form as may be used in such areas and in such form as may be specified and permitted by or under the authority of the Governor (or the State Director of Civilian Defense of the State Defense Council).

§ 10.25 Duties on red signal. Except as otherwise specifically provided, the following regulations contained in §§ 10.26 to 10.32, inclusive, shall be observed upon the sounding of the air raid (red) signal and at all times that the air raid (red) signal is in effect.

§ 10.26 General rules for all vessels. Upon the sounding of the air raid (red) signal all vessels, whether under way, anchored, or moored, shall comply with Rules 1 to 14, inclusive, and all vessels in dry-dock shall comply with Rule 15, all as follows:

Rule 1. All bulkheads, watertight doors, ports, and side ports shall be secured to insure the watertight integrity of the vessel.

Rule 2. All vessels shall immediately blackout ship, except for navigation lights if underway and anchor lights if anchored. Anchor lights shall be shielded in such manner as to cut off the light at an angle not to exceed 15° above the horisontal. Navigation lights shall be dimmed so as to reduce visibility during air raids and blackouts to the minimum commensurate with safe operation, but not less than one mile.

Rule 3. Smoking, striking matches, using lighters, or otherwise showing unshielded lights shall not be permitted.

Rule 4. All possible precautions shall be taken to prevent smoke or exhaust vapor from being observed from above.

Rule 5. Crew members shall take predetermined posts. Fire stations shall be manned, hoses stretched, fire extinguishers and sand made available for immediate use and suittable personnel statfoned at all fire protection points.

Rule 6. A sufficient number of crew members shall be on board to handle fire fighting equipment and to move the vessel if this becomes necessary.

Rule 7. The crew, passengers, and any shore personnel on board the vessel shall be warned, by the sounding of the general alarm, or in other appropriate manner.

Rule 8. Life-boats shall be rigged overside, and all persons aboard shall don lifebelts and refrain from unnecessarily moving about the ship. This rule shall not apply to ferry boats or tugs, but on such vessels every reasonable precaution shall be taken.

Rule 9. No vessel shall anchor in any position which may obstruct the channel or any aids to navigation. Wherever possible, channels and fairways shall be kept clear of anchored vessels.

Rule 10. Wherever possible, vessels shall anchor at a distance of not less than 100 yards from the nearest vessel. Effort shall be made to avoid congestion at any anchorage. Sufficient space must be allowed to permit each vessel to swing free and clear from other anchored vessels with changes in the tide.

Rule 11. Except in cases of emergency, or where specially authorized to do so by Army, Navy, or Coast Guard Officers, no vessel shall get under way until the all clear (white) signal has been sounded.

Rule 12. Any vessel which requires immediate assistance because of air raid damage shall use the following signals:

By day. (a) International code signal "NC."

(b) Five short blasts of the ship's whistle at 30 second intervals: The ship's siren shall not be used.

By night. (a) International code signal "MC" by Morse lights.

(b) Five short blasts of the ship's whistle at 30 second intervals: The ship's siren shall not be used.

Rule 13. Vessels permitted to proceed shall do so at a reasonable speed, keeping closely to the right of the channel and maintaining a good lookout to insure against colliding with unlighted vessels. Whistles and other sound signals shall not be given unless necessary in cases of emergency to avoid collision.

Rule 14. The anti-aircraft gun crew shall be ready to go into action as directed by military authorities.

Rule 15. Vessels in dry-dock shall blackout completely, and all fire stations thereon shall be manned.

§ 10.27 Special rules for vessels under way. Upon the sounding of air raid (red) signal, vessels under way shall comply with the following Rules 16 to 24, inclusive:

Rule 16. Vessels proceeding in the channel shall swing to the right, stop, and come to anchor, if this is feasible. If possible, vessels shall anchor clear of the channel and clear of all aids to navigation.

Rule 17. Vessels proceeding in bays, sounds, or lakes shall stop and come to anchor to the right of the course the vessel was steering. If possible, vessels shall anchor clear of any moored vessels and all aids to navigation. If anchoring is not feasible, such vessels shall reduce speed in order to prevent a lengthy discernible wake being observed by attacking planes, and shall steer a zig-zag course if possible.

Rule 18. Vessels proceeding in a river or harbor in which anchoring is not feasible shall moor to the bank or to the nearest wharf. If such mooring is not feasible, they shall continue on their course at reduced speed.

Rule 19. In lieu of observing Rules 16, 17, or 18, ferryboats may proceed to their nearest slip at reduced speed if the same can be reached within 15 minutes.

Rule 20. In lieu of observing Rules 16, 17, or 18, tugs without tows shall proceed to the nearest suitable berth or may tie up to any anchored vessel or to any wharf, pier, or dock proceeding always to the right of the channel or their course, if feasible.

Rule 21. In lieu of observing Rules 16, 17, or 18, tugs with tows shall come to anchor to the right of and outside the channel or fairway is feasible. If anchoring is not feasible, such tugs and tows shall proceed at steering speed until such time as they reach a position which will permit them to anchor.

Rule 22. Vessels of all types approaching the entrance to harbors, bays, sounds, and lakes during the time an air raid (red) signal is in effect shall maneuver clear of such entrance and proceed in a direction away from the channel.

Rule 23. In addition to the requirements of Rule 2, the visibility of navigation lights shall be reduced to insure their not being seen horizontally from a distance of over one mile.

Rule 24. While blacked out no vessel shall overtake or pass any other vessel proceeding in the same direction, except in an emergency.

§ 10.28 Special rules for vessels at anchor. Upon the sounding of the air raid (red) signal, vessels at anchor shall comply with the following Rules 25 to 27, inclusive:

Rule 26. All loading or discharging activities shall cease immediately. Longshoremen working on a lighter at such vessel shall board the vessel.

Rule 27. Sufficient steam shall be maintained to enable the ship to be moved whenever necessary. Steam shall also be maintained for the operation of windlass, steering engine, and steam fire smothering lines.

§ 10.29 Special rules for vessels moored to piers or docks. Upon the sounding of the air raid (red) signal, vessels moored to piers or docks shall comply with the following Rules 28 to 33, inclusive:

Rule 28. All cargo handling shall cease. Vessels moored to piers or docks shall be made fast in such manner that mooring lines may quickly let go, if necessary.

Rule 29. Sufficient steam shall be maintained in the boilers to maneuver the vessel as required. If steam cannot be maintained, lines of sufficient strength shall be stretched to the shore and to the outer end of the wharf so that the vessel may be warped from her berth if required. If steam is not required for immediate use, dock and steam lines shall be closed with the exception of windlass, capstans, steering engine, and steam fire smothering lines.

Rule 30. The ship's officers and crew aboard shall cooperate with the air raid warden organizations on the pier or dock.

Rule 31. The hatch foreman shall:

(a) Arrange to cover open hatches after directing all men below decks to leave the hold to proceed to the head of the pier or dock, and shall with the assistance of the dockman, check the evacuation of these men.

(b) Notify the head foreman or assistant foreman of the evacuation of his men.

(c) See that accessibility to hatch ladders is maintained; when ladders are blocked off by cargo, two approved type portable ladders shall be provided.

Rule 32. The dockman, with the assistance of the hatch foreman, shall see that any cargo already lifted is landed; that the apron is clear; and that the winch levers are in neutral with power turned off.

§ 306.123 Freight brokerage. Subject to the provisions of §§ 306.121 and 306.122 (a), where the payment of brokerage is customary under ordinary commercial practice as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, and where the bill for brokerage is certified as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, brokerage will be paid to qualified brokers who render the usual and customary brokerage services in connection with the shipment of cargo on dry cargo, passenger, and collier vessels under the terms and conditions set forth in paragraphs (a) to (e), inclusive, of this section.

(a) Rates. Brokerage will be paid at the customary rates, but not in excess of the rates provided in this paragraph (a). No brokerage will be paid on cargoes procured under Lend-Lease requisitions moving from continental United States ports, except as provided in §§ 301.51 to 301.57, inclusive (General Order 38).

(1) General commercial cargo, commonly known as package cargo:

(i) For services rendered during the period January 1, 1944, to and including June 30, 1944: 1¼% of the base freight rates before all surcharges, war or otherwise;

(ii) For services rendered on and after July 1, 1944; 1¼% of the current freight rates.

(2) Sugar, metals, ores and bulk cargoes (including cargo owned by any department or agency of the Government, for the transportation of which a freight is paid) covered by bills of lading, charter party, or contract of affreightment, in the nearby trades, which includes Caribbean and Canadian: 1¼% of the base freight charges before all surcharges, war or otherwise; Provided, however, That brokerage shall not be paid on that portion of freight charges in excess of $5.00 per manifest ton;

In such cases brokerage shall not be paid unless it was the commercial practice of the berth operator to pay brokerage to forwarders in the trade route in 1939 for similar cargoes.

(2) In case of brokers who do not also perform a forwarding service in connection with the cargo, the term "ordinary commercial practice" shall refer to the commercial practice of the particular trade involved during the calendar year 1939, or a prior year as provided below, and no commercial practice justifying payment of brokerage in such cases shall be deemed to exist unless the particular shipper, charterer, or consignee involved used the facilities of brokers on the predominant portion of cargo shipped by him in 1939 or in a prior year in which he made substantial shipments, if there were no substantial shipments made by him in 1939. A shipper, charterer, or consignee who was not engaged in business in 1939 or prior years must obtain the approval of the Director of Traffic, War Shipping Administration, before utilizing the facilities of a broker.

(c) Qualified broker. A "qualified broker" is one who conducts a bona fide brokerage business, and meets the requirements of paragraph (b). No broker shall be qualified as to:

(2) Any cargo in which he has a financial interest other than as authorized herein;

(3) Any cargo shipped by or to or on behalf of any person, firm, or corporation which bears an affiliate relationship to such broker either as subsidiary, parent, or through any other means of actual or possible control, directly or indirectly;

(4) Any cargo carried on any vessel for which the agent or sub-agent of the War Shipping Administration is also the broker or bears an affiliate relationship to the broker, as defined in paragraph (c) (3) of this section.

(5) Any cargo shipped by a shipper, charterer, or consignee for whom the broker did not act as broker for similar cargoes during 1939, or a prior year, or is not approved by the Director of Traffic as provided in paragraph (b) (2).

(6) Any situation where the brokerage relationship in 1939 was based upon brokerage earned in connection with procuring time chartered vessels for utilization by shipper except where specially qualified by the Administrator as a broker by reason of such relationship.

(d) Brokerage certificate. Brokerage fees as provided in paragraph (a) of this section may be paid only where a brokerage bill is presented, certified as follows:

Certified and warranted (1) that the undersigned (a) has rendered the usual and customary brokerage services in connection with the shipments covered by this bill, (b) has not been compensated for the brokerage services from any other source, (c) is a qualified and bona fide broker within the meaning of § 306.123 of General Order 45 of the War Shipping Administration, and (d) the amounts billed are true and correct and are due and payable to him pursuant to said § 306.123; and (2) that no portion of any amount paid hereunder shall revert directly or indirectly to any person having or having had a financial interest in this shipment; and (3) that the broker does not have an affiliate relationship, which includes but is not limited to relationship as a subsidiary or parent company, with either the shipper or the consignee; or with either the Agent, General Agent, or Berth Agent for the vessel; and (4) that the above brokerage services are rendered pursuant to an agreement which is subject to and includes all applicable clauses set out in § 306.112 of General Order 42, adopted by the War Shipping Administration on April 17, 1944 (published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 18, 1944), all such clauses, to the extent that the same are applicable, being expressly incorporated by this reference, and shall have the same force and effect as if herein fully set forth. This warranty is made in full knowledge that the United States, or its General Agents, Agents, or Berth Agents, will make payment in reliance thereon.

(e) Payment. The General Agent, Agent, or Berth Agent acting for the War Shipping Administration shall make payment against brokerage bills so certified if the payment of brokerage is consistent with customary commercial practice as defined in paragraph (b), but in no event shall more than one brokerage be paid on any one cargo or shipment.

§ 306.124 Commissions on fares. General Agents, Agents, and Berth Agents are authorized to pay in all trades to bona fide travel or tourist agents a commission of 5% on fares paid by or for passengers traveling for private or commercial account. No commission shall be allowed on fares paid by or for repatriated seamen traveling as passengers.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 7—RULES GOVERNING COASTAL AND MARINE RELAY SERVICES

COASTAL HARBOR RADIOTELEPHONE STATIONS IN GREAT LAKES AREA

The Commission on June 20, 1944 took the following action, effective July 1, 1944:

Amended § 7.34 to read:

§ 7.34 Identification of radiotelephone station. The name (geographical location as approved by the Commission) of a coastal harbor station shall be announced upon the completion of each communication with any other station and at the conclusion of each transmission made for any other purpose.

Amended paragraphs (b) and (c) of § 7.38 Operating procedure for coastal harbor radiotelephone stations in the Great Lakes area only, to read:

(b) Each coastal harbor station licensed to transmit on one or more frequencies within the band 2500–2600 kilocycles shall maintain, during its hours of service, an efficient [a] watch for the reception of A–3 emission (telephony) on the frequency 2182 kilocycles. In addition, a coastal harbor station may maintain, continuously during its hours of service, a supplemental watch on 2158 kilocycles to receive calls from ship stations in accordance with the provisions of § 7.38 (c) of this port.

(c) Except as hereinafter provided,[b] each coastal harbor station shall initially call or answer ship stations on the frequency 2182 kilocycles whenever it is desired to establish communication on any working frequency or frequencies within the band 1600–3000 kilocycles. When a coastal harbor station and a ship station have established communication on the frequency 2182 kilocycles, the coastal harbor station thereafter shall direct the ship station when to begin transmission on the working frequency, with due regard to the avoidance of interference with any communication already in progress. Without regard to the foregoing limitation, a coastal harbor station may initially call, on a working frequency within the band 1600–3000 kilocycles, ship stations of the United States whenever type A–2 or special emission is used by the coastal harbor station in transmitting the call for the purpose of actuating an automatic selective ringer installed on board the ship being called; and when specifically authorized [c] by the Commission to do so, may answer on 2550 kilocycles calls initiated by ship stations on 2158 kilocycles: Provided, That the foregoing requirements shall in no way limit or delay the handling of distress or emergency communications.

[c] Request made to the Commission for such authorization must be accompanied by a detailed description of the technical means employed to maintain simultaneously an efficient watch for the reception of A–3 emission (telephony) on both 2182 and 2158 kilocycles. For this purpose the watch on either of these frequencies will not be deemed "efficient" unless the coastal station is capable of normally receiving A–3 emission from ship stations while the coastal station is transmitting on any other authorized frequency or frequencies; for example, the coastal station must be capable of normal reception on 2158 kilocycles while normally transmitting on 2182 kilocycles.

(b) Each ship telephone station licensed to transmit on one or more frequencies within the band 2100–2200 kilocycles or 2734–2742 kilocycles shall maintain, during its hours of service, an efficient watch for the reception of A–3 emission (telephony) on the frequency 2182 kilocycles whenever it is not engaged in communication on other frequencies.

(e)[a] Whenever a ship station intends to communicate with a coastal harbor station by transmitting on any working frequency within the band 2100–2200 kilocycles, the ship station shall initially call or answer the coastal harbor station on the frequency 2182 kilocycles. Except as hereinafter provided, the ship station may transmit on 2118 or 2158 kilocycles only when directed to do so by the coastal harbor station. Without regard to the foregoing limitation, a ship station may initially call [b] on the frequency 2158 kilocycles a coastal harbor station in the United States which has been authorized [c] by the Commission to answer calls from ship stations transmitted initially on 2158 kilocycles. Calling any one station on 2158 kilocycles shall not exceed one minute in duration. If the called station has not answered at the end of the one-minute period, that station shall not again be called until at least 15 minutes have elapsed. The foregoing requirements shall in no way limit or delay the handling of distress or emergency communications.

Amended § 8.222 Radio log during hours of service, paragraph (d), subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4), to read:

(2) An entry shall be made for each complete exchange of communications with any station, stating the approximate geographical location of the vessel, the call letters or the name of the station communicated with, the time of the communication, the nature of the messages or signals exchanged, and designation of the transmitting frequencies.

(3) All test transmissions shall be entered, including designation of the transmitting frequency, together with the time of commencement and completion of such transmissions and the approximate geographical location of the vessel, without regard to whether two-way communication with any other station is established.

(4) All distress calls, urgent and safety signals made or intercepted; the complete text, if possible, of distress messages and distress communication; and any incidents or occurrences which may appear to be of importance to safety of life or property at sea, shall be entered, together with the time of such observation of occurrence, designation of the frequency on which such transmissions were received, and the position of the ship or other mobile unit in need of assistance, if it can be determined.

Chapter II—Office of Defense Transportation

[General Order ODT 44]

RATIONING OF NEW COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES

General outline. This order regulates the transfer of new commercial motor vehicles within the continental United States and the territories and possessions of the United States.

The order provides that no person shall transfer or accept transfer of any new commercial motor vehicle unless such transfer has been authorized by a certificate of transfer issued by the Office of Defense Transportation. Included within the scope of the order are sales, leases, trades, loans, gifts, and other methods by which title or possession of a new commercial motor vehicle is transferred from one person to another. The definition of "new commercial motor vehicle" includes vehicles of the following types: trucks, truck chassis, truck-tractors, off-the-highway motor vehicles, full-trailers and semi-trailers having a load carrying capacity of 10,000 pounds or more, ambulances, hearses, bus chassis, station wagons, carry-all suburbans, sedan deliveries, utility sedans, coupes fitted with pickup boxes, and cab pick-ups, but does not include taxicabs and integral type buses.

An application for a certificate of transfer is required to be in writing, on a form provided by the Office of Defense Transportation, and submitted to the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation nearest to the home office or principal place of business of the applicant. In the case of a department or agency of the United States, the application is to be submitted direct to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C.

Provision is made for the issuance of government exemption permits to certain named government agencies and, upon the request of the Foreign Economic Administration, to private persons for the purpose of exporting new commercial motor vehicles.

A certificate of transfer for a new commercial motor vehicle will be issued only for a specific use included within a "Usage Classification List for New Commercial Motor Vehicles" contained in an appendix to the order, and when it appears that the transfer of the new vehicle is necessary to the war effort or to the maintenance of essential civilian economy and that the vehicle will be devoted, without undue delay, to such use or uses in the business of the applicant and within the area as indicated in the application. A certificate of transfer will not be issued unless it is found to be consistent with the available supply of new commercial motor vehicles.

Manufacturers, distributors, and dealers who acquire new commercial motor vehicles for the purpose of resale and not for use, are not required to have certificates of transfer for such acquisitions, and certain named government agencies are permitted to acquire new commercial motor vehicles under government exemption permits. Special provision is made for the issuance of certificates of transfer and government exemption permits in respect of vehicles (local passenger transportation equipment) subject to General Order ODT 35. (8 F.R. 3451)

A manufacturer or sales agency which has in stock a new commercial motor vehicle of the type specified in a certificate or permit is required to transfer such vehicle upon presentation of such certificate of transfer or government exemption permit, provided certain stated conditions are met.

Notification to the Office of Defense Transportation of all transfers made pursuant to certificates of transfer or exemption permits is required.

The order also provides that a new commercial motor vehicle which has been transferred pursuant to a certificate of transfer, for the purpose of transporting property, shall not, within 6 months after such transfer, be transferred to any other person or converted to any other use than that for which the certificate of transfer was issued, without the written prior approval of the Office of Defense Transportation. An exception to this restriction is made in favor of a transfer of possession of a vehicle for transporting property where possession under the transfer is for a period not in excess of 10 days.

Persons affected by the order are required to preserve, for a period of not less than 2 years, records concerning inventories and transfers of new commercial motor vehicles. Such records are to be made available for examination and inspection by accredited representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Certificates of transfer and government exemption permits, heretofore issued by the War Production Board pursuant to General Conservation Order M-100, as amended (7 F.R. 1632, 4030, 5705), which by their terms will not expire until a date on or after the effective date of this order, are continued in effect in accordance with their respective terms.

This general outline shall not be construed to alter the meaning of any provision contained in the order.

The text of General Order ODT 44 follows:

Pursuant to the Act of May 31, 1941, as amended by the Second War Powers Act, 1942, Executive Orders 8989, as amended, 9156, 9214 and 9294, War Production Board Directives 21 and 36, and in order to conserve and providently utilize vital transportation equipment, material, and supplies; and to provide for the prompt and continuous movement of necessary traffic, the attainment of which purposes is essential to the successful prosecution of the war; and being satisfied that the fulfillment of the requirements for the defense of the United States has resulted and will result in a shortage in the supply of new commercial motor vehicles for defense, for private use and for export, and it being deemed necessary in the public interest and to promote the national defense, to ration or allocate new commercial motor vehicles, it is hereby ordered, that:

The following classification of new commercial motor vehicles on the basis of use applies to light, medium and heavy trucks, truck-tractors, trailers, and chassis thereof. [Administrative Order ODT 27]

PART 503—ADMINISTRATION

RATIONING OF NEW COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES

General outline. This Administrative Order ODT 27 supplements General Order ODT 44, which governs the allocation or rationing of new commercial motor vehicles and which prohibits, with certain exceptions, the transfer of a new commercial motor vehicle except under a certificate of transfer issued by the Office of Defense Transportation. This administrative order establishes the procedure that will be followed upon the filing of an application for a certificate of transfer with the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation nearest to the home office or principal place of business of the applicant.

A district manager to whom an application for a certificate of transfer is submitted may, after making such investigation as is necessary, either disapprove the application or forward it to Washington with his recommendation of approval. The standards which govern a district manager in his determination are prescribed. If the district manager disapproves an application, the applicant may appeal to a local appeal board which may either affirm or reverse the district manager's decision. In case of reversal, the local appeal board will forward the application to Washington with its recommendation of approval. The final decision on each application is made by the Assistant Director of the Office of Defense Transportation in charge of the Highway Transport Department.

Limitations upon the filing of a new application after disapproval of an original application are prescribed.

This administrative order also prescribes the procedure to be followed by a person who, having acquired a new commercial motor vehicle, pursuant to a certificate of transfer, for the purpose of transporting property, seeks the approval of the Office of Defense Transportation to transfer such vehicle within 6 months after its acquisition. Applications for such approval and appeals in connection therewith are to be handled under the terms of this administrative order in the same general manner as applications for certificates of transfer.

This general outline shall not be construed to alter the meaning of any provision contained in the order.

The text of Administrative Order ODT 27 follows:

Pursuant to the Act of May 31, 1941, as amended by the Second War Powers Act, 1942, Executive Orders 8989, as amended, 9156, 9214 and 9294, and War Production Board Directives 21 and 36, and in order to regulate transfers of new commercial motor vehicles for which prior authority is required by General Order ODT 44, It is hereby ordered, That:

AUTHORITY: §§ 503.470 to 503.478, inclusive, issued under the Act of May 30, 1941, as amended by the Second War Powers Act, 1942, 56 Stat. 176, 50 U. S. Code, Secs. 631 through 645a; E.O. 8989, as amended, 6 F.R. 6725, 8 F.R. 14153; E.O. 9156, 7 F.R. 3349; E.O. 9214, 7 F.R. 9007; E.O. 9294, 8 F.R. 221; War Production Board Directives 21 and 36, 8 F.R. 5994, 9 F.R. 6969.

§ 503.470 Application for certificate of transfer. (a) An application for a certificate of transfer shall be made on the form prescribed and provided by the Office of Defense Transportation, except that existing supplies of Form WPB-663 may be used until September 1, 1944.

(b) An application shall consist of an original and 3 exact copies, including any supporting data; and a separate application must be filed for each vehicle.

(c) If the applicant is an individual, the application should be signed by him. If the applicant is a partnership, the names of all partners should be stated and the application should be signed by one partner. If an individual or a partnership does business under a trade name, such trade name should also be stated in the application. If the applicant is a corporation, the exact corporate name should be stated, and the application should be executed by an authorized official of the corporation.

§ 503.471 Consideration of application by district manager. (a) The district manager to whom an application is submitted may refer the application to another district manager for advice or handling.

(b) Upon receipt of an application the district manager without undue delay shall make any necessary investigation and shall either recommend approval of the application or shall disapprove it. If the district manager recommends approval of the application, he shall forward it to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C. If the district manager disapproves the application, he shall return to the applicant the original so marked, with a letter stating briefly the grounds of disapproval and outlining the appeal procedure.

(c) The district manager shall recommend approval of an application only upon a determination by him that the new commercial motor vehicle will be devoted, without undue delay, to the use or uses directly related and necessary to the war effort or to the maintenance of essential civilian economy, in the business of the applicant and within the area, as indicated in the application. In making a determination under this § 503.471, the district manager shall be governed by the "Usage Classification List for New Commercial Motor Vehicles" as reproduced in Appendix 1 to General Order ODT 44, or as it may be amended from time to time; shall consider the number of available new commercial motor vehicles of the type covered by the application; and shall be assured:

(1) That the applicant could not fill its needs by leasing available vehicles of others, by pooling its present vehicles with those of other operators, by purchasing a used vehicle, or by utilizing the services of other operators; and

(2) That the applicant could not transfer some of its present vehicles now being used for less essential purposes to the use for which it is now requesting the new vehicle; and

(3) That if the new vehicle is to be used for replacement, the vehicle to be replaced is incapable of being repaired to serve the applicant's purpose.

§ 503.472 Appeal from decision of district manager; local appeal boards. (a) Local appeal boards shall be established to consider appeals from decisions of district managers, as provided in this order. Each local appeal board will consist of three members appointed by the Office of Defense Transportation, no one of whom shall be a district manager or a member of a district manager's staff.

(b) Local appeal boards heretofore established by the Office of Defense Transportation to hear and determine appeals pursuant to War Production Board General Conservation Order M-100, as amended (7 F. R. 1632, 4030, 5705), are hereby established as local appeal boards under this Administrative Order ODT 27, and are authorized to consider appeals filed pursuant to this order.

(c) Any applicant who is aggrieved by the action of a district manager in disapproving an application for a certificate of transfer, or in disapproving an application for approval of a subsequent transfer made under § 503.475 of this order, may file an appeal from such decision with the local appeal board within 30 days after such decision is made. The appeal shall be in writing and shall state in full the facts upon which the appeal is based and the reasons why it is believed that the decision of the district manager is inconsistent with the provisions of this order. The applicant may submit to the local appeal board such additional data as is deemed requisite to support the appeal. The appeal and supporting data should be submitted in duplicate.

(d) The local appeal board will consider the appeal with or without hearing in the discretion of the local appeal board. If the local appeal board denies the appeal, the original application will be returned to the applicant accompanied by an appropriate notification from the local appeal board. No further appeal will be allowed. If the local appeal board allows the appeal, the application will be forwarded to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25. D. C.

(e) Communications in regard to an appeal should be addressed to Local Appeal Board, Office of Defense Transportation, in care of the district manager with whom the original application was filed.

§ 503.473 Issuance of certificate of transfer. A certificate of transfer will be issued by the Assistant Director, Office of Defense Transportation, in charge of the Highway Transport Department when recommended by the district manager or local appeal board in connection with a proper application and if it appears that the allocation of the applicant of the new commercial motor vehicle applied for will be consistent with the provisions of General Order ODT 44, including the available supply of such vehicles; otherwise he will disapprove the application and so notify the applicant. The decision of the Assistant Director shall be final.

§ 503.474 Filing of new application after disapproval of original application. (a) After an application for a certificate of transfer has been disapproved by a district manager, the applicant may file a new application for a new commercial motor vehicle for the same usage not earlier than 3 months after the date of the disapproval of the original application by the district manager.

(b) If the applicant has appealed to a local appeal board and the appeal has been denied, the applicant may file such new application not earlier than 3 months after the date of the notification of the denial by the local appeal board.

(c) If the district manager or local appeal board recommends approval of the application, but it is subsequently disapproved by the Assistant Director, the applicant may file such new application not earlier than 3 months after the date of the disapproval by the Assistant Director.

(d) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this § 503.474, an application may be reconsidered by the district manager, the local appeal board, or the Assistant Director, at any time prior to the expiration of such respective 3 months' periods, provided that additional data are submitted which have substantial bearing on the merits of the application, and a reasonable explanation is given why such additional data were not previously submitted.

(e) In construing this § 503.474, an application shall be considered as being a new application for a new commercial motor vehicle for the same usage if it appears from an examination thereof that the proposed usage as stated therein is substantially the same as that stated in the original application; a change in the place where the vehicle is to be used or any change or substitution in the make, model, gross vehicle weight, or capacity of the vehicle will not of itself be considered to be a substantial change in usage.

§ 503.475 Approval of subsequent transfer; appeals. (a) Whenever written application for approval of a subsequent transfer is filed with a district manager pursuant to § 501.426 of General Order ODT 44, the district manager may require the applicant to submit reasonable proof of statements made in support of the application, and may make such investigation as may be reasonably necessary for proper disposition of the application. The district manager will approve the application only when it appears that the vehicle sought to be transferred will be devoted, without undue delay, to a use or uses directly related and necessary to the war effort or to the maintenance of essential civilian economy, and upon such showing will issue in the field a written approval of the transfer. In the absence of such showing the district manager shall disapprove the application and so notify the applicant in writing and advise him of the appeal procedure.

(b) An appeal from a disapproval of a district manager of an application for approval of a subsequent transfer may be made to a local appeal board as provided in § 503.472 of this order. If the appeal board allows the appeal, the final decision as to whether the subsequent transfer will be approved will be made by the Assistant Director.

§ 503.476 Delegation of authority. The authority conferred by this administrative order upon the Assistant Director, Office of Defense Transportation, in charge of the Highway Transport Department, may be delegated by him to such member or members of his staff as he may designate.

§ 503.477 Definitions. As used herein:

(a) "Assistant Director" means the Assistant Director, Office of Defense Transportation, in charge of the Highway Transport Department.

(b) Any term that is defined in General Order ODT 44, or as it may be amended, shall have the meaning specified therefor in § 501.432 (Definitions) of General Order ODT 44.

§ 503.478 Communications. Communications concerning this order should refer to Administrative Order ODT 27, and should be addressed to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C., or to the nearest district office of the Office of Defense Transportation.

This Administrative Order ODT 27 shall become effective July 1, 1944.

NOTE: The recording and reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of June 1944.

POWER-DRIVEN WOODWORKING MACHINES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Notice of proposed amendment to Hazardous Occupations Order No. 5.

Whereas, the Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, issued Hazardous-Occupations Order No. 5 effective August 1, 1941 (6 F.R. 3149), and amended effective November 13, 1942 (7 F.R. 9286), and February 18, 1944 (9 F.R. 1903) providing that the occupations of operating power-driven woodworking machines, setting up, adjusting, repairing, oiling or cleaning such machines, and the occupations of offbearing from a circular saw or guillotine-action veneer clipper, excepting certain specified occupations, are particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between the ages of 16 and 18, and

Whereas, the Chief of the Children's Bureau has been petitioned for amendment of this order with respect to certain occupations in the manufacture of veneer fruit and vegetable baskets, hampers or crates, and

Whereas, a supplementary investigation reveals, and the War Manpower Commission, the War Production Board, and the War Food Administration have advised the Chief of the Children's Bureau, that critical shortages of labor exist in the manufacture of veneer fruit and vegetable baskets, hampers, and crates, which are limiting the production of these items needed in wartime food production, and

Whereas, such supplementary investigation also reveals that the occupations included in the request for amendment are not as highly hazardous as other occupations covered by such order, and

Whereas, it appears that the manufacture of veneer fruit and vegetable baskets and crates needed in wartime food production will be aided by the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age in such occupations, and

Whereas, the Chief of the Children's Bureau proposes to issue an order in the form set forth below amending Hazardous-Occupations Order No. 5 by adding paragraph (f) to § 422.5 of such order,

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given to all interested persons of the opportunity to show cause within ten days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER why the Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., should not promulgate the order proposed herein. All objections, protests, or statements in opposition to or in support of the proposed order should be addressed to the Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

Section 422.5 of Part 422 of Chapter IV, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby amended so as to include the following paragraph, to be designated as paragraph (f):

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) hereof, during the continuance of the present war and for six months after the termination thereof, unless terminated prior thereto by order of the Chief of the Children's Bureau, this order shall not apply to the occupations of operating nailing, stapling, wire stitching, fastening or assembling machines used in the manufacture of veneer fruit and vegetable baskets, hampers, or crates.

This amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: June 26, 1944.

Whereas, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor by order dated May 4, 1944 and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 10, 1944 (9 F.R. 4952) extended to June 26, 1944 the effective date of the provisions in the wage order for and the regulations applicable to industrial home work employment in the embroideries industry; and

FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION.

[Case 20]

A. JOHN BITTSON ENGINEERING CO., ET AL.

DECISION AND ORDER ON APPEAL

In the matter of Anthony John Bittson, A. John Bittson Engineering Co., and World Distributors Corporation.

Pursuant to Part 807 of the regulations adopted under section 6 of the Act of July 2, 1940, as amended, the Trade Intelligence Division of the Office of Exports, Office of Economic Warfare (now Trade Intelligence Section of the Operations Division of the Requirements and Supply Branch, Bureau of Supplies, Foreign Economic Administration) by letter dated September 20, 1943, charged Anthony John Bittson, A. John Bittson Engineering Company, and World Distributors Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "appellants") with violations of section 6 of the Act of July 2, 1904, as amended, and the regulations adopted pursuant thereto. The appellants filed a written answer to said charges under date of October 2, 1943, and the matter came on for oral hearing before Kelly Kash, Compliance Commissioner for the Administration, on October 4, 1943. It was stipulated by counsel for the Office of Exports and counsel for the appellants at the time of hearing that, in lieu of oral testimony, the case should be submitted to Commissioner upon affidavits. On October 15, 1943, the Office of Exports submitted an affidavit to the Commissioner executed by an attorney in the Export Division of the General Counsel's Office, Office of Economic Warfare, together with certain exhibits, and on October 27, 1943, an answering affidavit was filed by Anthony John Bittson on behalf of the appellants.

The Compliance Commissioner received such affidavits and exhibits and, after due consideration of the record, on the 18th day of February, 1944, filed his findings of fact and recommendations in this matter.

The Compliance Commissioner found that the appellants had violated Section 6 of the Act of July 2, 1940, as amended, and the regulations adopted pursuant thereto, and, on the second day of March, 1944, Walter Freedman, Deputy Director, Requirements and Supply Branch, Bureau of Supplies, Foreign Economic Administration, upon consideration of the record, findings of fact, and recommendation of the Compliance Commissioner in the matter, issued an order denying to appellants and any person, association, or organization acting in their behalf or for their account, the privilege of obtaining individual or any other type of export license, or release certificate, authorizing any exportation whatsoever from the United States until and including June 30, 1944, and revoking all presently outstanding export licenses issued to the said appellants, or any of them.

The appellants have duly filed a written appeal from said order to the undersigned, Director of the Requirements and Supply Branch, Bureau of Supplies, Foreign Economic Administration. The undersigned, having reviewed the record, findings of fact, conclusions and recommendations of the Compliance Commissioner in this matter, and having given due consideration to the grounds set forth in the appellants' appeal, finds that the facts and conclusions of the Commissioner are supported by the record and that the order issued pursuant thereto on March 2, 1944, by Walter Freedman, Deputy Director, Requirements and Supply Branch, Bureau of Supplies, Foreign Economic Administration, was proper and ought not be modified.

The claim of the appellants set forth in their appeal is that the proof submitted by the Office of Exports was insufficient to support the conclusion and the recommendation of the Compliance Commission and the order issued by the Deputy Director. This charge of insufficiency is predicated largely upon the fact that the affidavit on behalf of the Office of Exports was made by an attorney in the Office of General Counsel who, the appellants assert, had no personal knowledge of the facts, and that the statements contained in this affidavit constitute conclusions unsupported by any evidence. An examination of the affidavit filed on behalf of the Office of Exports clearly indicates that the statements made therein were predicated upon representations made by the appellants in the application for export license on which the charges were predicated, and there were sufficient factual bases from these official records and the other exhibits filed by the Office of Exports to support the findings of fact and conclusions reached by the Compliance Commissioner. The mere fact that the exhibits on which both the Compliance Commissioner and the Deputy Director relied were not formally incorporated as part of the affidavit of the Office of Exports is immaterial. Both counsel for the appellants and the Compliance Commissioner have referred to the relevant exhibits in documents forming part of the record, and they were treated by both sides as a part of the record and have been so treated upon consideration of this appeal.

The principal charge against the appellants under which these proceedings arose involved the exportation to Portugal of 220,880 pounds of black steel sheets. It appears from the report of the Compliance Commissioner that, on July 14, 1942, World Distributors Corporation by A. John Bittson, its president and sole stockholder, filed an application with the Board of Economic Warfare for a shipment of 221,000 pounds of black steel sheets to Portugal reciting an approximate selling price, f. a. s. New York, of $6,550, with a unit value of $2.81 per 100 pounds plus a 5% exporter's premium. One of the exhibits filed in this case is a photostatic copy of an invoice submitted by World Distributors Corporation at the time of shipment which indicates a unit price of $11.50 per 100 pounds and a total sale price of $25,401.20, f. a. s. New York. On the appeal, the appellants admit that the amount stated in this invoice was endorsed over the signature of A. John Bittson as representing the true selling price. An attempt, however, has been made to argue that the price stated in this invoice was not the true selling price. Mr. Bittson's affidavit attempts to explain that $11,050 of the total "was applied as a credit to Canha & Formigal Lda. (the claimed purchaser) for their subsequent use in this country in connection with future purchase or otherwise" and also that the further discrepancy was attributable to "various charges" on the shipment. Although the appellants were given full opportunity to explain this discrepancy the only explanations offered were these vague statements. The appellants' affidavit makes reference to an original order and cablegram from the purchaser, but neither of these documents have been offered or submitted by the appellants. From an examination of the whole record, I am convinced that the actual selling price of these steel sheets was far in excess of the maximum ceiling price permitted under Office of Price Administration regulations and that the exportation constituted a violation of § 801.5 of the regulations promulgated pursuant to section 6 of the Act of July 2, 1940. In view of this conclusion it is unnecessary to consider the further charge that these steel sheets were, in fact, exported to a person not named in the license.

Now therefore, it is determined and ordered that the said order of the Deputy Director, Requirements and Supply Branch, Bureau of Supplies, Foreign Economic Administration, denying to the appellants and any person, association, or organization acting in their behalf and for their account, the privilege of obtaining individual or any other type of export license or release certificate and the use of any general or other type of export license authorizing any exportation whatsoever from the United States until and including June 30, 1944, and revoking all presently outstanding export licenses issued to the said appellants, or any of them, is affirmed.

NORTHERN STATES POWER CO. (DEL.) AND NORTHERN STATES POWER CO. (MINN.)

ORDER PERMITTING JOINT DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 23d day of June 1944.

Northern States Power Company (Delaware), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Northern States Power Company (Minnesota), also a registered holding company, having filed a joint declaration pursuant to section 12 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rule U-45 of the general rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, regarding a proposal to continue the postponement of the payment of $806,517.09, the balance of the installments on the principal of the open account indebtedness (now in the amount of $7,530,852.08) owing by Northern States Power Company (Delaware) to Northern States Power Company (Minnesota), until December 31, 1944, because a plan, as amended, filed by Northern States Power Company (Delaware) pursuant to section 11 (e) of said act for its liquidation and dissolution, the proceedings on which are still pending, provides for the disposition of said indebtedness primarily by the surrender by Northern States Power Company (Minnesota) of 481,111 shares of the common stock of the last mentioned company (all of which is owned by Northern States Power Company (Delaware) and for a distribution of the remaining shares of the common stock of Northern States Power Company (Minnesota) among the stockholders of Northern States Power Company (Delaware), and because a reduction in the indebtedness would necessitate an alteration in the allocations proposed by the plan and serve no useful purpose; Northern States Power Company (Minnesota) agrees that, pending the consummation of the plan, as amended, and until December 31, 1944, or the date of such consummation (whichever shall be earlier), it will continue to segregate on its books $806,517.09 of its earned surplus as not being available for the declaration of dividends on its common stock; declarants further request that Northern States Power Company (Minnesota) be permitted to waive all interest due on said indebtedness for the period from June 30, 1944 to December 31, 1944;

Said joint declaration having been duly filed on May 25, 1944, and notice of said filing having been duly given in the manner and form prescribed by Rule U-23 under said act and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said declaration within the period specified within such notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding that all applicable statutory requirements are met and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to permit said declaration to become effective;

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act and to the agreement with respect to earned surplus set forth in said joint declaration, that said declaration be and the same is hereby permitted to become effective forthwith: Provided, however, That nothing contained in this order shall be construed as constituting a determination by us of the propriety of the disposition of the open account indebtedness as proposed in the aforementioned plan.

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

WHITE-FRINGED BEETLE ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS MODIFIED; TREATMENTS AUTHORIZED

Introductory note. A reconsideration of all available data has shown that the present schedules for methyl bromide fumigation under partial vacuum for the treatment of plants in pots or in soil balls can be safely reduced to a lower level so as to minimize the hazard to plants so treated. Administrative instructions as to this type of treatment of potted or balled plants, as specified in Circular B. E. P. Q. 503, Fifth Revision, which became effective March 27, 1944, are hereby revised accordingly. Treatments by means of methyl bromide fumigation at atmospheric pressures or in solution, as authorized in said circular, remain unchanged.

All authorized treatments are now set forth in the above circular and in the current supplement.

Pursuant to the authority conferred upon the Chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine by paragraph (a) of § 301.72-5, Chapter III, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations (Regulation 5 of Notice of Quarantine No. 72 on account of the white-fringed beetle), subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a) of § 301.72-5c (Circular B.E.P.Q. 503, Fifth Revision) is hereby modified effective July 1, 1944, to read as follows:

§ 301.72-5c[1] Administrative instructions; treatments authorized—(a) Plants in pots or in soil balls. • • •

(2) Methyl bromide fumigation under partial vacuum. (i) Fumigation under partial vacuum equivalent to at least 24.5 inches of mercury may be done with dosage schedules as prescribed below. The vacuum shall be maintained during the entire period. The period of fumigation shall be 1½ hours in all instances.

Soil temperature at least (° F.)	Dosage per 1000 cubic feet (Pounds)
65	2.5
70	2.25

(ii) The soil masses shall not be more than 16 inches in least diameter.

(iii) The soil shall not be puddled or saturated and must be in a condition which in the judgment of the inspector is suitable for fumigation.

(iv) The fumigant-air mixture shall be circulated in the fumigation chamber by means of a fan the first 15 minutes of the exposure period to mix the vaporized fumigant thoroughly with the air in the chamber and to bring it in contact with the surface of the soil balls. The soil balls shall be washed with one or more changes of air at the end of the exposure period.

(v) A standard vacuum fumigation chamber that can be closed tight and will withstand an external pressure of at least one atmosphere is required. A vacuum pump of sufficient capacity to reduce the pressure within the vacuum chamber to the equivalent of 3 inches of mercury (a 27-inch vacuum at sea level) in not more than 20 minutes is necessary.

• • • • •

The following paragraph concerning the effects of methyl bromide, as quoted from Circular B. E. P. Q. 503, Fifth Revision, are brought forward as a precaution to persons concerned.

(e) Disclaimer. There has not been opportunity to test these treatments on all varieties of plants or produce and in authorizing the movement of potted plants, nursery stock, soil, or produce treated according to the requirements stated above, it is understood that no liability shall attach either to the United States Department of Agriculture or to any of its employees in the event of injury to plants, produce, or operators.

(f) Caution—(1) Methyl bromide. (i) Methyl bromide is a gas at ordinary temperatures. It is colorless and practically odorless in concentrations used for fumigation of plants or potting soil. It is a poison and the operators should use gas masks approved by the United States Bureau of Mines for use with methyl bromide, when exposed to the gas in concentrations used in fumigation, or while preparing the solution. The plants in the fumigation chamber should be well aerated by blowing air through them, and the room adequately ventilated before it is entered. After fumigating the potting soil by methyl bromide the cover should be removed and the soil allowed to become aerated.

(ii) The method for application of methyl bromide described in paragraph (a) provides a closed system in which the operator is not exposed to a dangerous concentration of the gas provided there is no leakage in any exposed portion of the equipment. Extreme care should be exercised to keep all joints of such apparatus tight and replace any defective parts to prevent accident. The operator should avoid getting any liquid methyl bromide on his clothing or his body at any time.

[T. D. 5361]

RETURNS BY ORGANIZATIONS EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

In order to conform Regulations 111 (Part 29, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, Cum. Supp.) to section 117 of the Revenue Act of 1943 (Public Law 235, 78th Congress), enacted February 25, 1944, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.54–1 the following:

SEC. 117. RETURNS BY ORGANIZATIONS EXEMPT FROM TAXATION. (Revenue Act of 1943, Title I.)

(a) In general. Section 54 (relating to records and special returns) is amended by inserting after subsection (e) the following:

(f) Every organization, except as hereinafter provided, exempt from taxation under section 101 shall file an annual return, which shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury, stating specifically the items of gross income, receipts, and disbursements, and such other information for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this chapter as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may by regulations prescribe, and shall keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such other returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may from time to time prescribe. No such annual return need be filed under this subsection by any organization exempt from taxation under the provisions of section 101—

(1) which is a religious organization exempt under section 101 (6); or

(2) which is an educational organization exempt under section 101 (6), if such organization normally maintains a regular faculty and curriculum and normally has a regularly organized body of pupils or students in attendance at the place where its educational activities are regularly carried on; or

(3) which is a charitable organization, or an organization for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, exempt under section 101 (6), if such organization is supported, in whole or in part, by funds contributed by the United States or any State or political subdivision thereof, or is primarily supported by contributions of the general public; or

(4) which is an organization exempt under section 101 (6), if such organization is operated, supervised, or controlled by or in connection with a religious organization described in paragraph (1); or

(5) which is an organization exempt solely under section 101 (8); or

(6) which is an organization exempt under section 101 (15), if such organization is a corporation wholly owned by the United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof, or a wholly owned subsidiary of such a corporation.

(b) Years to which applicable. The amendments made by subsection (a) shall be applicable with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1942.

PAR. 2. Section 29.54–1 is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting immediately after the first sentence thereof the following sentence:

Every organization exempt from tax under section 101 but required by section 54 (f) to file an annual return shall keep such permanent books of account or records, including inventories, as are sufficient to show specifically the items of gross income, receipts, and disbursements, and such other information as is required by § 29.101–2.

(B) By changing the last sentence of the first paragraph to read as follows:

The books or records required by this section shall be kept at all times available for inspection by internal-revenue officers, and shall be retained so long as the contents thereof may become material in the administration of any internal-revenue law.

(C) By inserting immediately after the second paragraph thereof the following paragraph:

The provisions of section 54 (f) relieving certain specified types of organizations exempt from tax under section 101 from filing annual returns do not abridge or impair in any way the powers and authority of the Commissioner provided for in other provisions of the Internal Revenue Code to require the filing of such returns by such organizations. For further regulations regarding proof and establishment of right to exemption from tax, for filing of returns, and keeping records by organizations exempt from tax, see §§ 29.101–1 and 29.101–2.

PAR. 3. Section 29.101–1 is amended by striking out the heading and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Proof of exemption prior to January 1, 1943. Annual returns for accounting periods beginning prior to January 1, 1943.

PAR. 4. There is inserted immediately following § 29.101–1 the following section:

§ 29.101.2 Proof of exemption on or after January 1, 1943; annual returns for accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 1943.—(a) Proof of exemption. An organization is not exempt from tax merely because it is not organized and operated for profit. In order to establish its exemption it is necessary that every organization claiming exemption file with the collector for the district in which is located the principal place of business or principal office of the organization an affidavit or questionnaire as set forth below. An organization claiming exemption under section 101 (1), (3), (4), except a bona fide credit union, (6), (7), (8), (9), (10), (12), (14), or (16) shall file the form of affidavit or questionnaire appropriate to its activities, filled out in accordance with the instructions on the form or issued therewith. Copies of the following forms may be obtained from any collector: For organizations claiming exemption under section 101 (6), Form 1023; under section 101 (1), (3), (7), or (8), Form 1024; under section 101 (9), Form 1025; under section 101 (10), (14), or (16), Form 1026; under section 101 (4), except bona fide credit unions, Form 1027; and under section 101 (12), Form 1028. All other organizations claiming exemption, including bona fide credit unions, shall file an affidavit showing the character of the organization, the purpose for which it was organized, its actual activities, the sources of its income and the disposition of such income, whether or not any of its income is credited to surplus or may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and in general all facts relating to its operations which affect its right to exemption. To each such affidavit or questionnaire shall be attached a copy of the articles of incorporation, declaration of trust, or other instrument of similar import, setting forth the permitted powers or activities of the organization, the by-laws or other code of regulations, and the latest financial statement showing the assets, liabilities, receipts, and disbursements of the organization.

(b) Additional proof by particular classes of organizations. Organizations mentioned below shall submit with and as a part of their affidavits or questionnaires the following information:

(1) Mutual insurance companies shall submit copies of the policies or certificates of membership;

(2) In the case of holding companies claiming exemption under section 101 (14), if the organization for which title is held has not been specifically notified in writing by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that it is held to be exempt under section 101, the holding company shall submit the information indicated herein as necessary for a determination of the status of the organization for which title is held.

In addition to the information specifically called for by these regulations the Commissioner may require any additional information deemed necessary for a proper determination of whether a particular organization is exempt under section 101, and when deemed advisable in the interest of an efficient administration of the internal revenue laws he may in the cases of particular types of organizations provide additional questionnaires or otherwise prescribe the form in which the proof of exemption shall be furnished.

An organization claiming to be specifically exempted by section 54 (f) from filing annual returns shall submit with and as a part of its affidavit or questionnaire a statement of all the facts on which it bases its claim.

(c) Collector's duties with respect to proof of exemption. The collector, upon receipt of the affidavit or questionnaire and other papers constituting the proof of exemption by an organization claiming exemption from tax under section 101, will forward completed documents to the Commissioner for decision as to whether the organization is exempt.

(d) "Private shareholder or individual" defined. The words "private shareholder or individual" in section 101 refer to persons having a personal and private interest in the activities of the organization.

(e) Requirement of annual returns. For accounting periods beginning after December 31, 1942, every organization exempt from tax under section 101, regardless of the amount or source of its income or receipts and irrespective of whether it is chartered by, or affiliated or associated with, any central, parent, or other organization, except organizations specifically exempted from filing annual returns by section 54 (f) (see paragraph (h) of this section), shall file annually with the collector for the district in which is located the principal place of business or principal office of the organization a return of information on Form 990 (Revised May 1944) specifically stating the items of gross income, receipts, and disbursements and such other information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner in the instructions on the form or issued by him therewith. Such return shall be on the basis of the established annual accounting period of the organization. Where the organization has no such established accounting period, the return shall be on the basis of the calendar year. Religious and apostolic organizations which are exempt from tax under section 101 (18) shall annually file the return of income required under § 29.101 (18)–1 on the same form (Form 1065) as is required in the case of partnerships, in lieu of Form 990 (Revised May 1944). With respect to group returns, see paragraph (f) of this section. For proof and establishment of right to exemption from tax which must accompany Form 990 (Revised May 1944) in the case of an organization which has not established its right to such exemption prior to the filing of the annual return, see paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(f) Group returns. A central, parent, or like organization (referred to in this section as central organization), although required to file a separate annual return for itself under section 54 (f) and paragraph (e) of this section, may file annually, in addition to such separate annual return, a group return on Form 990 (Revised May 1944), for two or more of the local organizations, chapters, or the like (referred to in this section as "local organizations") which are (1) chartered by, or affiliated or associated with, such central organization at the close of its annual accounting period, (2) subject to the general supervision of, and examination by, the central organization, and (3) exempt from tax under the same provision of section 101 under which the central organization is exempt from tax. The filing of the group return shall be in lieu of the filing of a separate return by each of the local organizations included in the group return. The group return shall include only those local organizations which in writing have authorized the central organization to include them in the group return, and which have made and filed, with the central organization, their statements, verified under oath or affirmation, specifically stating their items of gross income, receipts, and disbursements, and such other information relating to them which is required to be stated in the group return, and such authorizations and statements shall be permanently retained by the central organization. There shall be attached to the group return and made a part thereof a schedule showing the name and address of each of the local organizations and the total number thereof included in such return, and a schedule showing the name and address of each of the local organizations and the total number thereof not included in the group return. The group return shall be on the basis of the established annual accounting period of the central organization. Where such central organization has no established annual accounting period, such return shall be on the basis of the calendar year. The same income, receipts, and disbursements of a local organization shall not be included in more than one group return. The group return shall be filed in accordance with these regulations and the instructions on Form 990 (Revised May 1944) or issued therewith, and shall be considered the return of each of the local organizations included therein. For proof and establishment of right to exemption from tax which must accompany Form 990 (Revised May 1944) in the case of a local organization included in the group return but which has not established its right to such exemption prior to the filing of the group return, see paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(g) Date for filing annual returns. The annual return of information, Form 990 (Revised May 1944), for accounting periods beginning after December 31, 1942, but ending prior to April 1, 1944, shall be filed on or before August 15, 1944, and for accounting periods beginning after December 31, 1942, but ending after March 31, 1944, shall be filed on or before the 15th day of the fifth full calendar month following the close of the period for which the return is required to be filed.

(h) Organizations not required to file annual returns. Annual returns, Form 990 (Revised May 1944), are not required to be filed by an organization which has established its right to exemption from tax under section 101 (6), if:

(1) It is organized and operated exclusively for religious purposes;

(2) It is operated, supervised, or controlled by or in connection with such religious organization;

(3) It is an educational organization which normally maintains a regular faculty and curriculum and normally has a regularly organized body of pupils or students in attendance at the place where its educational activities are regularly carried on; or

(4) It is a charitable organization, or an organization for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, which is supported, in whole or in part, by funds contributed by the United States or any State or political subdivision thereof, or which is primarily supported by contributions of the general public.

The annual return on Form 990 (Revised May 1944) need not be filed by a fraternal beneficiary society, order, or association, which has established its exemption from tax solely under section 101 (3), or by an organization exempt from tax under section 101 (15) if it is a corporation wholly owned by the United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof, or is a wholly-owned subsidiary of such a corporation.

An organization organized and operated exclusively for charitable purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals is not "primarily supported by contributions of the general public" for any accounting period if more than 50 percent of its income and receipts for such period are not actually derived from voluntary contributions and gifts made by the general public, as distinguished from a few contributors or donors or from related or associated persons. For the purposes of the preceding sentence the words "related or associated persons" refer to persons or a particular group who are connected with or are interested in the activities of the organization such as founders, incorporators, shareholders, members, fiduciaries, officers, employees, or the like, or who are connected with such persons by family or business relationship.

An educational organization which normally maintains and has a regular faculty, curriculum and student body and meets the above conditions which relieve it from the requirement of filing annual returns shall not be considered as having thereafter failed to continue meeting such conditions if it is temporarily compelled to curtail or discontinue its normal and regular activities during the existence of abnormal circumstances and conditions.

(i) Collectors' records. Collectors will keep a list of all organizations held to be exempt from tax to the end that they may occasionally inquire into their status and ascertain whether or not they are (1) observing the conditions upon which their exemption is predicated, and (2) annually filing returns on Form 990 (Revised May 1944) if they are required to file such returns.

(j) Records, statements and other returns of tax-exempt organizations. An organization which has established its right to exemption from tax under section 101 and has also established that it is not required to file annually the return of information on Form 990 (Revised May 1944) shall immediately notify in writing the collector for the district in which is located its principal office of any changes in its character, operations or purpose for which it was originally created.

Every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner for the purpose of enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of section 54 (f) and this section. For requirement as to keeping of permanent books of account or records, see § 29.54–1.

An organization which has established its right to exemption from tax under section 101, including an organization which is relieved under section 54 (f) and these regulations from filing returns of income or annual returns of information, is not, however, relieved from the duty of filing other returns of information (see sections 147 and 148).

The following regulations, Part 522, §§ 522.081 to 522.094 (regulations applicable to the employment of learners in the independent telephone industry pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938), are hereby issued. These regulations amend and supersede regulations, Part 522, §§ 522.081 to 522.090 (regulations applicable to the employment of learners in the independent telephone industry), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 27, 1940.

§ 522.081 Scope of the regulations. The following provisions shall be applicable to the employment of learners in the independent telephone industry and are supplemental to regulations, Part 522 (regulations applicable to the employment of learners pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938), as amended.

§ 522.082 Issue of special certificates. Upon application to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, on forms furnished by the Division, special certificates authorizing the employment, at subminimum wage rates, of learners in the independent telephone industry may be issued to exchanges of less than 2000 stations to the extent necessary to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment, and to exchanges of 2000 or more stations when unusual circumstances are shown to exist which the Administrator or his authorized representative find would curtail opportunities for employment, under terms herein set forth, when it appears that:

(1) Experienced operators are not available in the locality from which the employer customarily draws his labor supply;

(2) The issue of a certificate will not tend to impair working or wage standards established for experienced operators in the industry; and

(3) The issue of such certificates will not create unfair competitive labor cost advantages.

§ 522.083 Number of learners. (a) Special certificates issued to meet normal labor turnover may authorize not more than:

One learner in exchanges employing up to 8 operators, or
Two learners in exchanges employing 9–18 operators, or Three learners in exchanges employing 19–30 operators, or Four learners in exchanges employing 31–44 operators.

In exchanges employing 45 or more operators, learners in addition to 4 may be employed at less than the minimum rate in the ratio of one learner for each additional 15 operators employed in the exchange.

(b) Special certificates issued to new or expanding exchanges may authorize the employment of the number of learners required to meet the employer's actual need in such exchanges.

(c) Special certificates issued to meet abnormal labor turnover resulting from the war emergency may authorize the employment of learners to the extent of the actual need of an individual applicant.

§ 522.084 Learning period. The maximum learning period which may be provided under a special certificate issued in this industry shall not extend beyond the first 480 hours of employment in training for and in switchboard operating.

§ 522.085 Learner hourly rates. The minimum hourly rate to be provided in a special certificate for learners shall be not less than 30 cents per hour for the first 320 hours and 35 cents per hour for the second 160 hours of the learning period.

§ 522.086 Duration of certificates. Special certificates authorizing the employment of learners in accordance with paragraph (a) and (c) of § 522.083, may be issued for a period not longer than one year unless sooner revoked for cause. Special certificates authorizing the employment of learners in accordance with paragraph (b) of § 522.083, may be issued for a period not longer than necessary to complete the training of the total number of additional learners required and may not be used for purposes of meeting regular labor turnover requirements.

§ 522.087 Provisions of learner certificates. All special certificates shall include, among other matters, the learner occupation; length of learning period; and rate set forth hereinabove; the definition of a learner; the purpose for which issued; the period during which the certificate remains in effect; the requirement that the certificate shall be posted continuously during its validity in a conspicuous place in the plant where the learners are to be employed; and a prohibition against the violation of any of the terms and conditions set forth in the certificate.

§ 522.088 Revocation of special certificates. (a) Any special certificate may be cancelled if it is found that it is not necessary to prevent a curtailment of opportunities for employment. In the absence of fraud or misrepresentation learners already hired under a special certificate may be retained under the terms of the certificate if the learning period extends beyond the date on which the certificate has been cancelled.

(b) Any special certificate shall be cancelled as of the date of issue if it is found that the certificate has been obtained by fraud or misrepresentation. When a certificate has been obtained by fraud or misrepresentation the employer shall be liable to the employee for wages established by the act as if no certificate had been issued.

(c) Any special certificate shall be cancelled as of the first date of violation if it is found that any of its terms have been violated, and the employer shall be liable to those employed under such certificate, from the date of violation, for wages established by the act as if no certificate had been issued.

§ 522.089 Notice of issuance or cancellation of special certificates. Notice of the issuance or cancellation of each special certificate pursuant to these regulations shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 522.090 Definitions. (a) The independent branch of the telephone industry as referred to herein includes only those companies which are engaged in the commercial operation of telephone exchanges and which are not owned or controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (Bell System) or its subsidiaries.

(b) Learners are persons who have had less than 480 hours of employment in the telephone industry as commercial switchboard operators.

(c) Experienced commercial switchboard operators are persons who have had not less than 480 hours of employment in the telephone industry as commercial switchboard operators. In order to be considered available such persons must be capable of equaling the performance of an operator of average or ordinary skill and experience.

§ 522.091 Records to be kept. The name of each learner and occupation in which each is employed shall be entered on the pay roll record of the exchange to which the special certificate is issued. The names of all persons employed as learners shall be listed together in a separate group on the pay roll record.

§ 522.092 Employment of experienced workers as learners prohibited. No experienced worker shall be employed under the terms of a special learner certificate.

§ 522.093 Employment of learners prohibited when experienced workers are available. No learner shall be employed under a special learner certificate if at the time such employment begins an experienced worker who is capable of equaling the performance of a worker of ordinary or minimum skill is available for employment.

These regulations shall become effective on July 17, 1944, and shall continue in force and effect until hereafter modified.

Signed at New York this 22d day of June 1944.

L. METCALFE WALLING,
Administrator.

PART 1226—GENERAL INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-292, Quota Schedule I-A]

PRODUCTION QUOTAS FOR DAIRY MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

§ 1226.200 Production quotas for dairy machinery and equipment.—(a) The purpose of this schedule. The purpose of this schedule is to fix the production quotas for dairy machinery and equipment, for the year beginning October 1, 1944 and ending September 30, 1945, inclusive. The quotas described in this schedule shall take the place of the quota provisions of paragraph (f) of Order L-292 with respect to those items.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Base period use" means the annual average tonnage of controlled materials used to complete items of dairy machinery and equipment during the years 1939, 1940 and 1941.

(2) "Controlled material" means controlled material as defined in CMP Regulation 1.

(c) Production quotas. During the year beginning October 1, 1944 and ending September 30, 1945, no manufacturer shall use more controlled materials to fabricate or assemble dairy machinery and equipment in any class than the quota percentage of his base period use for each class of machinery and equipment as set forth in the table below.

PRODUCTION QUOTAS

The first column describes each class of machinery covered by this schedule.

The second column describes the various types of machinery and equipment included in each class of machinery.

The third column assigns a code number to each type of machinery and equipment.

The fourth column shows the quota percentage that each manufacturer is allowed. Where an asterisk appears instead of a quota percentage, a manufacturer may build the item opposite the asterisk only upon receipt of an approved order as defined in paragraph (a) (5) of Order L-292. But a manufacturer of such an item may build a minimum production run of the item upon written authorization from the War Production Board. Request for authorization may be made by filing a letter in triplicate with the War Production Board showing the quantity in a minimum production run of the item and containing substantial evidence that the manufacturer will obtain approved orders in that quantity by October 1, 1945. The War Production Board may grant the authorization upon such conditions, if any, as it may prescribe.

For example, if a manufacturer used 1,000 tons for the Group A items and 100 tons for the Group B items his quota for all butter, cheese and fluid milk plant equipment would be 1,200 tons. This quota may be used for any product in either group or divided amongst the products in both groups in any way that the manufacturer wishes.

§ 1226.202 Production quotas for canning machinery and equipment—(a) Purpose of the schedule. The purpose of this schedule is to fix production quotas for canning machinery and equipment for the year beginning October 1, 1944, and ending September 30, 1945. These quotas shall take the place of the quota provisions of paragraph (f) of Order L-292 with respect to canning machinery and equipment.

(b) Definition. "Controlled material" means controlled material as defined in CMP Regulation 1.

(c) Production quotas. During the year beginning October 1, 1944, and ending September 30, 1945, no manufacturer shall use in the fabrication or assembly of canning machinery and equipment (except dehydrators), more controlled materials than 110% of the annual average gross tonnage of controlled materials used by him for this purpose during the calendar years 1939, 1940 and 1941. Each manufacturer may fabricate or assemble dehydrators only to fill rated orders actually received in accordance with Order L-292.

(d) Exceptions. The quota provisions of paragraph (c) above do not restrict the fabrication or assembly of canning machinery or equipment to fill specific orders actually received by a manufacturer for export outside the territorial limits of the United States and Canada, or for direct use by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration.

(e) Increase, decrease and transfer of quotas. The War Production Board may by specific written directions issued to any manufacturer or class of manufacturers, increase or decrease any quota established by this schedule and may transfer any portions of a quota between manufacturers, taking into consideration the amount of materials to be used, the need for particular items at the time required, the labor and transportation situation in the manufacturing areas involved, the inability of any manufacturer to manufacture his quota, and such other factors as may be relevant.

(f) Applicability of Limitation Order L-292. Except as otherwise indicated herein, this schedule is subject to all applicable provisions of Limitation Order L-292 as amended from time to time.

Issued this 27th day of June 1944.

PRODUCTION RESTRICTIONS IN LIEU OF QUOTAS FOR EGG AND POULTRY PROCESSING MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

§ 1226.203 Restrictions on production of egg and poultry processing machinery and equipment—(a) Purpose of this schedule. The purpose of this schedule is to tell each manufacturer how many units of egg and poultry processing machinery and equipment he may manufacture from October 1, 1944, to September 30, 1945. The provisions of this schedule take the place of the quota provisions of paragraph (f) of Order L-292 for egg and poultry processing machinery and equipment.

(b) Number of units which can be manufactured. During the period beginning October 1, 1944 and ending September 30, 1945, each manufacturer may fabricate or assemble any items of egg or poultry processing machinery or equipment necessary to fill rated orders which he is permitted to accept under Order L-292. In addition, each manufacturer may manufacture up to a maximum inventory of certain items of machinery and equipment as shown in the table below. A manufacturer must not fabricate or assemble more machinery and equipment for inventory than this table permits.

Permitted Inventories

The second column describes the types of egg and poultry processing machinery and equipment covered by this schedule.

The third column shows the number of units (or dollar value) which a manufacturer may have in inventory. For example, for Code No. 203.056B, Candlers, flash, the permitted inventory is 0. This means that flash candlers cannot be manufactured for inventory; they may only be manufactured to fill orders actually received which are rated in accordance with Order L-292. On the other hand, for Code No. 203.058, Churns, egg, the permitted inventory is 3. This means that a manufacturer may have a maximum inventory of 3 units of this equipment in addition to the units necessary to fill orders actually received which are rated in accordance with Order L-292.

PART 3281—WOOD PULP

[General Preference Order M-93, Direction 1, as Amended June 27, 1944]

PREFERRED STATUS OF CERTAIN DELIVERIES AND USES OF WOOD PULP

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to General Preference Order M-93:

(a) Reasons for this direction. A producer's output of wood pulp is allocated by the War Production Board for his own uses and for delivery to other consumers on the basis of the amount which he reports to the War Production Board as his estimated output. If he over-estimates his production, it is necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense to assure that this does not result in cutting off wood pulp from the consumers to whom it was allocated and who have no other source of supply for the continuance of their minimum operations, and to assure that any necessary reductions are made in those grades of paper and paperboard not listed in paragraph (d) below.

(b) Producers. If a producer is unable during any calendar quarter to make all deliveries which he has been directed on Form WPB-699 to make, he shall reduce his deliveries to himself to the extent necessary to complete all deliveries to consumers other than himself.

(c) Consumers. If a consumer during any calendar quarter has, or anticipates that he will have, inventory and receipts of wood pulp less than the amount of wood pulp he is authorized on Form WPB-2973 to consume, he shall not use in the production of grades of paper and paperboard other than those listed in paragraph (d) below more wood pulp than the amount calculated by subtracting (1) the amount of his above-mentioned shortage of wood pulp from (2) the total amount of wood pulp he is authorized on Form WPB-2973 to use in the production of grades of paper and paperboard other than those listed in paragraph (d) below.

(d) Grades of paper and paperboard having preferred production status:

(iii) Footwear for the physically maimed and deformed manufactured on the custom-made basis and not for stock;

if his supply of leather suitable for such shoes and obtained on certificate pursuant to such directions shall thereby become larger than a 30-days' inventory. A 30-days' inventory shall be deemed to be the quantity of leather actually used for the production of shoes of these types during the preceding calendar month, unless no such footwear was produced in that month, in which case a 30-days' inventory shall be deemed to be the leather required to manufacture his scheduled production of such shoes for the following thirty days.

	Percent of each price range
Infants'	125
Men's safety shoes	125
Men's work	115
Men's dress	100
Women's and growing girls'	100
House slippers	100
Athletic	100
Women's safety shoes	100

With respect to misses' and children's footwear, no manufacturer may exceed 125% of his aggregate quotas for all his lines of misses' and children's footwear, but his production may be distributed among his established lines of misses' and children's footwear in any manner desired: Provided, however, That to the extent that a manufacturer's production of military footwear shows a decrease below that during his six months' base period, his production within any line of civilian footwear may exceed the civilian line quota for such line by its proportionate part of such decrease; and to the extent that such manufacturer's production of military footwear shows an increase over that during the six months' base period, each civilian line quota of such manufacturer shall be diminished by its proportionate part of such increase.

(2) No person shall manufacture any line of footwear (except military footwear) not manufactured by him in his six months' base period.

(3) Exceptions to paragraphs (i) (1) and (i) (2). (i) A lower priced line of the same type of civilian footwear may be substituted in whole or in part for a higher priced line.

(ii) The unused quota of any higher priced line may be added to a lower priced line of the same type of civilian footwear.

To the extent shown in the following schedule, any person may transfer the unused portion of any civilian line quota or quotas of men's dress or women's and growing girls' footwear to the production of the following types of footwear:

Type:	Percentage of unused quota permitted to be added
Men's work	115
Youths' and boys'	125
Misses' and children's	125
Infants'	125

Provided, however, That in no event shall any unused quota be added to a higher priced line, And provided further, That in no event shall a new line be added until authorization has been obtained under paragraphs (d) (1) above and paragraphs (i) (3) (vi) below.

(iii) A person may exceed his civilian line quota for any line of women's safety shoes if a pairage equal to such excess is deducted from some other line or lines of footwear.

(iv) During any six months' period, beginning March 1 or September 1 in any year, a manufacturer whose total production for the period will be less than $250,000 (based on wholesale value) is not subject to paragraph (i) (1), provided that no new lines are added and provided the manufacturer does not exceed his aggregate production in pairs during his six months' base period by more than 50%. The exemption in this paragraph shall not apply to manufacturers affiliated, as a subsidiary or otherwise, with another.

(v) Paragraphs (i) (1) and (i) (2) shall not apply to footwear made for the physically maimed or deformed on a custom-made basis and not for stock.

(vi) The War Production Board may authorize transfers of quotas from one type of footwear to another, and may authorize new or additional production in: (a) lines of which there is a critical civilian shortage, or (b) lines of reasonably durable footwear utilizing non-critical materials. However, it will be the general policy of the War Production Board not to authorize new or additional production in a plant located in a Group I or Group II labor area unless the manufacturer shows that he will not require additional labor otherwise available for war production.

Application for such authorization shall be made by letter, describing fully the footwear manufactured or proposed to be manufactured, listing in detail all the materials to be used, and stating the pairs desired to be made in each price range, the source of the manpower that will be required, whether production will be reduced in any other line or lines, and all other facts pertaining to the application. Authorization of production of new lines under this paragraph will be made only with the condition that production may not begin until evidence is furnished of conformity with applicable Office of Price Administration regulations.

(vii) [Deleted Mar. 9, 1944]

(4) The period selected by any person as his six months' base period shall apply to all lines and may not be subsequently changed. After July 11, 1944, lines manufactured by any person in his six months' base period as previously filed with the War Production Board may not be revised, except to bring them into conformity with this order. Manufacturers whose base period reports containing overlapping price ranges have been filed and accepted prior to June 27, 1944, may continue to use the ranges now on file only until September 1, 1944.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(k) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, purchases, production and sales.

(l) All persons affected by this order shall file such reports and questionnaires as may be requested by the War Production Board, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(m) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-217.

(n) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 27th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

APPENDIX A

Paragraphs (c) (2), (c) (4), and (e) (1) of the April 21, 1944, edition of General Conservation Order M-217, which remain in force until September 1, 1944, read as follows, respectively:

(c) (2) No person shall use in the manufacture of any footwear any steel shanks of any gauge except:

21 gauge—.032 minimum, 50 carbon steel,
19 gauge—.040 minimum, low carbon or basic steel,

unless such shanks were in said person's inventory on September 10, 1942, or were subsequently acquired from a producer of steel shanks who had, prior to September 10, 1943, rolled steel plate for shanks of a different gauge.

(c) (4) No person shall put into process any material for the manufacture of footwear of more than one color (subject to unavoidable deviations in shade normally experienced in finishing leather or dyeing fabrics). This restriction shall apply to the color of stitching, lacing and bindings, but shall not apply to the color of linings and soles. Nothing in this paragraph shall prevent unavoidable discoloring of thread, leather, and perforations as a result of antiquing, or the use of:

(i) Embossed leather or genuine reptiles of the colors permitted in paragraph (c) (5) below but having slight variations in shade caused by normal finishing of such leathers, or

(ii) Embossed leather or genuine reptiles of any color or colors (in all-over shoes) if finished prior to October 16, 1942,

(iii) Shearling collars,

(iv) An additional color on tips or tongues of safety shoes as above defined,

(v) A combination of two colors in part leather—part fabric uppers where the leather constitutes not more than 30% of the whole upper material (excluding linings).

(e) (1) Exceptions to paragraphs (c) and (d) above. The foregoing prohibitions and restrictions of this order shall not apply to:

(i) Footwear made wholly without leather and without rubber or plastic soles where no two-tone effect is created. This exemption shall extend only to paragraph (c). However, shoes of multi-colored fabric (a single fabric containing more than one color) are permitted and may have bindings or other trimmings (not including tips, foxings, eye stays, platforms or heels) in one of the colors of the material.

SCHEDULE I—SPECIFICATIONS FOR SOLES

Abrasion. The material shall have a resistance to abrasion of not less than 4000 revolutions to abrade 50% of the thickness of the material, when tested on the type of machine used by and following the procedure of the National Bureau of Standards. The material may be tested on any other abrasive testing machine, using an appropriate number of abrasive strokes of revolutions to give abrasive action equivalent to the above.

Crackiness. The material shall not crack, after conditioning for 4 hours, at 32° F. and testing at that temperature, when bent 180° over a 3-inch mandrel. The material shall not crack, after aging for 48 hours at 120° F. ± 2° F. and reconditioning at 65 per cent ± 2 per cent relative humidity and 120° F. ± 2° F., when bent 180° over a 3-inch mandrel.

Tackiness. The material shall not become tacky or flow when subjected to a temperature of 120° F. ± 2° F. for 4 hours.

Stitch tear. Material which is used for stitched soles shall have a stitch tear strength of not less than 30 pounds when tested dry, and not less than 25 pounds when tested immediately after soaking in water for 4 hours. When the outsole is cemented securely to a backer or midsole, the test shall be made of the combined assembly.

Effect of water. After submerging in water at 75° F. ± 2° F. for 4 hours, the material shall not show visual evidence of delamination or separation and shall not show an increase in thickness of more than 20 per cent.

INTERPRETATION 1

The word "manufacture" in line two of paragraph (c) (1) of § 3290.191. (Conservation Order M-217), refers to the operation whereby the features mentioned in subdivisions (i) to (xvii), inclusive, of said paragraph became a part of the footwear.

Illustration: Subdivision (iv) refers to full overlaid tips or full overlaid foxings except on work shoes. The order prohibits the placing of full overlay tips or full overlay foxings on dress shoes after October 31, 1942. But it does not prohibit the completion of the shoe if an overlaid tip or an overlaid foxing has been affixed prior to said date. (Issued October 6, 1942.)

FOOTWEAR

The reference to "leather outsoles or outside leather taps," in paragraph (c) (8) of § 3290.191 Conservation Order M-217 designates outsoles and outside taps the wearing qualities of which are derived primarily from leather. For example: An outsole composed primarily of leather but having a paper coating would constitute a "leather outsole," since, presumably the paper would soon disappear and the wearing quality of the sole would rest primarily upon the leather.

On the other hand, if a sole of durable substitute material were cemented on a thin leather sole so that the substitute material received the wear the leather sole would constitute a midsole rather than an outsole.

[Interpretation 3 issued Dec. 17, 1943. A question and answer interpretation—printed separately.]

DEFINITIONS

The definition of "price range" in paragraph (b) (11) of Conservation Order M-217 states that price range shall have the usual trade significance so long as the highest list price in the range does not exceed the lowest by more than 10% or 25¢ a pair, whichever is the greater. The January 12, 1944 amendment in paragraph (b) (10) (iii) of the order allows manufacturers of misses' and children's and youths' and boys' footwear to consider their production in each type up to a wholesale price of $1.75 a pair as one line. This does not, however, permit manufacturers to add 25¢ to the $1.75 and consider all misses' and children's and youths' and boys' footwear up to $2.00 as falling within the line. The exemption added by the amendment is one superimposed upon the existing treatment of price lines and cannot be construed to apply to any footwear having a net wholesale price of more than $1.75. (Issued Feb. 28, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 5

SHOES MANUFACTURED FOR DYEING BY RETAILERS OR CONSUMERS

Paragraph (c) (4) restricts the manufacture of footwear of more than one color. Where a manufacturer produces a line of footwear designed especially for taking dye on the tip, foxing, saddle or other portions, so that it can be converted into a two-tone shoe (such as a spectator or saddle oxford type), and he has reason to believe that it will be converted by retailers or consumers, he is putting material into process for the manufacture of footwear of more than one color. This is prohibited by the paragraph. (Issued Apr. 26, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 6

TWO-COLOR BOWS ON FOOTWEAR MADE UNDER PARAGRAPH (C) (4) (V)

Paragraph (c) (4) (v) permits the combination of two colors in part leather—part fabric uppers where the leather constitutes not more than 30% of the whole upper material (excluding linings). It is permissible to use in connection with this type of footwear fabric bows in the same two colors, if all other provisions of the order are complied with, including paragraph (d) relating to new styles. (Issued May 26, 1944.)

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1[6] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(1) That there exists or threatens to exist in a particular locality a shortage in the supply of a petroleum product which aids directly in the war program or is essential to a standard of living consistent with the prosecution of the war; and

(2) That such local shortage will be substantially reduced or eliminated by adjusting the maximum prices of such seller and of like sellers for such petroleum product; and

(3) That such adjustment will not create or tend to create a shortage, or need for increase in prices, in another locality, and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

NOTE: Applications for adjustment shall be filed in Washington, D. C. in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

(4) Any maximum price or prices established pursuant to an order issued under the provisions of § 1340.156 (d) of Revised Price Schedule 88 shall continue in full force and effect subject to revocation or amendment upon written notice from the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 1.10 Taxes. Any tax increase or new tax hereafter imposed upon or incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use of any petroleum product covered by this regulation may be collected by a seller in addition to the maximum prices established under this regulation.

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 31 (7 F.R. 9894) provides that: "Notwithstanding the provisions of any price regulation, the tax on transportation of all property (excepting coal) imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any commodity or service, be treated as though it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated, under any provision of any price regulation or any interpretation thereof, as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price."]

SEC. 1.15 How to ascertain a particular maximum price under this regulation—(a) Prices of fuel oil and fuels (except waste lubricating oil or re-refined lubricating oil prices). After you have read Article I containing various general provisions, check Article II and ascertain whether there is a specific maximum price at the shipping or delivery point involved in your sale; if not, and if you are selling a fuel oil of the types mentioned in Article III, your maximum price will be established or determined under one of the tables therein and the provisions of the article. If neither Article II nor III applies, it may be that your maximum price can be determined from one of the formulas set forth in Article V.

[Heading of paragraph (a) amended by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 3849, effective 4-14-44 and Am. 11, effective 7-1-44]

If it can be, then you should also examine Article VI carefully to ascertain whether there are any additions which may be made or any reductions which must be made to the formula price. Note that more than one addition to the maximum price determined under Article V may be provided by Article VI. If you are concerned with a maximum tank wagon price, Article VII should then be examined. It deals with provisions for determining a maximum tank wagon price at the point of sale in accordance with the maximum tank wagon price of the state's reference seller at the same point. Note two things: First, if you have not been able to ascertain your maximum price under any preceding article of the regulation, you may adopt the reference seller's price providing he has one at that particular point, and second, even if your price has been determined under Article V you may nevertheless at some points adopt the reference seller's price instead if it is higher than your own, though at other points you are required to take the reference seller's price even if it is lower than yours.

If you have not been able to ascertain a maximum price under the aforementioned articles you should then apply to the Office of Price Administration for a maximum price pursuant to the provisions of Article VIII.

(b) Prices of waste lubricating oil or re-refined lubricating oil sold for use as fuel oil. Read Article I for the various general provisions of the regulation, then turn to Article VIII which provides that maximum prices for either waste lubricating oil or re-refined lubricating oil when sold for use as fuel oil must be established by application to the Office of Price Administration. There is no other method for establishing a maximum price for such products.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 3849, effective 4-14-44 and Am. 11, effective 7-1-44]

(c) Liquefied petroleum gas prices. After you have read Article I containing general provisions, check Article II and ascertain whether there is a specific maximum price at the shipping or delivery point involved in your sale. If Article II does not apply, it may be that your maximum price can be determined from the formulas set forth in Article V.

If it can be, then you should also examine Article VI carefully to ascertain whether there are any additions which may be made or reductions which must be made to the formula price.

If you have not been able to ascertain maximum prices under the aforementioned articles, you should then apply to the Office of Price Administration for a maximum price pursuant to the provisions of Article VIII.

(d) Gasoline prices. After you have read Article I containing various general provisions, check Article IV and ascertain whether there is a specific maximum price at the shipping or delivery point involved in your sale. If not, it may be that your maximum price can be determined from the formulas set forth in Article V.

If it can be, then you should also examine Article VI carefully to ascertain whether there are any additions which may be made or any reductions which must be made to the formula price. Note that more than one addition to a maximum price determined under Article V may be provided by Article VI. If you are concerned with a maximum tank wagon price, Article VII should then be examined. It deals with provisions for determining a maximum tank wagon price at the point of sale in accordance with the maximum tank wagon price of the state's reference seller at the same point. Note two things: First, if you have not been able to ascertain your maximum price under any preceding article of the regulation, you may adopt the reference seller's price providing he has one at that particular point, and second, even if your price has been determined under Article V you may nevertheless at some points adopt the reference seller's price instead if it is higher than your own, though at other points you are required to take the reference seller's price even if it is lower than yours.

If you have not been able to ascertain a maximum price under the aforementioned articles, you should then apply to the Office of Price Administration for a maximum price pursuant to the provisions of Article VIII.
